The class is expecting to wrap up the "tour" on Monday when they will be visiting Third Day Fellowship and Outreach.

Dhaseleer said student Bryna Houghton has spent time at Third Day and thought it would be great for the class to volunteer there. While at Third Day, the students will be helping to distribute food that the organization has in its food pantry for those in need.

"My hope is that these opportunities will help the students start to see how different organizations in our community help others," Dhaseleer wrote in a letter to parents. "Maybe the students can find a way to help others, too."

Charlevoix High School junior Rachel Shull smiles as she works on preparing a meal she recently prepared to benefit a charity.

Living the lesson

Charlevoix Middle School fifth-graders who are in the middle of learning first-hand about the importance of giving back to the community, don't need to go outside of their own school district to find an example of a student who's putting those lessons into practice.

Rachel Shull, a 17-year-old Charlevoix High School junior recently raised $752.09 for Matthew 25 Ministries through a benefit dinner she organized at her church, the Charlevoix Church of the Nazarene.

On its website Matthew 25 Ministries describes itself as "an international humanitarian aid and disaster relief organization helping the poorest of the poor locally, regionally, nationally and internationally regardless of race, creed, or political persuasion."

Rachel's inspiration came from a nexus of two desires: to give back, and to one day become a chef.

So in her free time between school, homework, softball and work, she prepared a menu for the fundraiser that included ham and cheese lasagna, Indian rice, chicken fajitas, jiaozi (pork dumplings), cheese quesadillas, egg rolls, peanut butter cheesecake, mint chocolate cheesecake, white cupcakes with strawberry filling and mint frosting, chocolate cupcakes with peanut butter frosting and salted caramel drizzle.

She said the food preparation took her about a week in advance of the April 21 event. She also did most of the publicity and set up for the event. But she said she did have some help from her mother in advance of the dinner, from her dad during the meal and her sister and a couple friends waited tables as well.

In all about [illegible]0 people attended.

This was Rachel's first time taking on a project like this, and although she said she was very tired after it was all said and done, she said she'd consider doing another benefit meal again.

Perhaps as early as June.

Storyteller presents programs May 15

The Charlevoix Public Library will present two very different programs hosted by professional storyteller and librarian, Jean Bolley.

Bolley will offer a program for children and families at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, May 15. She will weave Mother Goose tales and other fun folk tales from around the world.

At 6:30 p.m. that day, Bolley will continue entertaining library patrons with a unique look at the history of the library. She will highlight the personal side of her great uncle, Warren Holmes, the architect of the 1927 school where the library is currently housed. She will relate how a farm boy from Fowlerville became an architect known for his innovative approach to designing school buildings.

Bolley has been employed in libraries in the Lansing area for more than 30 years and has shared stories in both library and school settings. She believes in the power of story and lets the story, and the audience's reaction to it, be the star. Her repertoire includes personal stories and historical works. She has master's degrees from the University of Michigan in library science and East Tennessee State University in storytelling. Her father, Gordon Holmes Stow, was an architect and a nephew of Warren Holmes.

The Michigan Room Committee of the Friends will be serving refreshments for the Warren Holmes program.

Rayders run down records

The Charlevoix Rayder girls and boys track teams continued their winning ways in two meets last week that saw three first place team finishes and two school records fall.

Caroline Boss had a hand in two firsts and freshman Amber Way broke a school record Friday in leading the Charlevoix High School girls track and field team to a first-place finish in its division at the Clare Invitational Friday.

Way

Boss won the 400-meter run in 61.8 seconds and ran a leg on the Rayders' winning 1600 relay team. Way shattered the 3200 school record, finishing in 11:27. She finished second in the event.

"Amber, she knows the goals, we set some things," Charlevoix coach Mary Plude said. "She is extremely competitive and so coachable. She was in fourth place with about 1,000 meters to go and I said 'It's time to take 'em down.' She caught the second-place runner with about 400 (meters) to go."

Jaekle

The Rayders finished with 96 points. Remus Chippewa Hills was the overall girls' meet winner with 108. The meet was divided into two divisions based on school size. The Petoskey girls finished with 31 points.

Madeline Boss, Mackenzi Kage and Molly Jaekle joined Caroline Boss in winning the girls' 1600 relay.

Way turned in two amazing legs in the girls' 3200. She was clocked in 5:47 in her first 1600, and 5:30 in her second, an amazing turn, Plude said.

Way broke the previous mark, 11:34, held by Alina Dhasaleer.

"She just ran a beautifully," Plude said of Way. "If you can come back with two fairly even splits, that's good. For a freshman to understand being patient and being confident to move up and not be afraid to chase people down. To have a freshman with that kind of understanding and trust, amazing. Just a great kid."

For the Charlevoix girls, Madeline Boss was second in both the 400 (63.1) and the long jump (15-7), Jeakle was second in the 800 (2:27.8), and Sarah Mackenzie was second in the high jump (4-10).

For the Charlevoix boys who finished fourth at the meet in the small school division, Will Jeakle, Vinny VonLau, Nick Plude and Andrew Plude teamed up to place second in the 3200 relay (8:24.7); Chris Young was third in the 300 hurdles (43.0); Jeakle, Nick Plude, Jon Boss and Andrew Plude were fourth in the 1600 relay (3:36); Jake McLean, Alex Gooch, Devon Drain and Jared Riebel were seventh in the 800 relay (1:38); and McLean, Charlie Hamilton, Reibel and Drain teamed up for an eighth-place finish in the 400 relay (46.9).

Rayders sweep

On Monday Charlevoix won 14 events and Molly Jeakle broke another school record in sweeping a four-team Lake Michigan Conference track and field meet Monday at Boswell.

Rayders come out on short end of pitchers' duel with Red Devils

EAST JORDAN — Jordan Harasewicz tossed a complete game one-hitter in the opener and Zak Shepherd hit a tie-breaking two-run single in the nightcap as East Jordan swept Charlevoix, 1-0, 5-3, Tuesday in a Lake Michigan Conference baseball doubleheader.

East Jordan improved to 11-5 overall, 8-2 league. The Rayders are 3-6, 3-5.

Harasewicz struck out five and walked two in an outstanding pitcher's duel with Charlevoix's Herriman. Herriman struck out 12 and surrendered three hits.

"It's a shame either team had to take a loss in this game," East Jordan coach Allan Stallard said. "Coby Herriman pitched a great game. Jordan Harasewicz came back from a sprained ankle and pitched great also. Our defense made all the plays behind him. Neither team had an error. Great game.

"We didn't have many hits, but we got the most out of them. These were two big league wins for us."

The Red Devils scored the game's lone run in the bottom of the third inning when Wyatt Werner reached on a bunt single, stole second and scored on an Austen Mellios single.

Shepherd had the only other hit for East Jordan. Noah Certa had the lone hit for the Rayders.

"It was a tough one for (Herriman) to lose," Charlevoix coach Allen Telgenoff said. "We played well. We just could not hit their guy."

Shepherd's two-out two-run single in the fifth broke a 3-3 tie and lifted the Red Devils in the nightcap.

Mellios allowed four hits struck out two and walked two over five innings for the win. Aaron Peck pitched the sixth to notch the save.

Mellios had two hits including a home run and two RBIs to lead East Jordan at the plate, while Werner had two hits, and Peck added a single.

Tommy Zipp, Shane Sutherland, Luke Klinger and Nate Moon had the hits for Charlevoix.

On Friday, the Rayders earned a Lake Michigan Conference split with Traverse City St. Francis winning the opener 5-2 and falling in the nightcap 6-2.

Herriman struck out nine and walked four in tossing a one-hitter in the opener, improving to 3-0 on the season. Both of St. Francis' runs were unearned. The Gladiators' lone hit was a one-out single in the fourth inning.

Zipp singled and doubled to lead the Rayders at the plate, while Telgenhof and Sutherland each doubled, and Herriman and Potter had a single apiece.

Potter and Sutherland both had an RBI.

Potter started and took the loss in game two. He allowed three runs on three hits, while walking one and striking out three over two innings.

Moon went the final four frames, allowing three runs on four hits while walking two.

"It was our third straight split," Charlevoix coach Allen Telgenhof said. "We felt good about the first-game win and came out and scored two in the first inning of game two, but Andrew Potter had some arm issues so he wasn't able to stay on the mound.

"Nate Moon, one of our freshmen, did a nice job in relief, but St. Francis swung the bats pretty well."

The Rayder varsity is slated to host Rudyard at home for a non-conference double-header on Thursday, then travel to Newberry on Friday for another non-conference matchup. The Rayders will return to conference action on Tuesday when they host Elk Rapids.

Justin Pearl took the loss in game one, giving up only four hits while striking out six.

Andrew Mitchell went 2-for-2, scored two runs and had an RBI, reaching base in all three plate appearances.

Adam Michaud pitched a solid final inning, coach Brandon Webb said.

Devin Largent won game two for the Rayders, pitching for the first time in three years striking out five and allowing five hits. Andrew Michaud went 2-for-3, with a long double and knocking in two runs. Logan Eckhardt scored three times, had two RBI, and struck out the two batters he faced.

Rayders return strong from first loss

STEVE ZUCKER/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

Charlevoix's Lauren Bartling (8) and Elizabeth Way (14) battle two Marquette players for the ball in the first half of the Rayders game at home against the Redettes Friday.

The Charlevoix Rayder girls varsity soccer team regrouped quickly from suffering its first loss of the season and defeated Harbor Springs Monday to hold on to the top spot on the Lake Michigan Conference standings.

On Friday freshman Redette, Makaela Burse, scored all three of her goals in the first half Friday as the Marquette handed Charlevoix its first loss of the season 5-1.

"They beat us to the ball," Charlevoix coach Carol Madison said. "They were fast, well organized and play one- and two-touch ball. It pays for us to play teams like that."

Sheila Flood and Alex Genchelt also scored for Marquette, 3-2 after Friday's game.

Ellie Way scored with an assist from Maura Brandi for the Rayders, who fell to 6-1, with the loss. Goalkeeper Bailee Stevens made 10 saves.

On Monday sophomore Kaitlyn Hinkley scored all four goals and Anna Way picked up three assists as Charlevoix topped Harbor Springs, 4-2, in a key Lake Michigan Conference girls soccer match.

The win lifted Charlevoix to 7-1 overall and 6-0 in the league. Harbor slipped to 6-2, 4-2. The game marked the midway point of the Lake Michigan Conference season.

"We've got to go Harbor and we've got to go to Elk Rapids (in the second half)," Charlevoix coach Carol Madison said. "It's nice to have beaten them (both) once and to have that confidence, but to have to do it again on the road, it's a whole different thing."

Hinkley headed in a Way corner kick less than two minutes into the game to stake the Rayders to a 1-0 lead. Hinkley scored again seven minutes later off an Ellie Way cross.

Lyndsey Hall scored on a corner kick at the 14-minute mark to slice Charlevoix's lead to 2-1.

Hinkley put Charlevoix back in front by two when she finished an Anna Way shot to the far post with 28 minutes remaining in the game.

The Rams again responded and cut their deficit to one goal, 3-2, when Tia Esposito scored on a breakaway with 14 minutes to play.

Elowsky, Madison said, cleared a ball off the Rayder goal line early in the second half, preserving Charlevoix's 2-1 lead.

The play was crucial, Madison said, because had the Rams converted at that point, "that changes the whole momentum. Soccer, like so many sports, can be a game of momentum."

Madison also lauded the play of junior outside/mid Sydney Carlson.

"We didn't play as well as we could, and we lost the game," Harbor coach Ed Fantozzi said. Charlevoix "deserved to win tonight. We didn't play to our potential and that's (a loss) going to happen against teams like Charlevoix when you don't.

"It's an excellent learning experience. It definitely tells us a lot about what we need to work on. ... We can walk away with that with a lot of optimism going forward."

The Rayders are slated to play in the Sutton's Bay Invitational Tournament on Saturday then resume their pursuit of a conference crown when they travel to Kalkaska on Monday and host Traverse City St. Francis on Thursday.

Rayders bounce back

Softball team recovers from two losses with sweep of Red Devils

The Charlevoix Rayder varsity softball team bounced back quickly from two lopsided losses to Traverse City St. Francis last week with a sweep their neighbors to the south on Tuesday.

Charlevoix head coach Ken Hoffman said strong play by the Gladiators coupled a few had innings of their own allowed both games to get away from the Rayders who fell 22-1 in the opener and 11-1 in the nightcap. Both games ended after five innings.

Katie Hyhl had to two hits for the Rayders, while Chelsie Huffman, Paige Montgomery and Anna Moon added one hit each. In the second game, Jennifer Archey and Hoffman had a hit each.

"We just have to forget about this game and get ready to play East Jordan," Hoffman said after the game.

It appears the Lady Rayders were able to do just that.

On Tuesday Kristen Mielke tossed a two-hitter in the opener, and Katie Hyhl threw a three-hitter in the nightcap leading Charlevoix to a 4-1, 4-2 Lake Michigan Conference softball doubleheader sweep of East Jordan.

The wins lifted Charlevoix to 4-4 in the league. East Jordan is 7-9 overall, 6-4 league.

Mielke struck out eight in game one. Paige Montgomery, Jennifer Archery and Mielke each tripled and singled to lead Charlevoix at the plate, while Chelsie Hoffman added two singles.

East Jordan starter Lissa Vincent allowed five hits, walked two and struck out three over three innings in taking the loss. Val Peters struck out five and walked one in two innings of relief.

Kara LaVanway had two hits, Emily Crick had an RBI double, and Peters Jordyn Bacchus and McKenna Steltzner each singled for East Jordan.

"These were two very close teams in skill," East Jordan coach Meg Kitson said. "Charlevoix just hit the ball better than we did."

Hyhl struck out 10 for the win in game two.

Montgomery and Kaitlin Loviska each singled and tripled for the Rayders, while Mielke had two hits, and Archery, Hyhl, and Hoffman each doubled.

Peters started and took the loss. Tommie Outman walked one and struck out two in relief.

Peters had two hits and Crick doubled and drove in two runs for the Red Devils.

The Lady Rayders are slated to travel to Newberry on Friday and then will host Elk Rapids on Tuesday and Mancelona on Wednesday.

JV SOFTBALL

In Charlevoix JV softball action, Kelsey Pischner struck out five for the victory in game two as Charlevoix tied one game at 13 each and won one 13-3 in a non-league doubleheader on Friday, April 27.

Pischner struck out eight in the circle for the Rayders in game one. She finished the twinbill with two doubles and three RBI. Gabby Milazzeo singled and drove in two runs, and Allie Balyo added an RBI single. The first game was called a tie because of a time limit rule.

Charlevoix was 1-4-1 following Friday's action.

The Rayder JV squad had been slated to play East Jordan Tuesday, but that game was postponed to Wednesday because of scheduling conflicts with both teams and then called of Wednesday because of weather.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Dennis Rasmussen, former Major League pitcher, to throw first pitch

The 2012 Charlevoix Little League season will kick off this Saturday, May 5 on the Carpenter Fields Little League Diamond in Charlevoix.

And they plan to do it with style.

Charlevoix Little League officials said beginning at 1 p.m., the players will take part in the first Opening Day Ceremony in several years. All the players will take the field for introductions and many community members will be in attendance to help make for a special event.

Highlights of the opening ceremony will include:

— Charlevoix County Sheriff Don Schneider will lead the players in the Little League Pledge.

— Dennis Rasmussen former New York Yankees pitcher, who spent 12 years in the Major Leagues, will throw out the ceremonial first pitch.

— Charlevoix American Legion and VFW Color Guard will present the flag during The National Anthem.

Immediately following the ceremonies all teams will disperse to several fields to "Play ball!"

The Charlevoix Little League has more than 100 players from the ages to 7-15 signed up in both baseball and softball this year.

The Little League officials said the program has received great support from the community and they look forward to having a successful season.

Rasmussen, a left handed pitcher who went 18-6 with the Yankees in 1986, will be participating in the event thanks to some Charlevoix connections. He explained that "(M)y family and future in-laws, Pat and Judy Hayden, own the Dairy Grille in Charlevoix and I met their daughter Renee, when I was the Boston Red Sox pitching coach in 1998 and coached Renee's brother, Terry Hayden. (Terry) pitched five years in the Minor Leagues with the Red Sox and Cincinnati Reds."

Rasmussen added: "Opening Day for baseball season at any level, whether Little League or Major League Baseball is the greatest day of the year!"

Rayders, Hornets to team up against cancer

It's been done to great success by many schools in many sports.

So why not baseball?

Three area teams — Charlevoix, Pellston and Petoskey — will soon jump into the battle against cancer with fundraisers surrounding games in the coming weeks.

Charlevoix plays host to Pellston in a doubleheader on Thursday, May 17, with the purpose of raising money to fight prostate cancer. The event is being billed as Athletes for a Cure, with proceeds going to the Prostate Cancer Foundation.

The Hornets will wear blue jerseys trimmed in white, while the Rayders will wear white trimmed in blue.

The schools are combining their efforts — with a small side wager — and 100 percent of the gate proceeds, along with those from the 50-50 raffle and silent auction, going to the foundation.

Both schools plan to conduct fundraising efforts ahead of the game, and the school that raises the most money will receive a special prize.

Game time is 4:30 p.m. Prior to the game, at approximately 4:15 p.m., Charlevoix coach Allen Telgenhoff and Pellston coach Randy Bricker will meet at home plate with checks from their respective schools.

Petoskey will wear pink in an effort to raise money during the Carol Hansen Invitational at Turcott Field on Saturday, May 12 for the Carol Hansen Invitational tournament. The tournament, which was formerly known as the Petoskey Invitational, was renamed before this season in honor of the late Carol Hansen, who succumbed to cancer last year.

Hansen was the long-time official scorekeeper at Northmen baseball games and her entire family, including husband Bill, remain to this day part of the very fiber of youth and high school baseball in Petoskey.

Gates Muller of T.C. West shot 73 to earn medalist honors, while teammate Andrew Hartman posted a 76 to place second.

"It was a challenge mentally when the cold starts creeping into your hands to keep your composure and maintain your play throughout the entire round, and the guys did that and it's evident in their scores," Loe said. "Everybody's within seven shots of each other, that's great. They're really starting to come together.

"To come away with a victory over (Big North Conference rival) T.C. West bodes well for us moving forward."

Bennett Langton of Harbor Springs and Chandler Novotny of Charlevoix both shot 77 to finish tied with Pulaski and Dann for third place.

Charlevoix's Tanner Catt and Brad Rizzo shot 84 to share the 11th-place spot with Petoskey's Ludlow and Dubeau.

Steve Zucker
COURIER EDITOR

With its annual petunia planting day now less than two weeks away, the organization in charge of the well-known and much-loved program is again asking the community for help — and this year with a little more than planting and contributions.

This year's planting day is scheduled for 4-6 p.m. on Thursday, May 24. At that time, anyone who would like to help with planting the more than 62,000 petunias that will line the five miles of U.S. 31, from one end of the city to the other, is to show up somewhere along the route, find a block captain in a fluorescent yellow shirt and ask for direction.

This year marks the 30th anniversary of the first petunia planting in 1982 and Aaron Wilkin, board president for the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful organization, which oversees the petunia program each year, highlighted some of what's new for this year.

First of all, there will be a few more flowers. Not only will four additional baskets of flowers be added to those in and near the downtown area, but also an additional 60 feet of roadside flower beds will be planted along the south side of M-66 near Walgreens. Wilkin said newly added curbs in that area and cooperation from Walgreens officials to move some sprinkler pipes were keys to the added flower beds taking shape.

Another change for this year is Landscape Logic of Charlevoix has agreed to donate its services to professionally manage this year's program, from plant selection through setting up a regular fertilizing program. Wilkin said Landscape Logic will be looking for varieties of plants that won't get overgrown too fast and will also be experimenting with some different petunia varieties in 10 of the 82 hanging baskets.

One thing that organizers plan to continue is having inmates from the Charlevoix County jail handle weeding duties. This will be the third year the inmates handled the weeding, a program which Wilkin said has saved the organization thousands and gets the beds weeded more often each year. The only costs for the inmate weeding is for the sheriff's deputy who oversees the inmates (and a few refreshments for the really hot days).

As in the past, planting day activities will conclude with a community appreciation picnic in East Park.

Wilkin said so far, the organization has collected about one third of the roughly $30,000 it costs each year for the petunia planting program. He said officials with the organization are always very grateful for the support the community has shown for the program over the years. He also noted that while bigger donations certainly make a difference, it's the many $10 and $20 donations that come in from many people that really add up.

Wilkin said this year, in addition to its annual call for donations and help with planting, the Report ranks Rayders in state's top 25

NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

It would appear that a fourth "R" for "Rayders" needs to be added to the traditional educational trio of "Reading wRiting and aRithmatic," after a report released this week ranked Charlevoix High School among the best in the state and the nation for academics.

The 2012 U.S. News and World Report Best High School rankings named Charlevoix High School 24th in Michigan and 1,119 in the nation.

The only other area high school that was given a state ranking in the report was Petoskey High School which came in as 35th in the state and 1,378 in the nation.

Charlevoix High School Principal Suzanne Klinger, said she's incredibly proud to be a part of a school district that places a high level of value on educational excellence.

Klinger

"From all levels — students, staff, teachers, administration — the focus is on student achievement, student recognition and continuous efforts on improvement," she said. "It is so impressive to look at the top schools that have received this recognition and realize that Charlevoix High School is one of the smallest in size, with only 375 students and 26 teachers. I think that is a true testament that our K-12 staff works very hard to offer a diversified, rigourous curriculum to prepare students for their next step in life."

"Being 35th is great, but we are aiming even higher," said Petoskey High School principal Jim Kanine.

Kanine called the recognition an honor for the entire district — from the elementary schools and the middle school, to the teachers, students and the community.

"When you have a great school, you're talking about great parents, great students, great staff. You can't have a great school system without a great community," he said.

Overall, more than 21,000 public high schools in 49 states and the District of Columbia were analyzed. The rankings are based on the key principle that a great high school must serve all of its students well, not just those who are college bound. It must also be able to produce measurable academic outcomes to show the school is successfully educating its student body across a range of performance indicators.

Data from the 2009-2010 school year was used.

Out of 826 high schools in the state 204 were ranked in the report. The schools were also given gold, silver and bronze medals for performance, and only those with a gold (6) and silver (49) were given state rankings. Other area schools receiving a national bronze medal included Boyne City, East Jordan, Ellsworth, and Central Lake.

Flower box fire damages Terry's Restaurant

Officials believe a cigarette butt may have sparked the fire

Steve Zucker
COURIER EDITOR

Fire officials believe it was likely a cigarette butt that someone tried to put out in a flower box that caused a fire that damaged a downtown Charlevoix restaurant early Saturday.

Charlevoix Fire Chief Paul Ivan said fire crews were called at 5:14 a.m. Saturday to Terry's Restaurant, 101 W. Antrim St. in Charlevoix, to a report of a fire at the business.

Ivan said when fire crews arrived the fire in a flower box mounted below a window had been extinguished by a passing sheriff's deputy with a fire extinguisher.

The restaurant was closed at the time of the fire, but after firefighters got inside, the building continued to fill with smoke. Further investigation revealed that there was still a fire in the wall to which the flower box had been attached.

Ivan explained that the fire burned through the window frame, and then into the internal wooden wall.

Fire crews were able to extinguish the rest of the fire, and damage was limited to the exterior wall of the restaurant.

Fire crews were on the scene for about an hour.

A sign on the window at the establishment and a recording at the restaurant's telephone number, Monday, indicates that Terry's is temporarily closed because of the fire damage, but that the restaurant's menu items will be served in its neighboring sister restaurant The Villager Pub from 5-8 p.m. through Thursday. Crews have been at the restaurant working on cleanup and repairs.

Former sheriff jumps in race for board seat

Sheri McWhirter
NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

CHARLEVOIX — Two more names can be added to the list of Charlevoix County candidates in the coming primary election.

Incumbent Charlene Novotny filed for re-election to a four-year term as register of deeds. Also, former sheriff George T. Lasater seeks a two-year seat on the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners. They join 18 others who seek county office in the August primary.

Lasater

Tripp

Now 13 candidates seek spots on the board and there are seven who want four-year county-wide positions.

Lasater will challenge incumbent commissioner Shirlene Tripp in District 1. He said he's heard more candid concerns from Charlevoix County residents in his years as a private citizen.

"I plan to help create a non-adversarial relationship with other county commissioners, department heads, elected offices and county employees. I believe that the citizens of Charlevoix County expect a team of dedicated professionals to work for them and hold their interests seriously," Lasater said.

Nomination petitions are available at the Charlevoix County Clerk's Office, 203 Antrim St., Charlevoix. Deadline to file is at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, May 15. Call (231) 547-7200 for more information.

Meanwhile, four candidates will appear on the ballot for the county board's District 6 seat, a new district drawn around the City of Charlevoix and Charlevoix Township after the 2010 U.S. Census.

Those candidates include former county commissioner Shirley Roloff; Dennis Halverson, former Charlevoix police chief and current administrator with the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District; John Earl Haggard, a Charlevoix business owner; and county planning director Larry Sullivan.

Additionally, there will be races in at least two other districts.

David Hague, former Boyne Falls police chief and county sheriff's deputy, will challenge incumbent commissioner Joel Evans, current board chairman, in District 4.

In neighboring District 5, three candidates are already lined up, including challengers Nancy Ferguson, a county planning commissioner, and Dennis Jason, planning commission chairman, along with incumbent commissioner Richard Gillespie who lives in the new District 5, though he represents the current District 6.

Commissioner Bob Drebenstedt said he will not seek re-election in District 5.

Finally, incumbent commissioners Chris Christensen and Ronald Reinhardt seek re-election in unchallenged Districts 2 and 3, respectively.

Prosecutor John Jarema seeks re-election but is challenged by Charlevoix attorney Allen Telgenhof, the latter who said he wants to quell a rumor about his candidacy.

Telgenhof said he does not intend to hire Jarema as chief assistant prosecutor, should voters elect him over the incumbent.

Additionally, there is no deal in place for Jarema to hire him as chief assistant prosecutor, should he lose the election, Telgenhof said.

"It would be a fraud on the voters," he said.

Telgenhof said he heard that question around the community in recent weeks, since soon after he filed to challenge Jarema.

Clerk Cheryl Potter Browe, sheriff William Donald Schneider, treasurer Marilyn Cousineau and surveyor Lawrence Feindt all seek re-election and are not challenged in the Aug. 7 primary.

Commissioner candidates are required to secure signatures from between three and 10 registered voters, while county-wide office seekers must acquire between 50 and 100 signatures.

Completed petitions for elected county seats must be returned to the clerk's office by 4 p.m. on Tuesday, May 15, while those seeking township office must return their petitions to their respective township clerks.

Overwhelming support shown for special education programs

NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

Voters in Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet counties said yes to a millage renewal that will allow continued support to special education programs and services for more than 1,350 students with disabilities throughout the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District.

The renewal is for 1.16 mills for four years.

Unofficial numbers show the millage renewal passed with 4,022 yes votes, compared to 1,616 no votes.

"We're certainly humbled by the overwhelming support shown for our kids and our schools up north," said Rick Diebold, superintendent of Char-Em ISD. "When the renewal is passed in each one of our 11 school districts, it's pretty apparent that people up north not only support our schools, but education as a whole."

Diebold

State and federal law mandates schools to provide special education services to children in need from birth to age 26. Without the renewal, local schools would still need to provide these services and operate these programs, or pay Char-Em ISD to do so. That would have resulted in a loss of more than $5.5 million in local school district operating funds, Diebold said.

The ISD works with students with a variety of needs, including physical, emotional, speech and language, and various learning areas. The district also provides indirect support through diagnostic services, teacher consultation and staff training. Transportation services are also provided.

The millage was first approved by voters in 1981, and has remained at the same rate and has been approved ever since.

"I think yesterday was the highest turnout we've ever had, and it sounds like turnout was high across the board," Diebold said. "Not only our renewal, but 10 others within our ISD, were all passed by voters, so it was an 11 for 11 night for education."

Voters in the East Jordan school district also elected the district's operating millage of up to 18 mills on non-homestead property for one year.

The voters elected to pass the millage by a 372-111 vote.

Voters on Beaver Island also approved a two-year renewal of the district's non-homestead operating millage by a vote of 110-46.

In both cases the tax does not apply to properties that are a primary residence.

Sheriff: Fraudulent texts not from credit union

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office seeks to warn area residents of a scam in which a fraudulent text message referencing a deactivated Bay Winds Federal Credit Union card is sent to people, prompting them to call the number provided, according to a news release.

The text message is sent by the number (231) 327-6468 and it reads: THE CREDIT UNION CENTER ALERT: YOUR CARD HAS BEEN DEACTIVATED. PLEASE CONTACT US AT 231-327-6468, the release states.

The text message is fraudulent and was not sent by Bay Winds Federal Credit Union, according to the release.

Bay Winds Federal Credit Union would like its customers to know:

— It does not send text messages.

— Its staff does not know and will never ask for your PIN.

— It will never ask for your card's expiration date or CVV number.

— It has access to your card number so it will never ask for your full card number.

Sheriff Don Schneider advises recipients of the text message not to call the number and not to provide any information to the sender.

If you received this text message and have already called the number and provided any information, notify your local law enforcement agency or call the Bay Winds Federal Credit Union, (231) 547-4483, or the toll-free number, (800) 638-1182, to have your card closed and a new card issued to prevent fraudulent activity, according to the release.

Deadline nears for city races

Only 3 candidates had filed as of Wednesday

Steve Zucker
COURIER EDITOR

With less than a week remaining before the filing deadline, only two candidates had filed nominating petitions for the three Charlevoix City Council seat and the mayor's seat that will be up for re-election in November.

The nominating petition filing deadline is the same for city office seats as it is for county seats, 4 p.m. on May 15, but because city elections are non-partisan, a primary election will only take place in August if there are more than three candidates who file for a particular seat.

Seats that will be up for re-election in November include a first ward seat that is currently held by Lyle Gennett, a second ward seat that is currently held by Greg Stevens and a third ward seat that is currently held by Shane Cole.

The mayor's seat, currently held by Norman "Boogie" Carlson, will also be up for election. All terms are for two years.

As of 3 p.m. Wednesday, incumbents Gennett and Cole had filed for re-election and Shirley Gibson, who has previously served on the council had filed to challenge for the third ward seat.

Sheri McWhirter
NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

Nomination petitions are available at the Charlevoix County Clerk's Office, 203 Antrim St., Charlevoix. Deadline to file is at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, May 15. Call (231) 547-7200 for more information.

CHARLEVOIX — Two more names can be added to the list of Charlevoix County candidates in the coming primary election.

Incumbent Charlene Novotny filed for re-election to a four-year term as register of deeds. Also, former sheriff George T. Lasater seeks a two-year seat on the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners. They join 18 others who seek county office in the August primary.

Lasater

Tripp

Now 13 candidates seek spots on the board and there are seven who want four-year county-wide positions.

Lasater will challenge incumbent commissioner Shirlene Tripp in District 1. He said he's heard more candid concerns from Charlevoix County residents in his years as a private citizen.

"I plan to help create a non-adversarial relationship with other county commissioners, department heads, elected offices and county employees. I believe that the citizens of Charlevoix County expect a team of dedicated professionals to work for them and hold their interests seriously," Lasater said.

Meanwhile, four candidates will appear on the ballot for the county board's District 6 seat, a new district drawn around the City of Charlevoix and Charlevoix Township after the 2010 U.S. Census.

Those candidates include former county commissioner Shirley Roloff, Dennis Halverson, former Charlevoix police chief and current administrator with the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District; John Earl Haggard, a Charlevoix business owner, and county planning director Larry Sullivan.

Additionally, there will be races in at least two other districts.

David Hague, former Boyne Falls police chief and county sheriff's deputy, will challenge incumbent commissioner Joel Evans, current board chairman, in District 4.

In neighboring District 5, three candidates are already lined up, including challengers Nancy Ferguson, a county planning commissioner, and Dennis Jason, planning commission chairman, along with incumbent commissioner Richard Gillespie who lives in the new District 5, though he represents the current District 6.

Commissioner Bob Drebenstedt said he will not seek re-election in District 5.

Finally, incumbent commissioners Chris Christensen and Ronald Reinhardt seek re-election in unchallenged Districts 2 and 3, respectively.

Prosecutor John Jarema seeks re-election but is challenged by Charlevoix attorney Allen Telgenhof, the latter who said he wants to quell a rumor about his candidacy.

Telgenhof said he does not intend to hire Jarema as chief assistant prosecutor, should voters elect him over the incumbent.

Additionally, there is no deal in place for Jarema to hire him as chief assistant prosecutor, should he lose the election, Telgenhof said.

"It would be a fraud on the voters," he said.

Telgenhof said he heard that question around the community in recent weeks, since soon after he filed to challenge Jarema.

Clerk Cheryl Potter Browe, sheriff William Donald Schneider, treasurer Marilyn Cousineau and surveyor Lawrence Ferndt all seek re-election and are not challenged in the Aug. 7 primary.

Commissioner candidates are required to secure signatures from between three and 10 registered voters, while county-wide office seekers must acquire between 50 and 100 signatures.

Completed petitions for elected county seats must be returned to the clerk's office by 4 p.m. on Tuesday, May 15, while those seeking township office must return their petitions to their respective township clerks.

Overwhelming support shown for special education programs

NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

Voters in Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet counties said yes to a millage renewal that will allow continued support to special education programs and services for more than 1,350 students with disabilities throughout the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District.

The renewal is for 1.16 mills for four years.

Unofficial numbers show the millage renewal passed with 4,022 yes votes, compared to 1,616 no votes.

"We're certainly humbled by the overwhelming support shown for our kids and our schools up north," said Rick Diebold, superintendent of Char-Em ISD. "When the renewal is passed in each one of our 11 school districts, it's pretty apparent that people up north not only support our schools, but education as a whole."

State and federal law mandates schools to provide special education services to children in need from birth to age 26. Without the renewal, local schools would still need to provide these services and operate these programs or pay Char-Em ISD to do so. That would have resulted in a loss of more than $5.5 million in local school district operating funds, Diebold said.

Diebold

The ISD works with students with a variety of needs including physical, emotional, speech and language, and various learning areas. The district also provides indirect support through diagnostic services, teacher consultation and staff training. Transportation services are also provided.

The millage was first approved by voters in 1981, and has remained at the same rate and has been approved ever since.

"I think yesterday was the highest turnout we've ever had, and it sounds like turnout was high across the board," Diebold said. "Not only our renewal, but 10 others within our ISD were all passed by voters, so it was an 11 for 11 night for education."

Voters in the East Jordan school district also elected the district's operating millage of up to 18 mills on non-homestead property for one year.

The voters elected to pass the millage by a 372-141 vote.

Voters on Beaver Island also approved a two-year renewal of the district's non-homestead operating millage by a vote of 110-46.

In both cases the tax does not apply to properties that are a primary residence.

Sheriff: Fraudulent texts not from credit union

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office seeks to warn area residents of a scam in which a fraudulent text message referencing a deactivated Bay Winds Federal Credit Union card is sent to people, prompting them to call the number provided, according to a news release.

The text message is sent by the number (231) 327-6468 and it reads: "THE CREDIT UNION CENTER ALERT YOUR CARD HAS BEEN DEACTIVATED, PLEASE CONTACT US AT 231-327-6468, the release states.

The text message is fraudulent and was not sent by Bay Winds Federal Credit Union, according to the release.

Bay Winds Federal Credit Union would like its customers to know:

- It does not send text messages.
- Its staff does not know and will never ask for your PIN.
- It will never ask for your card's expiration date or CVV number.
- It has access to your card number so it will never ask for your full card number.

Sheriff Don Schneider advises recipients of the text message not to call the number and not to provide any information to the sender.

If you received this text message and have already called the number and provided any information, notify your local law enforcement agency or call the Bay Winds Federal Credit Union, (231) 547-4483, or the toll-free number, (800) 638-1182, to have your card closed and a new card issued to prevent fraudulent activity, according to the release.

Deadline nears for city races

Only 3 candidates had filed as of Wednesday

Steve Zucker
COURIER EDITOR

With less than a week remaining before the filing deadline, only two candidates had filed nominating petitions for the three Charlevoix City Council seat and the mayor's seat that will be up for re-election in November.

The nominating petition filing deadline is the same for city office seats as it is for county seats, 4 p.m. on May 15, but because city elections are non partisan, a primary election will only take place in August if there are more than three candidates who file for a particular seat.

Seats that will be up for re-election in November include a first ward seat that is currently held by Lyle Gennett, a second ward seat that is currently held by Greg Stevens and a third ward seat that is currently held by Shane Cole.

The mayor's seat, currently held by Norman "Bougie" Carlson, will also be up for election. All terms are for two years.

As of 3 p.m. Wednesday, incumbents Gennett and Cole had filed for re-election and Shirley Gibson, who has previously served on the council had filed to challenge for the third ward seat.

Weather extremes no problem for native species

Roger Knutson

I believe it would be fair to say that it has been an unusual spring. Local orchardists say that nothing like this has happened for at least 50 years. It makes sense to suggest that this is the sort of spring that will, on average, happen only once in a century. Many would agree that once a century is more than often enough.

The cherry, apple and stone fruit crops will be much below average. What is more interesting to me as a botanist is how the natives have fared in this most unusual set of circumstances.

By natives, I don't mean those who attended Charlevoix schools, nor even the original native human population which has been here continuously for a few thousand years. The natives I have in mind are the plants and animals that have managed in our variable climate for many times 1,000 years. It is worth noting that each and every native plant and animal has managed to survive the coldest winter, the oddest spring or fall, and the most severe drought of the past 10,000 years. Such tenacity makes our meager human occupancy and survival seem almost unimportant by comparison.

Plants that we late-arriving humans have introduced are likely to be damaged or even killed by a once in a century weather event. But the natives survive without our help. How do they do it?

Apple or cherry trees are of only a few genetically different kinds, while almost every maple tree in our forests is a genetically unique individual. And while a once-per-century odd spring might damage some or even many of the maples, there are some trees for which the odd spring is no problem at all. They survive and perpetuate what may be better adapted strains of maple.

Unlike many of our planted and often imported flowers, the spring flowers in our forests are as variable as the maple trees. Many of them build each year, underground storage structures that need not produce any above ground growth for a whole year. They are capable of waiting out the worst year in 10 centuries, and are able to produce a crop of flowers and seeds when things finally get better.

Some late arrivals among the non-natives haven't yet met the most difficult situations, and they may even benefit from an unusually warm winter and early spring. You may have noticed this spring, that a lot of lawns show room-sized patches of mostly dead grass. The dead spots are almost surely the work of beetle grubs chewing up the grass roots. I am not sure yet whether the culprits are native beetles which did well because of the warm winter, or whether they are invaders like Japanese beetles. Usually Japanese beetles aren't well represented this far north, but with a mild winter, they may have arrived and thrived. The beetles of whatever kind will emerge and fly around in June or July, and I will know for certain if they are the Japanese variety.

The built-in survival capacity of natives is what keeps me from being overly concerned with what may be aggressive, invading plants or animals. The late arrivals almost surely don't have the capacity for survival in difficult conditions that the natives do.

We humans don't automatically have the long-term point of view that our native plants and animals must have. If a plant is ready for the worst drought in 5,000 years, an August with no rain is not a serious problem. Maybe if we could live as long as Maple trees can, we would understand.

Charlevoix can be proud

Editor:

In Charlevoix resident John Ramsey's book The Other Side of Suffering, he describes his family's love of Charlevoix along with his struggles after the tragic loss of two daughters and his wife, Patsy. Many readers may not be aware the Ramseys were cleared of any wrongdoing in the 1996 murder of their daughter Jon Benet with the assistance of a new form of DNA analysis. In a media release from the office of Boulder's District Attorney, the Ramseys are declared innocent in the death of their dear 6-year-old daughter. Further, Mary T. Lacy apologized for falsely accusing them, stating, "To the extent that this office had added to the distress suffered by the Ramsey family at any time or to any degree, I offer my deepest apology."

On several occasions, Mr. Ramsey writes of the many kindnesses extended to him and his family by our residents. For example, "The people of Charlevoix made us feel protected and safe; they gave us a sense of belonging and for Patsy and me, this was a sweet balm of healing. We felt secure and welcome. This affection and loyalty were so sustaining ... we decided to make Charlevoix our year-round home ... we looked forward to the wonderful quality of life this quiet lakeside community offered."

Charlevoix residents can be proud to have believed in the Ramseys' innocence even before they were officially absolved of any responsibility and to have touched their lives with loving care.

Family offers thanks for support following fire

Editor:

We know this thank you is long overdue, but we would like to extend our dearest "thank you" for all the support from our house fire on Pops Road in Charlevoix, on Feb. 9. Thank you to the Charlevoix Township Fire department, EMT rescue crew, Charlevoix public schools, Elks Lodge 2856, AmericInn and our ever-so-helpful friends and family for the love and support during such a tragic time for our family.

Thank you for trail support

Editor:

We wish to thank the Boyne Area Community for the exceptional support for the Boyne City - Charlevoix Trail. We had a gala event last week hosted by the Red Mesa and organized by Paula Larson, supported by the North Country Bicycle Club and 30 volunteers who accepted donations from community members, had a outstanding silent action and raffle. These funds will contribute to the local matching funds required to obtain the major federal and state grants for the phase one of the trail which should begin construction next year.

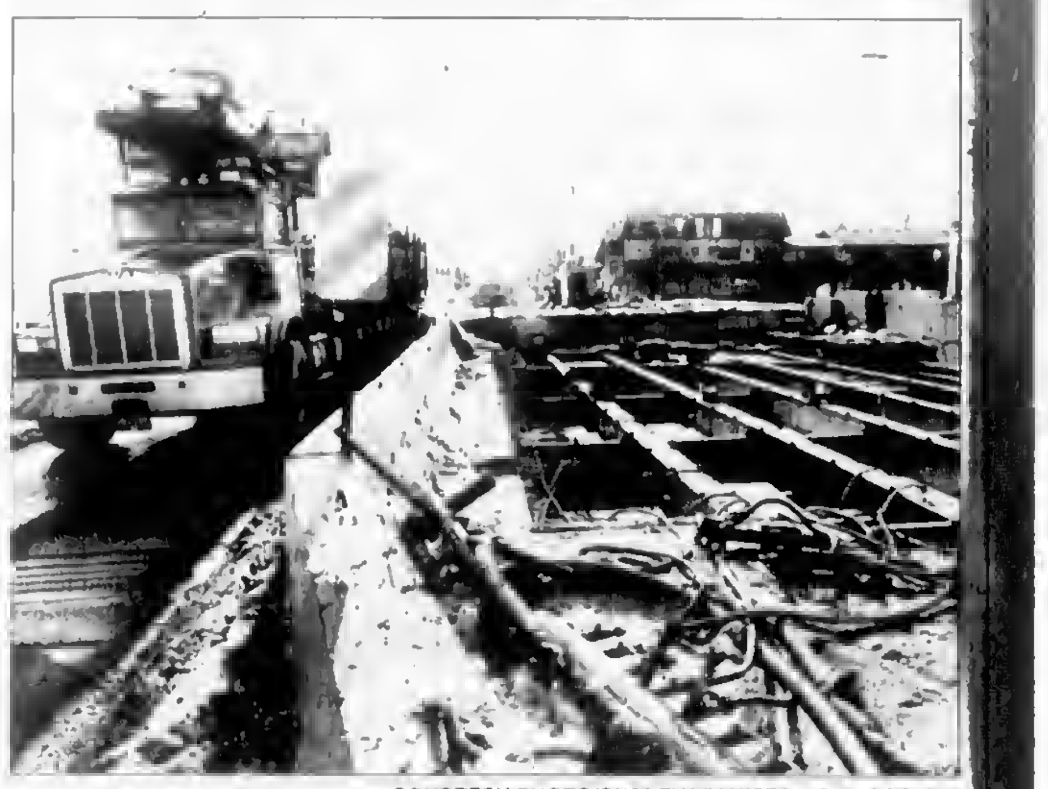
Bridging our past with our future

LOOKING BACK…



COURTESY PHOTO/CHRLEVOIX HISTORICAL SOCIETY

After over 40 years of use and being raised and lowered uncounted thousands of times, plus constant exposure to extremes of weather, the channel bridge was due for a facelift. Rust was making its appearance in too many places. So, in the fall of 1991, after the tourist season ended, the bridga was reduced to one lane over that winter and the winter of 1992-93. The entira roadbed and its support girders came out, one third one year, two-thirds during the other. The only visible original fixtures still part of the bridge are the four huge primary external girders at each corner. Both winters were often bonechillingly cold. During those periods, the construction crew would have to stop work during the days some of them, suspended in mid-air over the channel in ferocious winds that howled off Lake Michigan, became so frozen they could hardly walk.

Council adopts emergency siren warning policy

Monthly siren test will take place at noon on the first Tuesday of the month

Steve Zucker
COURIER EDITOR

If you are one of the many people who loves to hear the sound of the former fire siren atop Charlevoix City Hall every day at noon, then the first Tuesday of the month, April through November, will now be extra-special for you.

At its regular semi-monthly meeting Monday, the Charlevoix City Council unanimously approved a new county-wide emergency warning siren policy. The policy, which is expected to be used also in Boyne City and East Jordan, not only calls for monthly tests of warning sirens to take place at noon on the first Tuesday of the month, but it also establishes the parameters for situations when and by whom the siren should be activated.

On test days, the warning siren will take the place of the regular noon siren sounding. The warning siren will be longer and a different pattern than the once-up-and-down of the well-known noon and 9:30 p.m. soundings.

The policy approved Monday is revised from the version presented earlier this year by city fire chief Paul Ivan. The earlier version had recommended discontinuing the practice of sounding the siren daily at noon and 9:30 p.m. to avoid de-sensitizing residents to the sound of the siren. The council said no to that version of the policy in deference to the many people who spoke up in favor of keeping the traditional twice-daily siren soundings.

Another change from the earlier version of the policy moved the monthly tests from 7 p.m. to noon based on the rationale that severe weather is less likely to happen at that hour.

In earlier discussions, Ivan explained that while something as relatively low-tech as a siren might seem unnecessary in today's high-tech, hyper-connected society, it has many practical uses — especially for those who might be enjoying the outdoors in the area. He said the siren will only be used in situations were there is a serious imminent danger to the public.

Reasons for the siren to be activated under the policy include:

— The National Weather Service has issued a tornado warning for the area.

— A severe thunderstorm with winds in excess of 70 mph has been detected in the area.

— A hazardous materials accident has happened in the area that requires immediate protective action by the public.

False allegations continue, county staff member says

Chief assistant prosecutor again speaks to Charlevoix County commissioners

Sheri McWhirter
NEWS-REVIEW STAFF WRITER

> "I want to come back to work. I love this job."
> — Shaynee Fanara Charlevoix County chief assistant prosecutor

Charlevoix County's chief assistant prosecutor publicly spoke to county commissioners this week about her desire to return to work, as well as her demand that her boss cease making false allegations about her.

Shaynee Fanara remains out on medical leave from her county job in prosecutor John Jarema's office, but she attended the commissioners' meeting Wednesday in Charlevoix. Fanara said she doesn't want to leave her prosecution work, despite the trouble she faced as Jarema's chief assistant.

"I want to come back to work. I love this job," she said.

Last month, Fanara accused Jarema of lying to county commissioners and a judge, refusing to pay her for work she did and launching a false investigation into her paid work hours. Additionally, she alleged that Jarema spread false rumors about her having sex with a defense attorney in exchange for better plea bargains.

Fanara said the sex allegation came as retaliation after she filed a grievance against Jarema with the Michigan Attorney Grievance Commission for his alleged lies to commissioners and a judge. Jarema later said Fanara's accusations are "unfounded allegations" intended as a ploy to file a lawsuit against the county.

Doctors placed Fanara on medical leave after she experienced stress-related tension headaches she previously said are attributed to Jarema's poor treatment of her. She said Wednesday that Jarema continues to publicly discuss what she described as false allegations about her.

"I want it to stop," she told commissioners.

Jarema responded Wednesday evening.

"I am a bit confused and dismayed at the comments reportedly made by Mrs. Fanara at Wednesday's county board meeting. I have not spoken to or about her other than to say 'hello' to her on Tuesday during a break outside the courtroom when she was watching the trial I was conducting. I do get asked about her as I did that day by several county employees

This Mother's Day, Think of Lifetime Financial Moves to Help Kids

If you're a mother, you'll probably get some nice cards and flowers on Mother's Day. But of course, your greatest gifts are your children themselves. And since you want to see them happy and financially secure, perhaps you can use this Mother's Day as an opportunity to consider ways to help your children at various stages of their lives.

So, let's take a look at steps you can take:

When Your Children Are Young

• Teach them to be savers — Encourage young children to put away part of their allowance, or any money they receive for household jobs, in a savings account. Offer to match their contributions dollar for dollar

• Help them become investors — Consider giving your children a few shares of stock in companies with which they are familiar. By following the movements of their stocks with them, you can explain how the markets work and how increasing share ownership is one key to helping build wealth.

• Contribute to a college savings plan — One of the best things you can do to boost your children's chances of success in life is to help them go to college. You've got several good college-savings vehicles available, such as a 529 plans, Coverdell Education Savings Accounts and custodial accounts. Your financial advisor can help you choose the vehicle that suits your needs and objectives

When Your Children Enter the Working World

• Encourage IRA contributions — An Individual Retirement Account (IRA) is a great retirement savings vehicle. As long as your children have earned income, they can contribute to an IRA, so you may want to help them "max out" on their contributions each year. While you can't directly contribute to a child's IRA, you can write a check to your child and encourage him or her to use it for funding an IRA.

• Make long-term care arrangements — If you needed long-term care, such as an extended nursing home stay, and you had inadequate financial preparations, the burden could fall on your children. Now is the time to consult with your financial advisor to begin preparing for possible long-term care costs.

When Your Children Reach Middle Age

• Communicate your financial situation and estate plans — Don't leave adult children in the dark as to your financial information. Share everything you can about how much you own, where you keep your assets and how you plan to eventually distribute them. By clearly communicating your situation and wishes now, you can avoid major problems later.

• Create a durable power of attorney — By creating a durable power of attorney, you can appoint another person, such as an adult child, to conduct your business and financial affairs if you become physically or mentally incapacitated. Such a move can help reduce stress your children may be feeling, while allowing them to make moves that can help preserve your finances.

Mother's Day commemorates the special bond that mothers have with their children. By following the above suggestions, you can help strengthen that bond throughout your lifetime.

Stamp Out Hunger postal food drive is Saturday, May 12

On Saturday, May 12, letter carriers in more than 10,000 cities and towns across America, including here in Northern Michigan, will do more than deliver mail when they walk and drive along their postal routes.

They will also collect food given by their postal customers participating in the 20th annual National Food Drive, "Stamp Out Hunger." It's the largest food drive in the nation.

Postal service employees are asking those along their routes to leave donations of non-perishable food items in or around their mailbox on May 12

Almost all post offices in Northern Michigan are participating in this year's food drive. You can also bring items directly to the post office of your choice.

In the food drive's 20 years, letter carriers have collected more than 1 billion pounds of food. All is collected and distributed locally.

Academy's spring band concert set for May 21

The Northwest Academy advanced, intermediate, beginning and jazz bands will perform their final concert of the school year beginning at 7 p.m. on Monday, May 21, at the First Congregational Church, located at the corner of Park and State streets in Charlevoix.

The event will also feature a special guest appearance of the elementary string ensemble that has been working under the direction of the Crooked Tree Youth Orchestra program. The Crooked Tree Strings are the direct result of a grant from the Gerber Foundation in Freemont, that makes it possible for all the schools in the Char-Em Intermediate school district to receive lessons on the violin, viola, cello, and bass.

The Northwest Academy Bands participated in the third annual Solo and Ensemble Festival at Woodland School in Traverse City in April and received excellent ratings. The advanced band also was featured while performing two symphonic wind pieces that received high acclaim.

The concert will feature a wide variety of music and several alumni who have come back to work with the bands during the school year will also participate in the concert.

Refreshments will be served at the end of the concert.

There is no charge for admission, but donations will be accepted.

"The bands have reached an outstanding level this year and you are all in for a fine musical treat on Monday evening," band director Gary Stutzman said.

FANARA

who also noticed her watching the trial," Jarema said in an email response.

"Rather than continue to make unsubstantiated accusations, I urge Mrs. Fanara to discuss her perceived concerns and issues with the human resources coordinator as I and all county employees are expected to do. In the meantime, I am hopeful Mrs. Fanara can return to work soon as the workload is becoming increasingly difficult to manage while she is on leave," Jarema concluded.

Fanara also said Wednesday that she does not have a pending lawsuit against the county. She then asked commissioners whether they inquired with local judges and law enforcement officers about her performance as chief assistant prosecutor in the weeks since she first publicly raised these issues.

"Everyone I have talked to, they all say you're doing a great job," said Joel Evans, board chairman from South Arm Township. He added, "I think you are a very valuable employee for Charlevoix County."

Commissioner Rich Gillespie, of Beaver Island, said he also received positive reports about Fanara. Commissioner Ron Reinhardt, of Wilson Township, said he asked about her performance, as well, but declined to comment on what he learned.

However, Reinhardt did underscore how county commissioners can't directly control her employment status in the prosecutor's office.

"We do not control elected officials' decisions," he said.

Meanwhile, Jarema resigned late last month as the board's civil counselor saying that he is "short-staffed" in his prosecutor's office and he "simply cannot devote the time to county civil matters and give those matters the time and thought they deserve," according to his resignation letter.

But the letter didn't stop there. Jarema alluded to internal personnel concerns in his office, as well.

"Also, I have concerns regarding several criminal files that have been authorized through my office within the last few months. Those issues have yet to be rectified, but I am seeking advice on how to deal with them appropriately. Once that process is determined, I may have to audit all the files in my office, which will be a time consuming event," according to Jarema's resignation letter.

Kevin Shepard, county human resources coordinator, said the status remains unchanged regarding Fanara's employment in Jarema's county office. He also said bids for new board civil counsel were due at day's end Wednesday and a recommendation is expected go before commissioners in coming weeks.

Substation construction bid do-over

CHARLEVOIX — Charlevoix County officials will seek new construction bids for a new sheriff's substation in Boyne Falls.

Both county commissioner Rich Gillespie, of Beaver Island, and undersheriff Chuck Vondra said problems cropped up with the project specifications, so they will scrap the first round of construction bids and start over. Commissioners on the Charlevoix County Board's buildings and grounds committee agreed Wednesday to a second request for proposals.

The new round of bids will be opened later this month and possibly awarded on May 23 by the full board.

Last month, commissioners were set to consider a construction contract with Phil Lewin Construction, of Boyne City, for $150,000, plus $42,275 for plumbing. Instead, they put off that decision to further discuss the project and questions about the project specifications.

Questions arose regarding the required depth for a concrete foundation and the needed width for wooden studs.

Another construction bid came from Petrie Construction, of East Jordan, at $127,758 for the building plus $54,120 for plumbing, while a third bid for the building only came in at more than $200,000.

Sheriff Don Schneider argues the existing one-room outpost in Boyne Falls is inadequate, with limited privacy for interviews and investigation work. Also, there is no space for other county departments to keep office hours on the east side of Lake Charlevoix, he previously said.

Schneider said a key logistical advantage would be heated indoor storage for a rescue boat, snowmobiles and all-terrain vehicles, meaning those specialty tools won't have to be winterized and would remain available for use at a moment's notice.

Writing for a cause: Essay contest promotes charitable donations

COURTESY PHOTO

The winners of this year's Charlevoix Kiwanis Club Vandenberg Essay Contest are: (from left) Kaitlin Schwonka, Devin Sutton, Emily Graham, Prestyn Seese, Ana Smith and Jenna Good.

The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club recently hosted an award ceremony honoring the winners of its fourth Vandenberg Essay Contest. The ceremony, which took place on May 8 at Charlevoix Middle School, was the culmination of this year's contest, which honors one of Kiwanis' former members through the giving of monetary distributions to area nonprofit organizations.

Students in the fifth grade were asked to write an essay about a non-profit in which they are interested or with which they may have had some personal. In all, 75 students participated in the contest. A committee of six Kiwanis members reviewed the essays. The committee had originally planned to choose four winning essays, but were so pleased with the students submission that it ultimately chose six essays as winners.

Five of the students received a $50 check which they in turn presented to the nonprofit about which they wrote. One essay was selected as the overall best essay and that student received a check for $100 which in turn was given to the charity. As an added surprise, Huntington Bank provided a check for $150, which was then used to purchase Chamber Checks for each student as a thank you.

The event was organized by the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club with the help of sponsors who provided gift certificates and awards. Sponsores included ACE Hardware, Charlevoix State Bank, The Community Shopper, Round Lake Bookstore, Huntington Bank, the Bergmann Center Action Club, The First Congregational Church, Carolyn Navarre, Dave and Cynthia Garland and Roger and Cynthia Postmus.

The winner for best overall essay is Kaitlin Schwenke. She was also the recepient of $100 which she donated to her cause: Bethany Christian Services.

"Bethany is a great charity. They help many people around the world. They help children get adopted... It is important to me that Bethany Christian Services gets the money. Did you know that more than 160 million kids have lost a mother, a father or both from, disease, poverty, war, abandonment and many other reasons? The money could help these kids get adopted so they can have a bright future. Before you adopt you must take a $200.00 training program online, the money could pay for this or it can help buy food and medical supplies in other countries. ... If I win I could pay back Bethany for what they have done for me. Bethany Christian Services helped me get adopted. They got me a loving, caring family. My only wish now is that I may win so I can help kids get good families so they may prosper like I have done."

Ana Smith from Charlevoix Middle School wrote about Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan.

"What would you do if you have just been assaulted by your husband or your boyfriend? More and more women are turning to the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan for support. The Resource Center is devoted to the well-being of women of Northern Michigan. The women from the Resource Center are and want to be recognized as leaders of the community. The resource center wants a safe and secure environment to bring women into. The community is also a big part of the Women's Resource Center. Volunteers from all of the community are welcome to take part in this big movement ... The counseling program is great because no one is turned down from the emergency counseling program. The counselors are all legally licensed and are always ready to help anyone."

Jenna Good from Charlevoix Middle School wrote about the American Red Cross.

Picture yourself sleeping and all of a sudden you hear fire alarms go off and you see flames everywhere. You think you're never going to get out. You bolt for the door but your door feels really hot, so you have no choice but to jump out the window where the rest of your family is. Finally you dive into the air like a bird and fall on some pillows. Next thing you know your house is in ashes. You have no clothes, shelter, food or things you need for your family. What would you do? Who would you turn to? The Red Cross will come to the rescue! ... If you ever wanted to help save a person's life then you could go to the Red Cross and donate blood. They also have a babysitting class for kids and teenagers. ....If you ever need help you should call the Red Cross and they will take a risk of their life just to save yours."

Devin Sutton from Charlevoix Middle School wrote about the Charlevoix Area Humane Society.

"Out of all the organizations being written about I think that the Charlevoix Area Humane Society deserves the money. They are a non-profit organization that takes cats and dogs that have been abandoned, abused, lost or injured. The Humane Society takes care of them by giving them a home and something to eat. Also if you're moving or cannot take care of your animal and they are just like family, the Humane Society will take them in and take good care of them. The Charlevoix Humane Society can really use the money to help them buy the materials they need for the animals. With the money, shampoos, medicines and food for the animals can be purchased. ... They would use medicines for sick or injured animals to cure them. The Humane Society can use the food to feed the animals so they do not starve."

Charlevoix Middle School student, Prestyn Seese, wrote about the Third Level Crisis Center.

"Help Wanted! If I won the fifty dollar prize money I would give it to Third Level. Third Level is a crisis intervention center. They offer programs for youth and adults to put together the gap between families. They help with legal issues for people of all ages suffering from depression and homeless teens looking for a way out. It's sad when you watch a loving and caring family fall apart during a time of crisis. It's hard when you family falls apart in front of your eyes. ...it's good to have fun with your family which helps build a strong, loving family that is determined to never break apart and that is why Third Level should win the money....The services they offer are: suicide prevention, free legal aid and youth and family services...If you help them, they will help other people and even you someday."

Emily Graham, a fifth grader from Charlevoix Middle School wrote about the Manna Food Project.

"If I had $50 would give it to the Manna Food Project. The reason I would give the money to them is because there are lots of families that struggle just to get three meals a day. You also will feel good about donating food or money because you are changing a child's life by keeping them alive. That's also why they have the Manna Food Project also knows as food pantries."

There are many reasons why families can't afford food. Maybe they're really sick or don't make enough money because their job doesn't pay well and they also have to pay bills for phones, electricity and the home they live in...When my school was trying to get everyone to donate food I donated and it felt good to donate...So donate food or money to the food pantry where you live and change a life."

People Fund applications due by June 1

The Great Lakes Energy People Fund is accepting grant applications from nonprofit organizations throughout its local service area. The upcoming grant application deadline is June 1.

The People Fund is supported solely by Great Lakes Energy members who allow their electric cooperative to round up their bill each month to the next dollar. Since 1999, more than $2.2 million in grants have been awarded to charitable and community organizations throughout Great Lakes Energy's 26-county service area, which stretches from Kalamazoo to the Mackinac Straits.

"The People Fund is made possible by the generosity of our members who contribute a few cents each month by rounding-up their bill," Great Lakes president and CEO Steve Boeckman said. "We encourage non-profit community organizations to apply so that the funds can be put to good use in our local service area."

Nonprofit organizations can request a grant application through the People Fund by calling Great Lakes Energy, (888) 485-2537, ext. 1313. Organizations that are unable to apply by June 1, will have another opportunity to submit an application this fall.

PREVIEW

board is asking for a little more help.

First, he said, organizers need some help getting the roadside flower beds ready for planting.

On Monday and Tuesday, May 14-15, MDC Inc. will donate its services and use a specially designed plow to remove the top 2 inches of sand and other debris from the flower beds.

And then, between the conclusion of that work and planting day, the entire five-mile stretch needs to be rototilled — twice.

Wilkin said the organization has some new rototillers that have been modified to fit the width of the flower beds, but it still needs people to operate them and also to work up some of the beds where the rototillers won't work, such as around trees.

And there is one more job for which the organization is hoping to find a volunteer. Wilkin said they are hoping to find someone who can help the father of Operation Petunia, Dale Boss, with fertilizing the flowers about once every two weeks.

Boss, one of the founders of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, uses the organization's water truck to water the petunias in the pre-dawn hours every summer. But about once every two weeks, fertilizer is added to the water to help the petunias grow. Wilkin said they just need someone who would be willing to climb up on top of the truck to dump in the fertilizer prior to each of the four fill-ups it takes for one-day's watering.

Anyone who is interested in helping in any of these capacities may call Amanda Wilkin or Bethany Pearson at (231) 547-2101. Anyone wishing to make a contribution to Keep Charlevoix Beautiful may send it to P.O. Box 1, Charlevoix, Mich. 49720.

SIREN

— An attack on the United States is imminent, under way or has recently occurred.

— An emergent situation likely to constitute a danger to multiple people or property has occurred and activation of the siren is necessary to alert the public to take immediate protective action.

According to the policy, if the alert siren is activated, the public should go indoors and listen to the local Emergency Alert System radio stations, which in Charlevoix County are WTCM 103.5 FM and WGFM 105.1 FM, for additional information. No message will be broadcast for monthly tests.

The primary means of activating the siren will be done remotely by dispatchers at the 9-1-1 dispatch center in Petoskey; however, as a backup, the sirens can be triggered onsite if necessary.

In other business, the council approved the following items:

— An annual donation for $6,700 to the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce to assist it in promoting the city.

— An annual payment of $4,000 to the Charlevoix City Band to help it offset the costs of its weekly Tuesday evening concerts at the Odmark Performance Pavilion in East Park in the summer.

— A contract with MDC Inc. for $11,877 to repair a collapsed storm drain at 743 U.S. 31 South with the cost of the project to be reimbursed by the Michigan Department of Transportation. The work, which will require a lane shift, is expectd to take place before Memorial Day.

— A contract with Team Elmer's for sanitary sewer work for 304 Dixon Ave. The cost of the project will be reimbursed by the property owner.

— The purchase of up to $318,000 in electrical capacity for 2014 to 2018 for the city's electric utility. By purchasing the capacity now, city officials are locking in prices as a hedge against possible price spikes in coming years.

— A contract with John Cross for $6,500 to remove waste from the fish cleaning station at Ferry Beach from mid-May through Dec. 5. City manager Rob Straebel said the city had considered the possibility of installing a grinding system at the fish cleaning station, but the cost of the system, including necessary infrastructure upgrades and possible issues with the biological processes at the city's wastewater treatment plant, made that plan impractical. Cross was the lone bidder to provide the service for the city. Last year the city paid a garbage service $8,580 for the same service.

Hicks won three events in leading the Rambler girls to a first-place finish in the ninth annual Harbor Springs Kiwanis 9th-10th Grade Invitational at Reynolds Field.

Hicks won the 100-meter hurdles, the 300 hurdles and the high jump as Boyne finished with 157 points. Charlevoix, 116, was second, while Harbor Springs, 86, was third.

Charlevoix won the boys meet with 156 points, followed by Traverse City West, 113; and East Jordan, 94.

Hicks set meet records in both the 100 hurdles, 15.52 seconds; and the 300 hurdles, 47.29. She tied for first at 4 feet, 10 inches, in the high jump with Madeline Boss of Charlevoix.

Several meet records were set by area athletes in the boys meet.

East Jordan sophomore Josh Wojan set standards in winning both the 1600- and 3200-meter runs; Charlevoix eclipsed meet records in both the 3200 and 1600 relays; and the Rayders' Nick Plude set a record in the 400.

Plude, in fact, had a hand in three records as he ran a leg on both of the Rayders' record-setting relay squads.

Wojan finished in 4:30.93 in the 1600, and 10:04.36 in the 3200; Plude, Jackson Buday, Bryan Noirot and Nick Snabes teamed up to win the 1600 relay in 3:48.10; while Plude, Buday, Snabes and Tristen Rudolph won the 3200 relay in a record 8:44.06. Plude won the 400 in a record 52.98.

Also for the Charlevoix boys, Parker Skeel won both the 110 hurdles, 19.93; and the 300 hurdles, 47.68; while C.J. Rice won the 800, 2:18.32.

"It was a great team performance and everybody ran great today," Charlevoix coach Ken Plude said. "We had kids stepping into events they've never done before, like Matt MacKenzie, who picked up the pole vault on Thursday and ended up third. That's not an easy event to do.

"It was a great team performance by our 15 boys and it made it even more enjoyable to finish on top."

The Charlevoix girls were led by Amber Way who won three events, the 1600, 5:36.55; the 800, 2:31.90; and the 3200, 13:01.16.

Other Charlevoix winners in the girls meet were Caroline Boss, 400, 1:03.32; Madeline Boss, long jump, 15-0; Kourtney Putman, shot put, 27-9 3/4; and the 3200 relay (Madeline Boss, Allie Hodge, Putman, Way), 10:54.07.

Joining Wojan in the winner's circle for East Jordan were Ben Walton, discus, 104-6; and shot put, 43-6.25; Donvee Burks, high jump, 5-4; and Noah Bacchus, 100, 11.73.

Moon's hits help Rayders rebound

Rayders 1-3 in weekend play, then go 3-1 at home

After all the talk of the "super moon" in the sky on Saturday, the Charlevoix Rayders varsity baseball team had its own version earlier this week as freshman Nate Moon helped his team bounce back from three weekend losses with two game-winning hits on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The team won one of four games in trips to Alpena (Friday) and Newberry (Saturday).

The Rayders fell to Grosse Pointe North, 14-2, and Alpena, 12-2, on Friday. On Saturday, Charlevoix lost to Newberry, 8-3, then came back to down Lincoln-Alcona, 7-2.

Sutherland drove in two runs, while Klinger and Stewart had one RBI each

Herriman started and allowed one hit, while striking out nine and walking four over four innings for the win. Moon went the final three frames to pick up the save. He allowed two runs on three hits, while walking three and striking out one.

The Rayders committed a season-high six errors in falling to Newberry on Saturday.

Sutherland finished with three hits while Issac Klooster added two to lead the Rayders at the plate. Moon, Potter, Herriman and Will Telgenhof added a hit apiece.

Tommy Zipp started for Charlevoix and took the loss. He allowed three runs on two hits, while walking three and striking out one over two innings. Jesse Drost allowed two hits and struck out one in relief.

Zipp had two hits and Potter doubled on Friday in the loss to Grosse Pointe North. Moon and Sutherland each singled.

Against Alpena, Zipp doubled, while Sutherland, Klooster, Klinger and Telgenhof each singled. Telgenhof picked up an RBI.

On Tuesday the Rayders swept Elk Rapids, 9-2 and 6-5 in a Lake Michigan Conference double-header at home.

Nate Moon singled home the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning Tuesday as Charlevoix completed to seal the win for the Rayders in the nightcap.

Moon, who finished with four hits, singled in Will Telgenhoff — who singled and moved to second on Isaac Klooster's bunt — with the winning run for Charlevoix.

Tommy Zipp and Shane Sutherland each had two hits and an RBI for the Rayders. Andrew Potter struck out two, walked two and allowed seven hits for the victory.

Charlevoix scored five runs in the third inning to blow open game one.

Coby Herriman struck out 10, walked four and surrendered four hits for the victory. He improved to 5-1 on the season.

Potter, Morgan Stewart and Luke Klinger had two hits apiece, Sutherland added a two-run single, and Herriman and Noah Certa added a hit apiece. Stewart and Klinger had two RBI each.

Charlevoix 5, Manistee 6

On Wednesday Moon hit a walk-off single to the gap in the bottom of the eighth inning to lift the Rayders to a 7-6 win in the opening game of a non-league doubleheader against Manistee.

Moon's base hit scored Isaac Klooster, who singled and then moved to second on a wild pitch before racing home on Moon's fly ball to the rightfield gap.

Also for the Rayders offensively in the opener, Tommy Zipp had two hits, while Noah Certa added a two-run double, Andrew Potter had a RBI single and Shane Sutherland also singled and drove in a run.

"Our first game was almost a repeat of last night," Charlevoix coach Allen Telgenhof said as the Rayders improve to 7-10 overall.

The Rayders scored five runs in the second inning to take an early lead before Manistee slowly began to chip away at the deficit.

Zipp earned the pitching win as he went all eight innings, struck out six and walked six while allowing six runs —four of which were earned — on three hits.

Rayders win tournament, split with Elks, Manistee

The Charlevoix Rayder varsity softball team racked up some huge offense to walk away with a tournament championship over the weekend and then split two double headers with Elk Rapids and Manistee.

On Saturday, Charlevoix scored 38 runs en route to winning the Newberry Invitational.

The Rayders topped host Newberry, 16-1, in their opener, then rolled past Kinross Maplewood Baptist, 22-5, in the title game.

Katie Hybl was the winning pitcher in the championship game while Kristen Mielke pitched in relief. Nicole Peterson had four hits including a double to lead the Rayders at the plate, while Paige Montgomery added three triples, and Chelsey Pischner tripled. Mielke added two hits, while Nicole Pischner and Chelsie Hoffman each singled.

Mielke struck out six for the win over Newberry. Hoffman and Hybl had three hits apiece, while Peterson, Anna Moon and Kaitlin Loviska had a hit apiece.

On Tuesday, Anna Moon's two-run double highlighted a five-run fourth inning as the Rayders took the opener in a Lake Michigan Conference doubleheader from Elk Rapids, 6-2.

The Elks came back to take the nightcap 8-7 to salvage the split.

Kristen Mielke struck out four in tossing a three-hitter for the win in game one.

Moon, Jennifer Archey, Katie Hybl and Rachel Schull had two hits apiece for the Rayders, while Nicole Pischner and Mielke had a single apiece.

Elk Rapids trailed, 6-5, entering the top of the sixth (final) inning of the nightcap, and got a three-run double from Olivia Cote to seize an 8-6 lead.

The Rayders scored a run in the bottom of the sixth to close to 8-7, but stranded runners on second and third base.

Hybl started and struck out six over five innings. Mielke came on to pitch the sixth and took the loss.

Archey finished with four hits to lead the Rayders at the plate, while Hybl added three hits. Pischner and Chelsie Hoffman had two apiece, and Paige Montgomery singled.

On Wednesday Hybl struck out six and earned the pitching win as the Rayders took the opening game of a non-league doubleheader from Manistee.

Hybl went all six innings and gave up just four hits, while Charlevoix scored all three of their runs in the opening inning. The Rayders held of a sixth inning Manistee who had two runners aboard when Hybl notched the game-ending strikeout.

Jennifer Archey, Chelsie Hoffman, Kelsey Pischner and Hybl all had a hit apiece.

In game two, the Rayders fell to the Chippewas 12-2. In that game, Hoffman doubled, while Archey and Hybl each added singles. Kristen Mielke took the pitching loss as she allowed two runs on three hits. Hybl also pitched in relief.

"Overall, I was happy with the outcome," Charlevoix coach Ken Hoffman said. "We played hard and we got to play some of our younger girls. Kaitlin Loviska played her first games at catcher at the varsity level and did a good job. We were happy to see that."

Charlevoix is 10-8 overall and 5-5 in the league.

The Rayders will host Boyne City in a league double-header on Friday and then will play in a tournament at Traverse City West on Saturday.

JV Softball

It took the Charlevoix Rayder JV softball team a game Wednesday to shake off some of the rust that comes with not playing for after not playing a game for two weeks. The Rayders who, thanks to Mother Nature have haven't played a game in two week, dropped the opener of a Lake Michigan Conference double-header with Kalkaska 16-1 in three innings, and then couldn't get the tying run in from second in the sixth inning as they fell 8-6 in the nightcap.

Ryleigh Knoop had two hits and Katie Balck had one for the Rayders.

JV coach Kelly Bradley said he was proud of his players for the way they bounced back from the game one loss and tough play throughout the night.

The JV squad was slated to travel to East Jordan on Thursday, Boyne City on Friday and will play in a tournament in Rudyard on Saturday.

STEVE ZUCKER/CHARLEVOIX COURIER

cit and scored three runs in the seventh inning, but left the game-tieing run at third base.

Potter had a pair of singles, while Coby Herriman and Will Telgenhof doubled and singled apiece. Also for Charlevoix, Moon, Klooster and Certa all singled.

Sutherland took the pitching loss as he allowed six runs on eight hits while striking out five and walking three through seven innings.

The Rayders will host Boyne City for a league double-header on Friday.

JV baseball

The Charlevoix Rayder junior varsity baseball team earned its first sweep of the season Tuesday defeating conference foe Elk Rapids 3-2 and 7-4.

KeNen Borths earned the win in game one, allowing only one hit while striking out 10 and walking four. Justin Pearl had two doubles and scored twice.

Adam Michand got the win in game two for Charlevoix, striking out three, walking four, and allowing just one earned run in three innings. Justin Pearl picked up a save allowing one run over the final two innings. KeNen Borths doubled and Jon Frieberg and Jared Cole each had RBI singles. Logan Eckhardt reached base three times and scored two runs.

The JV squad travels to Boyne City Friday.

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

The damage to people's lawns is rampant in Charlevoix, especially up and down Meadow Lane.

"You can go to the interface of brown and green grass, and roll the grass up like a piece of carpet," said Kevin Frank, turf grass specialist with Michigan State University. "The grubs have eaten all the roots."

The grubs he's talking about specifically are European chafer grubs, an invasive insect, and they've arrived in Michigan, said Curtis Galvas, maintenance division supervisor for Landscape Logic, a landscaping company based in Charlevoix.

"We've had an extremely high number of calls about grubs on the properties we take care of as well as people we don't service," he said. "It's a really bad problem in Charlevoix currently."

Galvas said most of the problems residents are seeing right now — big, circular wastelands of dead grass across their yards — happened last fall, when the grub infestation occurred. People see the damage in the spring, when healthy grass around the infested grass greens up.

Normally, frost tamps down the problem, killing off some of the grubs and slowing the activity of others. According to the Michigan State University Department of Crop and Soil Sciences, up to a quarter of grubs don't survive the winter. But Northern Michigan's mild winter and hot burst of weather in March ramped up grub activity.

"They became active more quickly, but also, in general, there are higher grub numbers," said Galvas.

European chafer grubs look like grubs Northern Michiganders are already familiar with: the white grubs that, in their adult stage, are called "June beetles."

The European chafers, too, look identical to June beetles when the chafers are in their adult stage. The only way to tell the difference between the two is to examine their abdomens with a high-

Board sends mixed drink signals

Downtown development authority gives limited blessing to liquor license program

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

After quickly pulling the cork a year ago on supporting a proposal that could mean more liquor licenses, the downtown, the Charlevoix Downtown Development Board is now giving some mixed drink signals to the city council.

What's changed? Now there is a well-known, established downtown business asking for one of the new licenses.

In February of 2011, the board quickly brushed aside a suggestion from authority executive director Keith Carey that it should recommend to the city council that it designate the downtown district as a "redevelopment area."

The designation would allow a new or existing dining, recreation or entertainment business in the district, to apply for a new class C (on premise consumption) liquor license.

The business owners would have to show that they have invested at least $75,000 in improvements to their building in the past five years and that private and public investment in the district has been at least $200,000 in the same five year period. The Charlevoix downtown development authority would easily meet the second threshold thanks to the improvements in East Park, not to mention other private improvements that have taken place in recent years.

The board balked at the idea a year ago citing concerns raised by existing downtown liquor licensees that adding more competition for the booze buck would spell doom for their businesses — especially in the lean off-season.

Without the authority board's endorsement, the idea never came before the city council last year.

But now a downtown restaurant owner has brought the proposal to the city council herself, prompting the authority to take another look at a special meeting Monday.

And this time the answer was different — sort of.

By a 3-2 split, the board voted to recommend approving the redevelopment designation to the city council "as presented" (without any recommended restrictions).

Minutes later, by the same 3-2 margin, the board voted to add an addendum to its earlier recommendation that the council should consider attaching strict restrictions regarding how many licenses it will allow, how much bar seating would be allowed.

"Poppies," fiber art by Kathie Briggs of Charlevoix

'In Blooming Color' exhibit opens Saturday

BY MAGGIE PETERSON
Nothern Michigan Review

Art is in full bloom at Charlevoix Circle of Arts.

Inspired by the petunias soon-to-line Charlevoix streets, the flower- and garden-focused exhibit "In Blooming Color" opens Saturday, May 19.

On display will be 76 pieces by 29 artists, works that span the spectrum of media.

A couple of the more unique pieces, according to curator Kathie Briggs, are digital image scans.

The works are created by Julia McLemore, a part-time resident of both Charlevoix and Columbus, Ohio. Most of her work is focused on flowers, and most of those flowers come from her own or friends' backyards.

"These pieces are quite often taken to be watercolors when people see them but they are made actually by putting the plants or leaves ... (directly) onto a high-res scanner," McLemore said.

She was introduced to the photogram — where objects are put on paper and light exposed around them — while studying at Columbus College of Art and Design. Initially these were done in a darkroom, but similar effects can now done on scanners; as it scans, the machine sends light shooting through the object, McLemore said. This gives her the basic image to work with, which is sent right to her compoter.

"There's a lot of cleaning and a lot of repositioning (on the computer)," she noted.

Once McLemore completes the image, she sends it to a printer. The print is then sandwiched between two pieces of Plexiglas.

"It makes it feel a little dimensional when you look at it," she noted.

In addition to these digital scans, "In Blooming Color" features a myriad of genres, including oil, watercolor and acrylic paintings, as well as works in fiber, colored pencil, handpainted silk, photography, mixed media and sculpture. The pieces were chosen from among 103 submission by juror Marge McGoff, a nationally known flower show judge, former Charlevoix Garden Club president and an artist.

"It's a very pretty and colorful show," noted curator Briggs. " ... (And) it's not all a pretty picture of a flower. We have some interesting abstractions."

"In Blooming Color" will be on display May 19-June 20 at Charlevoix Circle of Arts, 109 Clinton St., Charlevoix. An opening reception is 5-8 p.m. Saturday, May 19. Refreshments will be served during the reception.

The organization's next exhibit, "Postcards from Northern Michigan," will open on Saturday, June 23. That exhibit will be an all-media show of postcard-sized original works of art depicting Northern Michigan in all seasons. Deadline for entry submission is June 14.

Gallery hours are 1-5 p.m. Wednesday through Monday. For more information, call (231) 547-3554 or visit www.charlevoixcircle.org.

Downtown Charlevoix: There's an app for that

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

People who live or work in Charlevoix may not have quite as many visitors asking for directions to the various downtown attractions this summer thanks to a new directory application just unveiled by the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority.

The application became available last week for Android on Google Play and, as of Monday, is now available for iPhone and iPad on iTunes. Downloading the application is free for both devices.

As listed on iTunes, features of the Downtown Charlevoix smartphone application include:

"— Directory and map of downtown Charlevoix's unique shops, tasty eateries, historic lodging establishments and friendly service providers.

— Directory and map of Charlevoix's scenic parks, breathtaking beaches and other must see amenities.

— Complete calendar of downtown festivals and events, including schedules for the Charlevoix Concert Series, Monday Movies by the Marina and Downtown Farmers Market.

— Walking tour and history of Earl Young's famous 'mushroom houses.'"

Earlier this year authority executive director Keith Carey said the mobile application would allow the authority to save money by printing fewer maps to the area.

In other Charlevoix promotional news, the Pure Michigan radio commercial commissioned by the Charlevoix Convention and Visitory's Bureau earlier this year and recently recorded by Michigan native Tim Allen has begun airing on downstate radio stations. Although the ad is not airing on local stations, anyone wishing to hear it can listen to it by visiting www.youtube.com and searching for "Visit Charlevoix, Michigan."

Field set for Charlevoix County primary election

All but one county commission seat will be challenged

SHERI MCWHIRTER
Northern Michigan Review

Filing deadline day changes brought one additional name to the Charlevoix County primary ballot, as well as one deletion.

Incumbent register of deeds Charlene Novotny withdrew from the August primary and her chief assistant Virginia Marine jumped into the race for that four-year post. It's one of several uncontested countywide primary races, though candidates are stacked deep in all but one district for the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners.

The deadline to file nomination petitions for the Aug. 7 primary election arrived at 4 p.m. Tuesday. Fourteen candidates filed to run for two-year commissioner seats, while eight seek four-year countywide posts.

Commissioner Chris Christensen, of Boyne City, is the only commissioner to escape a challenger in the coming Republican primary, while four of his fellow incumbents all face at least one other candidate in the race for the two-year seats.

Retired sheriff George T. Lasater will challenge incumbent commissioner Shirlene Tripp in District 1, while candidate Rick Matelski will challenge incumbent commissioner Ron Reinhardt in District 3. In District 4, David Hague, former Boyne Falls police chief and county sheriff's deputy, seeks to oust incumbent commissioner Joel Evans, current board chairman.

Three candidates filed to run in neighboring District 5, including two as Republicans and one as a Democrat. Incumbent commissioner Richard Gillespie will defend his seat on the board from GOP challenger Dennis Jason, planning commission chairman. Additionally, challenger Nancy Ferguson, county planning commissioner, will appear alone on the Democratic ticket for District 5.

Gillespie lives in the new District 5, though he represents the current District 6.

Four candidates will appear on the ballot for the county board's District 6 seat, a new district drawn around Charlevoix and Charlevoix Township after the 2010 U.S. Census. Those candidates include former county commissioner Shirley Roloff; Dennis Halverson, former Charlevoix police chief and current administrator with the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District; John Earl Haggard, a Charlevoix business owner; and, county planning director Larry Sullivan.

Incumbent commissioner Bob Drebenstedt said he will not seek re-election.

The only countywide primary race will be for a four-year term as prosecuting attorney. Incumbent John Jarema will defend his position from challenger Allen Telgenhof, a Charlevoix lawyer.

Otherwise, incumbent clerk Cheryl Potter Browe, sheriff William Donald Schneider, treasurer Marilyn Cousineao, surveyor Lawrence Feindt and drain commissioner Marc Seelye will appear uncontested on the Republican ballot.

Benishek to host veterans benefit forum

Congressman Dan Benishek (R-Crystal Falls) will host a public meeting with Northern Michigan veterans to "discuss ways to improve the process of veterans receiving benefits through the Veterans Administration system" at 9 a.m. on Tuesday, May 22, at the Charlevoix VFW post, 12735 U.S. 31 North.

Following a brief presentation on his plan to improve the Veterans Administration benefits 'backlog,' the congressman will answer questions from those in attendance. No reservations or registration is required to attend the event. Call (202) 225-4735 for more information.

Shirley Gibson will challenge Shane Cole in November for two-year term

Gibson

Cole

Only one among four Charlevoix City government seats up for re-election this year will be contested come November.

When the deadline to file nominating petitions passed at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Shirley Gibson, who has previously served on the city council, was the only person to challenge any of the four incumbents. Gibson will challenge incumbent Shane Cole for a two year term in one of two third ward city council seats.

The other seats up for re-election in November include a first ward seat that is currently held by Lyle Gennett, a second ward seat that is currently held by Greg Stevens and the mayor's seat, currently held by Norman "Boogie" Carlson. The incumbents were the lone candidates to file for the first ward, second ward and mayor's seats.

The city's council members, the mayor and city clerk are all elected on two-year terms. The city council is made up of six members — two from each ward. Terms are staggered so that one member from each ward is up for re-election each year. The mayor and clerks's terms are on opposite years as well.

City of Charlevoix elections are non-partisan, which means that a primary election only takes place in August if there are more than three candidates who file for a particular seat. Because only two people have filed for the third ward seat Cole and Gibson won't square off until November.

NORWOOD

Lakeshore Drive upgrades imminent

County road officials to accept job bids for paving and gravel replacement

SHERI MCWHIRTER
Northern Michigan Review

FILE/NEWS-REVIEW

A vehicle drives down a section of Lakeshore Drive in Norwood Township last year this year. The Charlevoix County Road Commission is planning to pave the nothern section of the road and add gravel to this section of the road in the coming weeks.

Charlevoix County road commissioners are seeking bids for both paving and gravel placement on two sections of sometimes muddy, pot-hole riddled Lakeshore Drive in Norwood Township, despite past disagreements with local officials about the road improvements.

Elected township officials last year unsuccessfully petitioned road commissioners first to cover the existing dirt roads with triple-seal coat, then failed in their request for the remote stretches along the Lake Michigan bluffs to be designated natural beauty roads, at least in part to allow paving without tree removal. Now for this year's construction season, township officials want to pave the roads with their own road money — last year they also asked for a loan to help cover the costs — and county road commissioners will accept bids for the work later this month.

"We hope that will resolve a lot of issues," said Frank Hamilton, township supervisor.

The plans call for workers to pave about 1.3 miles along the northern portion of Lakeshore Drive that is connected to Clipperview Road.

The estimated cost is $203,700, according to Charlevoix County Road Commission documents.

Additionally, less than three-quarters of a mile along the southern stretch of Lakeshore Drive starting at Lake Street in Norwood village is expected to receive four inches of Afton stone. Documents show the expected cost there is $25,275.

"We're stopping at the county line," said Pat Harmon, road commission manager.

Road workers will "feather" the gravel into the driveways along the Afton stone portion, Harmon said, and will do the same with pavement along the Clipperview Road end of Lakeshore Drive.

Antrim County road officials are expected to place similar gravel on their end of the currently dirt road, Hamilton said.

Hamilton also said how much of the planned work is completed depends on how low the bids come in. Township coffers have about $200,000 for the road work, he said.

"I am prepared to call a special board meeting to approve the bids, if we have to," Hamilton said.

County officials will open bids at 10:30 a.m. on May 29 at the road commission headquarters, 1251 Boyne Ave. in Boyne City. Road commissioners are expected to authorize the work at the following regular meeting, once township officials give the go-ahead.

Hamilton said the planned work is expected to improve not only driving conditions on the bluff-top roads, but also residents' ability to walk or ride bicycles in their neighborhood.

Many of the houses along Lakeshore Drive are summer homes, the northern section a few miles south of Charlevoix on the western side of U.S. 31.

The southern section is several miles away, separated by a number of miles of Lake Michigan shoreline.

Board opens bids, no jobs yet awarded

SHERI MCWHIRTER
Northern Michigan Review

BOYNE CITY — Charlevoix County road commissioners opened bids for multiple summer road projects, but did not yet award the jobs.

Road commissioners met Monday in Boyne City to open the bids. All but one project came in less than engineer's estimates.

About 1.2 miles of Brock Road in Eveline Township from Ferry Road south to the road end will receive about four inches of Afton stone and was expected to cost $47,600, according to engineer's estimates. The low bid came in at $43,180 from Sackrider Construction, of Petoskey. Other bids came from three additional contractors on the job with a completion deadline at August's end.

About a half-mile of Church Road in Hayes Township will receive a new culvert at Horton Creek, along with wedge and overlay road improvements between Horton Creek and Pincherry roads. Engineer's estimates came in at $129,200, but low-bidder Rieth-Riley, of Petoskey, submitted a $115,065 offer for the work. Five other construction companies bid on the project expected to be completed by Sept. 28.

Three-quarters of a mile along portions of Country Club and Springbrook roads in Melrose Township will receive four inches of Afton stone and the estimated cost was $27,000. Sackrider again submitted the low bid at $24,695. Three other companies also submitted bids for the job expected to be wrapped by August's end.

Afton stone also will be placed four inches deep on a half-mile of Cosier Road, from Wilson Road east to the seasonal road sign in Wilson Township. Engineer's estimates called for the work to cost $18,000, but the low bid fro Poquette Leasing in Petoskey came in nearly $660 more than that the estimate. Two other contractors also submitted bids on the job with an Aug. 31 completion deadline.

Finally, about 1.4 miles of M-32 from Pearsall Road to near the industrial park entrance in East Jordan will be milled and filled as part of a Michigan Department of Transportation project. The engineer's estimated cost was $142,000 and the low bid came in more than $26,000 less than that. Payne & Dolan, of Gaylord, submitted the low bid for $115,480. The work will be done once state workers complete the culvert replacement now under way, with an ultimate completion date at August's end.

Road commissioners may choose to award construction bids at their next meeting on May 29, a day later than normal because of the Memorial Day holiday.

True joy comes from within

A LOOK AT LIFE

Gayle Gennett

You feel joyful when your heart is warmed by the thoughtful action of another or by doing something for someone else. You feel connected when someone reaches out to you and when you reach out to help someone else. You feel contentment when you are able to do something new on your own or with just a little guidance. Happiness, joy and connectedness are emotions that can be attained every day. When someone says they'll be happy when they can lose 20 pounds or purchase a new car or retire, they may not necessarily become happier. A true state of happiness is intrinsic – it's within us. Purchasing a new item or changing jobs feels good for a time, but true happiness is not found by attaining things. It comes from the satisfaction of helping others or learning to do something on your own.

Unfortunately, acquiring the emotion of pride and self-satisfaction is sometimes lost on the reward the child or adult is looking for. Whether it's monetary or name in print, is it more important to focus on the reward or on the reward of feeling good for doing something without expectations? While disciplining our new pup, my regimen begins with tasteful treats for rewards. As he acquires new skills, treats are replaced with a cheerful "good boy" and he's satisfied with being acknowledged. While assisting grandkids in their early years, they were rewarded with small tokens, treats or stickers. We've now moved on to "atta boys" and they are pleased with our recognition of their doing a good job. We all perform well and like to be thanked, but if the motive of doing something is only to receive the recognition, then maybe the motive wasn't from the heart.

My concern is when children are not taught at a young age to help someone or learn something new just for the sheer joy of doing. My question is, "Will they continue to help others on their own or will they always expect something in return?" When we do too much for our kids, and even adults in our lives, in the end will they intrinsically be happy? We can reward with our words, a hug or thoughtful gesture. In the long run, the individual will still feel recognized and not dismissed as if they didn't do anything. In time, trophies and gifts will be set aside and quickly forgotten. A feeling of happiness that comes from within is longer-lasting.

Children are like sponges, so it's easy for them to form attitudes that will last a lifetime. When allowing a child to make choices early on, he or she learns how to become satisfied. This can be as simple as: "Here is your choice, which outfit would you like?" "Here are your food choices, which would you prefer?" "There are two games available, which do you choose?" Choosing an item or activity on their own helps them to stay motivated. Because it's something they chose, they are more inclined to wear the outfit all day, spend more time on that activity or play with the toy longer. This philosophy is true not only for kids, but adults, too. If you aren't depending upon someone to help you, there is motivation to do what you need to do.

Those who need constant attention are not motived to learn. We encourage this self-motivation by asking occasionally how the child or adult feels after he or she chooses a task or accomplished something. It's a way of evaluating and confirming how he or she felt about the accomplishment. Gaining self-confidence from accomplishing one task successfully leads to taking on more difficult tasks. We need to resist the urge to always "fix" the situation. Even my parents as they aged would tell me: "Please let me get this myself or let me try because I feel more independent when I am able to do this task." Children and adults can work together successfully on activities but the adult or care-giving adult should be more of an observer rather than, "Here, let me do this." I love watching young children interact with grandparents or see school children volunteering at a senior residential facility. Motivation and satisfaction are usually present and the visit always ends on a high note. It is one of the many reasons I enjoy volunteering with our youth and seniors. The joy of watching them learn on their own and the discoveries they make creates memories and feelings of happiness that sustain a lifetime. To paraphrase Dalai Lama: "Happiness is not something ready-made. It comes from your own actions."

LETTER to the editor

Operation Petunia needs community's help

Editor:

It has been one year since the board of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc. has reached out in urgency to the greater community of Charlevoix on behalf of the breathtaking display of petunias that line our main thoroughfare. As the May 24 planting day approaches, our dedicated team puts this project at a priority in the busy lives of each board member. But that is not enough to make this year a success.

While cost-cutting measures continue to be paramount, operating costs of this project remain at a significant level. We are so appreciative of the many generous supporters of this worthwhile endeavor. But unfortunately this falls short of the necessary funds to manage the annual needs of this effort. To date, we have received just one third of the costs provided in contributions.

In addition, we continue to rely on the skills and talents of businesses and individuals who share their expertise and time to make this continue to grow in its positive impact on us all. So much of the labor has been donated by caring, concerned citizens and businesses that it never ceases to affect us to the core. Yet we must send out a plea to the community for more help. We need volunteers to help with pre-planting day tilling, a rigorous task, but we know there are those of you out there who shine at such opportunities. We also need help hand digging areas such as trees and narrow land where the tiller can't reach to ready the soil in those areas. If you are willing to help with that, or any other task, please contact Amanda Wilkin (Charlevoix Convention and Visitors Bureau) or Bethany Pearson (Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce) at (231) 547-2101. We are so grateful to everyone.

Planting Day is quickly approaching – May 24, 2012 - so please join us in making it a community success. Donations can be mailed to KCB at PO Box 1, Charlevoix, MI.

Sincerely,
Vikki Seger
Secretary, Keep
Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc.

Wheelway clean-up set for Saturday

The Top of Michigan Trails Council is still seeking volunteers to help with its second annual Little Traverse Wheelway Trail Clean-up Day set for 10 a.m.-12:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 19.

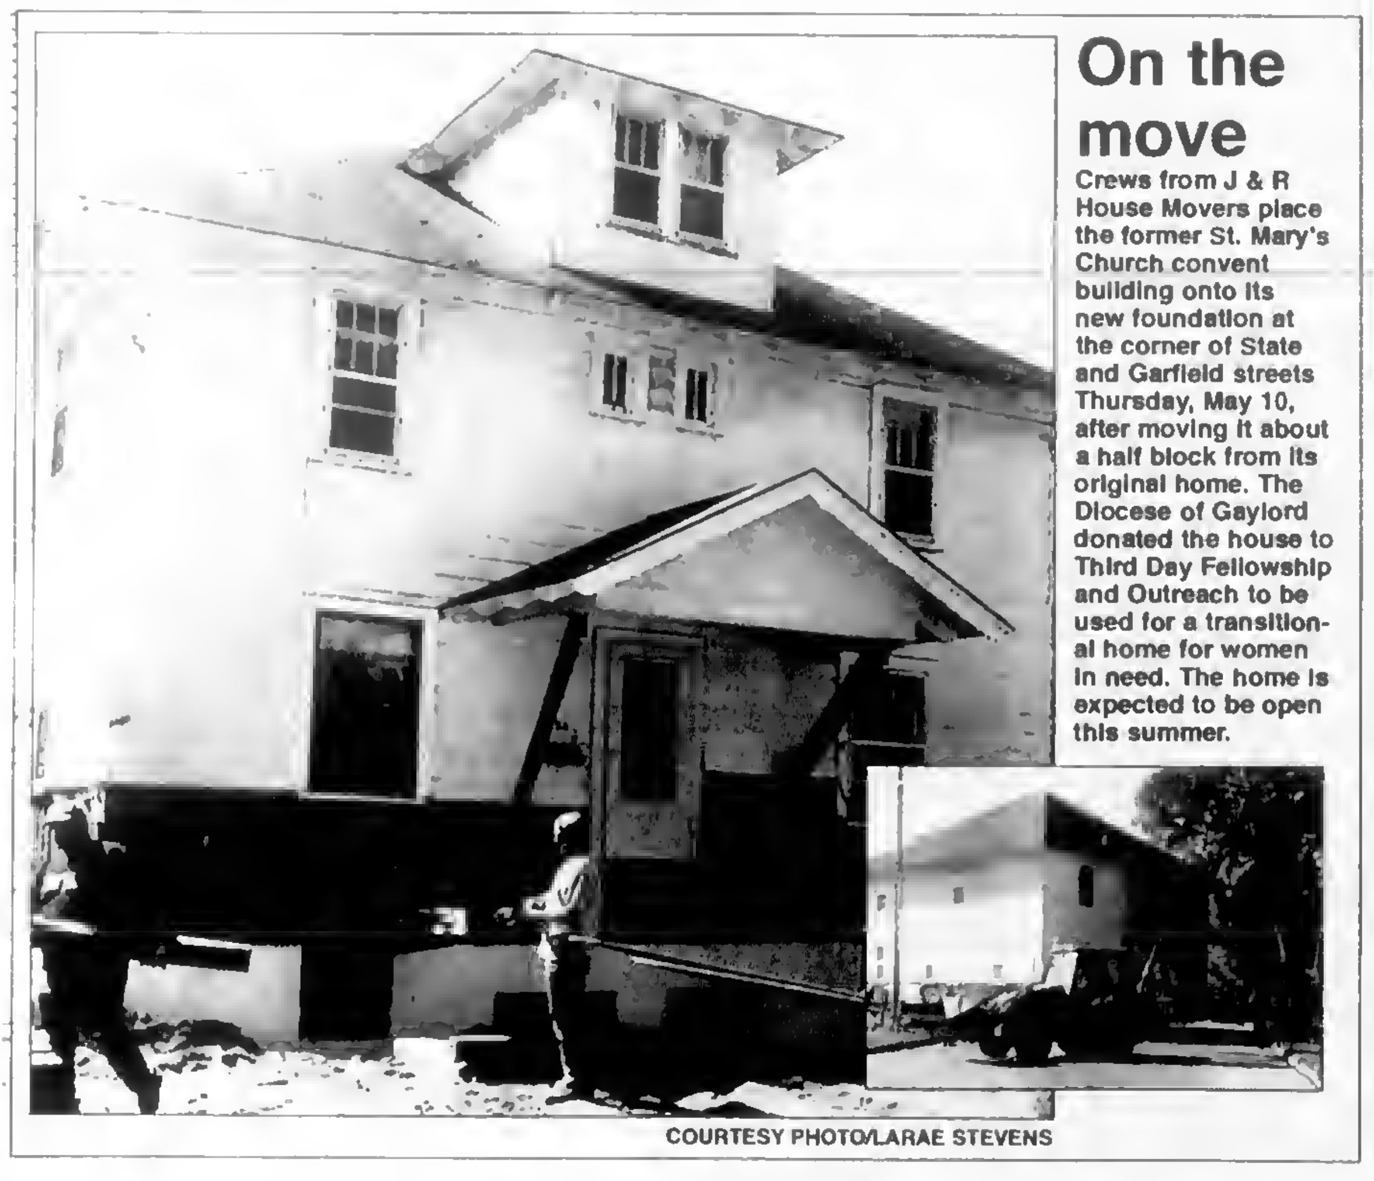
Crews will be meeting at three different locations on the trail for the project: In Charlevoix County, at the Michigan Department of Transportation Roadside park between Bayshore and Charlevoix; for the Petoskey area, at Resort Township's East Park and for the Emmet County section behind Glen's Market in Bear Creek Township.

On the day of the event, volunteers are asked to check-in at one of the three sections where they will be assigned an area and task. Possible tasks may include picking up litter and downed branches, spreading mulch, edging the trail and minor pruning. Trash bags will be provided.

Organizers suggest items to bring such as drinking water, work gloves, boots, long-sleeved shirts; hand shears, loppers, pruners, rakes, motorized trimmers, and gas leaf blowers (with gas), brooms and flat shovels. Motorized tools are to be used only by the owner. Volunteers are responsible for keeping track of their gear and using it safely.

Things volunteers should not bring include pets, unsafe equipment, chain saws, motorized vehicles (tractors/ATVs). Vehicles will not be allowed on the trail.

For more information, call Jeff Winegard at the Trails Council at (231) 348-8280 or via email at ed@trailscouncil.org.



On the move

Crews from J & R House Movers place the former St. Mary's Church convent building onto its new foundation at the corner of State and Garfield streets Thursday, May 10, after moving it about a half block from its original home. The Diocese of Gaylord donated the house to Third Day Fellowship and Outreach to be used for a transitional home for women in need. The home is expected to be open this summer.

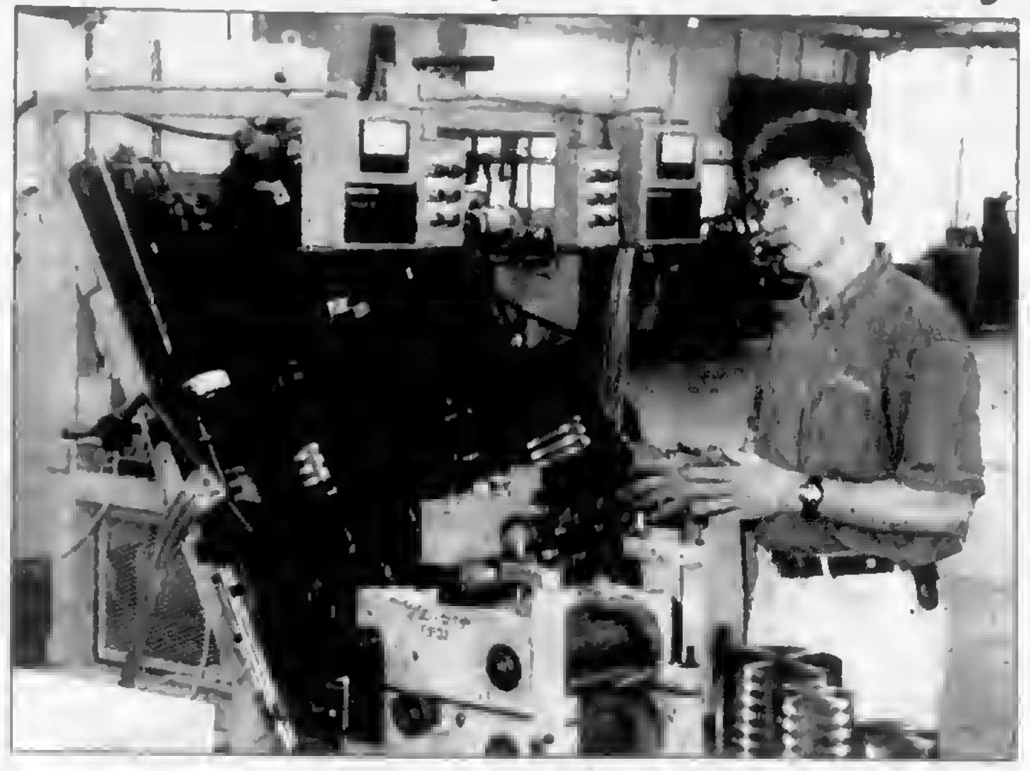
Company gears up to produce catalytic converter parts

RYAN BENTLEY
Northern Michigan Review



RYAN BENTLEY/NORTHERN MICHIGAN REVIEW

Randy Waffle, director of manufacturing engineering for ACAT Global, describes a production process on the factory floor at the company's new Charlevoix headquarters and manufacturing site.

After remaining dormant through much of the last decade, an industrial building just south of Charlevoix is once again emitting signs of manufacturing activity.

Its products, however, will play a part in controlling emissions.

ACAT Global Advanced Clean Air Technologies, a maker of catalytic converter substrates, is preparing to launch production this month at the former Hoskins Manufacturing Co. plant along M-66, company director of manufacturing engineering Randy Waffle said.

The company has acquired manufacturing equipment from major automotive supplier Delphi, Waffle noted. During the past two years, ACAT has focused on refurbishing the equipment, getting input from potential customers and developing its product line.

"To be here in Charlevoix is really an amazing thing," said Joe A. Moch, who owns ACAT with his father, Joe W. Moch. "The people are fantastic."

The staff currently includes seven employees. With a total investment of $8 million estimated for the site's machinery and equipment, new jobs created by ACAT are expected to total 22 by next year, and potentially 60 by 2016.

The substrates ACAT will manufacture for catalytic converters help to absorb some of the substances in engine exhaust. Waffle noted that the unique herringbone design ACAT is using for the substrates offers light weight and efficiency.

Initially ACAT will focus on serving the replacement parts market, Waffle said, but potentially could expand into original-equipment products as well.

Along with automotive applications, ACAT aims to put its products into a variety of other machines that use catalytic converters, ranging from lawn and garden equipment to power generators.

ACAT has received commitments from a couple of customers, Waffle said, and is working to establish relationships with numerous others.

On Friday, numerous elected officials and representatives of business and economic-development groups gathered with ACAT staff for a ribbon-cutting at the plant.

"We are very happy that you chose Charlevoix and Northern Michigan," Michigan Economic Development Corp. representative Lydia Murray told ACAT leadership. "We know you had options to go other places."

Waffle said the company considered numerous locations around Northern Michigan. In settling on the Charlevoix site, he added that ACAT did so because of the attractive business site and community and the potential to find good employees locally.

Northern Lakes Economic Alliance assisted the company in finding a location, and worked with Marion Township officials and the Michigan Economic Development Corp. to arrange a reduction in the property taxes that the company will owe over a 12-year period, Northern Lakes economic development specialist Sheri Rhoads said.

The abatement would reduce personal property taxes owed on plant equipment by $872,000 over its 12-year period, with the company still responsible for paying $240,000 in new personal property taxes during that time, Rhoads said.

For now, ACAT is leasing about 19,000 of the Charlevoix building's 70,000 square feet. The company aims to expand into more of the space, and has an option to buy the facility.

ACAT's owners, who are former Grand Rapids residents, now live in California, where the company also has an office location. ACAT also is working to develop a production site in Hungary to serve European markets, Waffle said, and hopes to add operations in South America as well.

For more information about the company, see its website at www.acatglobal.com.

Island Airways receives top small business award

Charlevoix's Island Airways was among 13 companies recently honored by the Michigan Small Business & Technology Development Center 2011 with its 2011 Best Small Business Award.

The companies chosen for the award were selected from among more than 14,000 companies the center provided with confidential counseling and training in 2011.

According to a news release on the award from the center, award recipients were chosen based on their success in creating jobs, increasing sales, improving their business strategy and their involvement with the center.

Started by his family more than 65 years ago, Paul Welke and his wife Angela LeFevre, own and operate the charter and commercial airline out of Charlevoix. Originally developed as an airline to fly residents on Beaver Island to the Lower Peninsula, Island Airways has now expanded to serving customers across the Midwest.

According to the release, Island Airways came to the center in 2011 looking for assistance with obtaining a loan for expansion. Finance and strategy specialists, Joe Batteiger and Eric Seifert assisted Island Airways with developing their business plan to identify and present their growth strategy. They also helped them review their financial information, identifying their strengths and weaknesses and organizing it for presentation to lending institutions. Then, center business consultant Toni Erhart helped them reach out to lenders in the area with established relationships with the center. Together as a team, they are in the process of receiving a loan for Island Airways for expansion.

The Michigan Small Business & Technology Development Center provides counseling, business education, information based planning and technology commercialization to new and existing businesses throughout Michigan's 83 counties. The center is located at the Grand Valley State University, Seidman College of Business in Grand Rapids. Entrepreneurs and small business owners may access the services of their nearest center office by calling (616) 331-7480 or visiting www.misbtdc.org.

Farmers market to begin accepting card payments

The Charlevoix Farmers Market will accept Bridge Cards and credit and debit cards as payment forms starting with the Thursday, June 7, market event.

The market will take place 9 a.m.-1 p.m. every Thursday from June through October in downtown Charlevoix, and then move to the Charlevoix Public Library from November until May 2013.

Individuals can come down to the market, swipe their desired card, and receive tokens that can be used to purchase any item at any vendor booth without any fees.

"Our goal with this program is to make it easier for people to access local, fresh, healthy foods," said market manager Bethany Pearson.

The Charlevoix Farmers Market is among the first in the area to provide this service to its customers. Other communities in Michigan who have implemented this program have seen up to a 700 percent increase in revenue for local farmers over a five year period. The Boyne City Farmer's Market also recently began accepting Bridge Cards, but does not yet accept debit or credit cards.

If successful, the Charlevoix market could be selected to participate next year in a program called Double Up Food Bucks in which the state of Michigan would match all of the funds for those using their Bridge Card at Farmers Markets — essentially rewarding them for spending their funds on local, healthy food items.

The Charlevoix market is also incorporating activities into the market this year including story hour, live music, health screenings, children's activities, cooking demonstrations, recipe exchanges and a variety of seminars.

For a complete list of activities visit www.charlevoix.org or stop at the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, 109 Mason St., for a schedule.

If you have questions or would like to learn more about the new farmers market offerings, contact Bethany Pearson at (231) 547-2101.

Officials: Drug drop off box program a success

Beginning in the summer of 2011, 16 permanent pharmaceutical drop boxes were installed at law enforcement offices throughout Northern Michigan.

In less than one year, 780 pounds of pharmaceuticals have been collected in the permanent drop boxes, making the prescription and over-the-counter drug drop-off, or POD boxes, a success.

"The amount of unwanted and unused medicines collected within the short amount of time they have been available is incredible," said Jennifer McKay, policy specialist at Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council. "We are thrilled that the public is using the boxes so much and that the POD program is significantly helping with the protection of the water resources of Northern Michigan as well as the public health and safety."

Michigan has one of the highest rates of teen prescription drug abuse in the nation. A study by the White House Office of National Drug Control Policy found that 12 percent of teens in Michigan use prescription drugs recreationally, compared to the 7 percent national average.

According to the Michigan Department of Community Health, since 2000, more than 550 overdose and drug poisoning deaths have been recorded in Northern and Central Michigan. The majority of these deaths are related to prescription drugs.

Residents can drop off unused or unwanted medications at any time throughout the year. All medications are handled according to the law enforcement agency's evidence protocols until taken for final destruction in accordance with state and federal laws.

Items accepted for the Pharmaceutical Collection Program include prescriptions, over-the-counter medications, pet medications, medicated ointment, lotions or drops, liquid medications (in sealed containers or plastic bags), and inhalers.

Items not accepted in the program include sharps/needles, blood sugar equipment, thermometers, IV bags or bloody or infectious waste.

"The POD boxes are helping us address a significant problem within our community," said Charlevoix County sheriff Don Schneider. "If the public continues to use the POD boxes, we hope to see such statistics change. We can all work to protect the health and safety of Northern Michigan residents."

Elks reward academic acheivement

Charlevoix Elks Lodge No. 2856 recently awarded its first Amy Beaudoin-Siemion Memorial Scholars-Gift Award to Anna Moon of Charlevoix. The award was established to honor Charlevoix Area High School students who've excelled in academics, worked towards the betterment of their community and themselves and have shown the ability to succeed. The amount of the scholars-gift is $1,000 renewable every year for four years. In addition to the local award Anna also won the scholarship for the Northwest District from the Michigan Elks Association. Anna will be attending University of Michigan. Kendall Stanley to speak at Progressive Women's meeting

Former editor to present talk on importance of newspapers

Stanley

The next meeting of the Progressive Women of Charlevoix County will be Tuesday, May 22, at the Charlevoix Public Library in Community Room B. Members may arrive at noon and the speaker will begin at 12:30 p.m. Members may eat before attending, take out from a local restaurant or brown bag their lunch. The program is open to anyone interested in progressive issues, organization members, their friends and family, male or female. RSVP by May 21 by emailing progwomenchxcty@yahoo.com or calling (231) 582-0416.

The speaker will be Kendall P. Stanley. He is retired editor of the Petoskey News-Review after a 40-year career in journalism. He continues to write a weekly column for the News-Review, even while spending the winter in sunny southern Arizona.

There are no membership fees and meeting announcements are by email only. For more information or to be added to the organization's mailing list, email progwomenchxcty@yahoo.com.

Northern Michigan Sports Medicine Center has been in business in Charlevoix since [illegible]. When Joel Smith, MPT was asked what the best part is about being in business in Northern Michigan, he responded with the fact that Charlevoix is where you can live, work and play without ever leaving home. It's a tight knit, supportive community that emphasizes and encourages support of it's local businesses and community. Smith chose this field to help people. Being part of a physical therapy team allows me to use a hands-on approach to help someone function in a way that they were previously unable to do and to get back to performing those activities most important to them.

Bridging our past with our future

LOOKING BACK…

This aerial view of "the valley" of Charlevoix in 1948 shows downtown just before the installation of the first metal sections of today's Memorial Bridge (lower right). The roadway that led to a pontoon-supported temporary swing bridge at the channel neck appears curving across what is today Bridge Park. This bridge was so slow opening and closing that traffic was sometimes backed up for half an hour. The building below the roadway, above the docked white boat, is the old sewage treatment plant. East Park shows the shuffleboard courts that were there into the 1990s, and the kidney shaped fishpond with a small bandstand platform just below it. Pleasure craft docking facilities numbered only about a third of today's capacity. At lower left, at the Antrim/Bridge intersection, appears the Lakeview Hotel, built in 1898, cleared away in the early 1960s to make way for Oleson's.

This image is one of 850 in the Charlevoix Historical Society's most recent DVD titled "Charlevoix, Michigan — A Pictorial Journey through 16 Decades." The disc is available at the Society's Harshe House Museum, 103 State St. next to the Congregational Church, from 1-4 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday. It is also available at the Central Drug Store, Round Lake Books, Castle Farms, and Ell-Air Gallery. Call (231) 547-0373 for mailing and society membership information.

University honors resident with inaugural scholarship

Heckendorn

Charlevoix resident Michael Heckendorn was recently one of two students Anderson University recognized as the first recipients of the newly established Eisenhower Endowed Scholarship Fund. Heckendorn, a senior is the 2011-12 recipient of the award.

Heckendorn, a psychology major, has been an active participant in the AmeriCorps program on campus, contributing more than 300 hours of community service since September. He has volunteered at the Christian Center, the Neighbors campus ministry, Man 4 Man ministries, and Operation Foundation. He also served as an MLK Service Day site coordinator.

"It was an honor and a humbling experience to be selected as the inaugural recipient of the Eisenhower Scholarship," said Heckendorn. "The scholarship came at a time of financial struggle, and it reminded me of God's providence for my life and my future."

Heckendorn will graduate from Anderson University this spring. He has been interviewing for positions with social service agencies in Indiana. After working for a year, Heckendorn plans to return to school for a master of social work, with the goal of becoming a school social worker.

The Eisenhower Scholarship Award at AU is granted annually to a qualifying junior or senior majoring in political science or business, or a member of the Center for Public Service.

Leah Kelly receives honors program award

Kelly

Charlevoix resident Leah Kelly was awarded the Outstanding Scholar for 2011-13 by the Ferris State University Honors Program earlier this year.

Kelly was selected from among 10 Honors Program seniors at Ferris who submitted an essay for the award. Four students were selected from among the 10 as finalist. The four finalist were given a 15 minute interview with a committee to determine who would be the top senior Honors Student for the year at Ferris.

Kelly graduated from Charlevoix High School in 2008, attended one year at Lansing Community College where she played softball, then completed a year at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey while working part-time at BASES Teen Center in Charlevoix. She then transferred to Ferris State University as a member of the Honors Program in the fall of 2010 when her brother, Jonathan, also attended Ferris as a freshman in the Honors Program as well. Jonathan was the valedictorian at Charlevoix High School in 2010. Jonathan was also honored for receiving a 4.0 grade-point average at the same event where Leah was honored.

Leah was expected to complete a bachelor's degree in psychology from Ferris in May and is hoping to attend Western Michigan University's masters in counseling program through Traverse City while working at BASES in the fall.

Leah and Jonathan's parents are Scott and Celia Kelly from Charlevoix.

John Ramsey to speak at Christ Episcopal Church

Ramsey

John Ramsey will discuss his new book "The Other Side of Suffering" at Christ Episcopal Church at 7 p.m. on Wedesday, May 23. The title of his talk is "The Future - Are The Best Days of Your Life Still Ahead?" This event is open and free to the public.

Through his New York Times Best Selling book, "The Other Side of Suffering" John Ramsey shares how he re-established hope in his life and strengthened his faith despite losses that included the death of his eldest daughter in a car accident in 1992. Then, four years later his six-year-old daughter, JonBenét, was murdered; Ramsey was the one who discovered her body, concealed in the basement of his family's home. The case drew international media attention, and compounding Ramsey's woe, suspicion focused on Ramsey and his wife, Patsy. Although they were ultimately cleared of any connection with the crime, Ramsey's sorrows did not end. In 2006, Patsy died, at 49, of ovarian cancer.

Ramsey was born in Omaha, Nebraska, attended High School and college in Michigan, and has maintained a home in Charlevoix since the late 1980s.

The Christ Episcopal Church is located on the corner of State and Clinton streets, one block west of the main downtown park in Charlevoix. All are welcome.

A collection of praises, awards and accomplishments of Charlevoix area people.

Emily Foster of Charlevoix graduated from Albion College on May 5, receiving a degree in biology with a minor in psychology, with a concentration in neuroscience. Foster was among of 377 students who comprised Albion's class of 2012. She is the daughter of William Foster and Hannelore Foster, both of Charlevoix.

Keri L. Straw of Charlevoix was scheduled to complete her baccalaureate studies in art, cum laude (grade average of 3.30-3.59) this year at SUNY Oswego and will be recognized May 12 at the college's 151st Commencement.

Three Charlevoix-area residents were recently named to Michigan Technological University's Dean's List for the 2012 spring semester. To be included, students must achieve grade point averages of 3.5 or higher, including: Nicholas Oshaben, electrical engineering; Scott Rhudy, mechanical engineering; and Nicholas Wimmer, chemical engineering (4.0 grade-point average).

Poppy sales to benefit vets

Two Charlevoix area veteran organizations will be distributing poppies this month.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1153 and its auxiliary members will be selling Buddy Poppies Thursday through Saturday, May 17-19. American Legion Unit 226 and its auxiliary will be selling American Legion poppies Thursday through Saturday, May 24-26.

Both organizations distribute poppies once a year to raise funds to assist local veterans. The poppies are made by disabled, hospitalized veterans who earn a small amount by making the poppies. Veterans groups purchase the poppies and distribute them nationally. The donations received from the public for the poppies are used to assist veterans and their families.

Although both groups sell poppies in May as a memorial to veterans who have served our country, they are made differently and each group has its own charities to support.

A large bare patch of lawn is visible in front of this house on Meadow Lane in Charlevoix, one of many such patches that have shown up this spring around the city that are likely the work of an invasive grub.

grade hand lens, said Frank.

"So there may be a couple different kinds of grubs in lawns at once," said Galvas. "That's what we've seen."

The other difference is that the European chafers are attacking lawns in spades.

"Over the past three years, outbreaks have definitely doubled or tripled," said Galvas. "The grubs have been more prevalent, so we do need to do more preventative treatments."

Because June beetle grubs and European chafer grubs are difficult to tell apart, Galvas can't recommend a particular treatment, but the grubs are most problematic in low-maintenance lawns that are not irrigated. Particularly during dry periods, grass plants can't grow new roots to replace those the grubs have damaged.

And it pays to take care of the grub before it becomes an overwhelming problem.

"If you do have grubs, you'll most likely be infected again, especially in lawns not as highly maintained," said Galvas. "They will become adults and will have future generations. If you don't do something to stop adults, they're going to come back. I would say they're not going anywhere for a while."

European chafers might look the same as June beetles, but they're a different species — and invasive, said Kevin Frank, turf specialist with Michigan State University. Here are a few facts about the bugs:

- Native to western and central Europe, the European chafer was first found in 1940 in a nursery near Rochester, N.Y. Now, the grub has moved east and is common throughout most of the Lower Peninsula.
- The grub feeds heavily on grass roots from August to November and from March to early May, and causes the most damage in low-maintenance turf, where homeowners do not irrigate.
- Adults are one half inch long, while larvae are C-chaped white grubs, one quarter inch wide and one inch long.
- A lawn can support up to five grubs per square foot, so test your lawn in several spots to ensure you have a problem.
- Preventative products work best at controlling grubs, but do not work in the spring. They work well on newly-hatched grubs in July, and Michigan State recommends application during June or prior to July 15.
- Before you begin treatment, make sure the problem is grubs. Dig up a few shovelfuls of soil. Look for one-inch long, C-shaped grubs.
- It is not necessary to treat your lawn every year after you stop seeing signs of grub damage.

LICENSE

hours of bar service, and minimum amounts of time that a business should be in place downtown before it is considered for the special license.

The second vote was in line with the general consensus of the council when it discussed the designation at its April 16 meeting: Allow it but only for long established downtown businesses such as that of Vi Keller Forreider, the owner of Scovies Gourmet Deli and Bake Shop located at 111 Bridge St.

In application documents, Keller Forreider indicated that the business had been in the midst of applying for a liquor license through the traditional channels, when a divorce caused a change in the business' ownership and prompted state officials to pull the application.

Keller Forreider has said she intends to use the license to sell beer and wine with meals and would likely sell liquor only during special events or a private party. She has said she has no desire to turn the business into a typical bar, or extend the hours to 2 a.m.

The proposal for Scovies' license has had wide support among many city leaders and current downtown license holders, but most don't want to see it go any further.

Under the program, businesses in an approved redevelopment district can apply to the liquor control commission for a class C liquor license, even if the license quota for that area has been reached. To qualify, a business must show that it has made at least a $75,000 investment in its building, and then must pay a $20,000 fee to obtain the license.

The designation would merely allow the council the option of approving an establishment for one of the special licenses, but does not obligate it to approve any. The council can also set limits on the conditions for approving such licenses. The question is how restrictive can those conditions be?

Downtown Development Board member Dan Barron was the most vocal among the board members at Monday's meeting expressing concerns about the program. He was particularly concerned about "outsiders" coming into the downtown and setting up shop with a new liquor license that would threaten established businesses.

"I don't have a problem with someone who has paid their dues (getting a license)," Barron said. "I do have a problem with someone coming in from outside."

But board member John Yaroch had a decidedly different opinion, saying he sees no problem with more competition downtown.

"I think this (program) is an example of government trying to get out of the way (of business)," Yaroch said. "I have a hard time saying that competition is bad."

The city council is expected to revisit the matter at an upcoming meeting.

Coast Guard Auxiliary to host safety event May 24

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary in Charlevoix will be promoting boating safety during a special event from 4-7 p.m. on Thursday, May 24 in Charlevoix's East Park.

The event is being done to coincide with National Safe Boating Week, May 19-26 and the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful Operation Petunia planting event.

During the event, auxiliary members will staff a booth in the park to answer boating safety questions. Also the Coast Guard station's 41-foot rescue boat and an auxiliary boat will be docked at the marina for visitors to see.

According to the latest statistics from the U.S. Coast Guard, Michigan ranked fourth in the nation for boating fatalities, a number that can be prevented with increased awareness of life jacket safety.

This year during National Safe Boating Week, and throughout the boating season, the National Safe Boating Council is working with its partner organizations to encourage safe and responsible boating, including the practice of always wearing a life jacket, and being alert and aware while on the water.

"Accidents on the water can happen much too fast to reach and put on a stowed life jacket," said Virgil Chambers, executive director of the National Safe Boating Council. "It's important that everyone wears a life jacket while on the water. There's no reason why you, your family and friends, can't have fun on the water while also choosing to always wear a life jacket."

U.S. Coast Guard statistics show that drowning was the reported cause of death in 75 percent of recreational boating fatalities in 2010, and that 88 percent of those who drowned were not wearing life jackets.

Rayders still unbeaten in conference play

The Charlevoix Rayder girls varsity soccer team has seen a lot of zeros on the scoreboard at the end of games recently. They haven't all been in the Rayder's favor, but they have been when it's counted most.

The Rayders improved their Lake Michigan Conference record to 8-0 when they defeated Traverse City St. Francis 4-0 at home on Thursday, May 10.

Herboldsheimer broke a scoreless tie when she scored off a Sydney Carlson assist with 18 minutes remaining in the first half, then Katie Kiteley scored with under a minute left in the half. Kaitlin [illegible]kley assisted on Kiteley's [illegible].

Freshman Gloria Greene [illegible]sted the shutout in goal.

"Our passing was good tonight," Charlevoix coach Carol Madison said. "The girls talked about stepping things up and beating them to the ball. We controlled the play for the majority of the game."

Madison lauded the play of Carlson, an outside mid, along with defenders Savannah Joseph and Carolena Elowsky.

"(Elowsky) did an outstanding job of talking and directing the play," Madison said.

The goose eggs weren't in the Rayders favor in a weekend tournament in Petuskey where they fell 4-0 to the Northermen in the opening game, then tied Coopersville 0-0 and then lost to Mount Pleasant 4-1 in the fifth place game. Grand Blanc won the tournament.

The Radyers came back strong in Monday as Herboldsheimer scored two goals leading Charlevoix to a 3-0 conference victory over Boyne City. The win improved the Rayders' record to 12-4-1 overall, 9-0 league.

Anna Way scored the Rayders' first goal off a Herboldsheimer assist, then Herboldsheimer finished a Megan Peters throw-in for a 2-0 halftime lead.

Lauren Bartling and Peters shared the shutout in goal, while Charlevoix coach Carol Madison lauded the defensive efforts of Savannah Joseph, Cristin Cole and Carolena Elowsky.

"Carolena was named our player of the game and she made quite a few runs up the field," Madison said. "She also had a couple of shots on goal."

On Tuesday, the Rayders dropped in a non-conference game to Maple City Glen Lake 1-0.

The loss dropped Charlevoix to 11-5-2.

Rayder goalkeeper Gloria Greene made 13 saves in Tuesday's loss to the Lakers.

"Gloria Greene, she did a tremendous job," Madison said. "In the first half they out possessed us. We didn't play well in the first half and we couldn't seem to find our rhythm. They did a good job of putting us under a lot of pressure. ... They played quickly and they played to feet and they were fired up.

"We regrouped at halftime, made some adjustments, talked about what we needed to do, what needed to happen, and we did a better job in the second half. I would say possession was a little more even in the second half. We gave up a lot of corners, eight of them, and they did not give up a single corner."

Madison praised the defensive efforts of Carolena Elowsky, Kelly Greyerbiehl and Savannah Joseph.

The Rayders were slated to take their 9-0 the Lake Michigan Conference record into a big league match on Thursday at Elk Rapids. The Rayders defeated the Elks in their first meeting. Elk Rapids is in third place in the league. The game was slated for after the Courier's press time Thursday.

"It's a game we need to win," Charlevoix coach Carol Madison said. "It would definitely be a confidence-builder because we may see them in districts."

grade hand lens, said Frank.

"So there may be a couple different kinds of grubs in lawns at once," said Galvas. "That's what we've seen."

The other difference is that the European chafers are attacking lawns in spades.

"Over the past three years, outbreaks have definitely doubled or tripled," said Galvas. "The grubs have been more prevalent, so we do need to do more preventative treatments."

Because June beetle grubs and European chafer grubs are difficult to tell apart, Galvas can't recommend a particular treatment, but the grubs are most problematic in low-maintenance lawns that are not irrigated. Particularly during dry periods, grass plants can't grow new roots to replace those the grubs have damaged.

And it pays to take care of the grub before it becomes an overwhelming problem.

"If you do have grubs, you'll most likely be infected again, especially in lawns not as highly maintained," said Galvas. "They will become adults and will have future generations. If you don't do something to stop adults, they're going to come back. I would say they're not going anywhere for a while."

European chafers might look the same as June beetles, but they're a different species — and invasive, said Kevin Frank, turf specialist with Michigan State University. Here are a few facts about the bugs:

- Native to western and central Europe, the European chafer was first found in 1940 in a nursery near Rochester, N.Y. Now, the grub has moved east and is common throughout most of the Lower Peninsula.
- The grub feeds heavily on grass roots from August to November and from March to early May, and causes the most damage in low-maintenance turf, where homeowners do not irrigate.
- Adults are one half inch long, while larvae are C-chaped white grubs, one quarter inch wide and one inch long.
- A lawn can support up to five grubs per square foot, so test your lawn in several spots to ensure you have a problem.
- Preventative products work best at controlling grubs, but do not work in the spring. They work well on newly-hatched grubs in July, and Michigan State recommends application during June or prior to July 15.
- Before you begin treatment, make sure the problem is grubs. Dig up a few shovelfuls of soil. Look for one-inch long, C-shaped grubs.
- It is not necessary to treat your lawn every year after you stop seeing signs of grub damage.

hours of bar service, and minimum amounts of time that a business should be in place downtown before it is considered for the special license.

The second vote was in line with the general consensus of the council when it discussed the designation at its April 16 meeting: Allow it but only for long established downtown businesses such as that of Vi Keller Torrender, the owner of Scovies Gourmet Deli and Bake Shop located at 111 Bridge St.

In application documents, Keller Torrender indicated that the business had been in the midst of applying for a liquor license through the traditional channels, when a divorce caused a change in the business' ownership and prompted state officials to pull the application.

Keller Torrender has said she intends to use the license to sell beer and wine with meals and would likely sell liquor only during special events or a private party. She has said she has no desire to turn the business into a typical bar, or extend the hours to 2 a.m.

The proposal for Scovies' license has had wide support among many city leaders and current downtown license holders, but most don't want to see it go any further.

Under the program, businesses in an approved redevelopment district can apply to the liquor control commission for a class C liquor license, even if the license quota for that area has been reached. To qualify, a business must show that it has made at least a $75,000 investment in its building, and then must pay a $20,000 fee to obtain the license.

The designation would merely allow the council the option of approving an establishment for one of the special licenses, but does not obligate it to approve any. The council can also set limits on the conditions for approving such licenses. The question is how restrictive can those conditions be?

Downtown Development Board member Dan Barron was the most vocal among the board members at Monday's meeting expressing concerns about the program. He was particularly concerned about "outsiders" coming into the downtown and setting up shop with a new liquor license that would threaten established businesses.

"I don't have a problem with someone who has paid their dues (getting a license)," Barron said. "I do have a problem with someone coming in from outside."

But board member John Yaroch had a decidedly different opinion, saying he sees no problem with more competition downtown.

"I think this (program) is an example of government trying to get out of the way (of business)," Yaroch said. "I have a hard time saying that competition is bad."

The city council is expected to revisit the matter at an upcoming meeting.

Coast Guard Auxiliary to host safety event May 24

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary in Charlevoix will be promoting boating safety during a special event from 4-7 p.m. on Thursday, May 24 in Charlevoix's East Park.

The event is being done to coincide with National Safe Boating Week, May 19-26 and the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful Operation Petunia planting event.

During the event, auxiliary members will staff a booth in the park to answer boating safety questions. Also the Coast Guard station's 41-foot rescue boat and an auxiliary boat will be docked at the marina for visitors to see.

According to the latest statistics from the U.S. Coast Guard, Michigan ranked fourth in the nation for boating fatalities, a number that can be prevented with increased awareness of life jacket safety.

This year during National Safe Boating Week, and throughout the boating season, the National Safe Boating Council is working with its partner organizations to encourage safe and responsible boating, including the practice of always wearing a life jacket, and being alert and aware while on the water.

"Accidents on the water can happen much too fast to reach and put on a stowed life jacket," said Virgil Chambers, executive director of the National Safe Boating Council. "It's important that everyone wears a life jacket while on the water. There's no reason why you, your family and friends, can't have fun on the water while also choosing to always wear a life jacket."

U.S. Coast Guard statistics show that drowning was the reported cause of death in 75 percent of recreational boating fatalities in 2010, and that 88 percent of those who drowned were not wearing life jackets.

"All of the singles flights played very well," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "They moved the ball around the court with a lot more strategy and thought. Our No. 3 doubles (Ashley Louiselle-Paige Poirier) had a solid presence on the court tonight with a nice win. These partners are relatively new to each other but has a nice dynamic and success since playing together."

The Rayders were scheduled to play in the Division IV regional on Thursday, May 17, at Traverse City Central.

"I really believe we grew a lot from the second place team finish at Boyne Mountain (earlier this week)," Randall said of her players. "They have a very tough road ahead of them with regionals. One thing I do believe is that our girls have determination and desire which is a great mix for regionals."

On Friday May 11, the Radyers finished behind Harbor Springs and Traverse City St. Francis who tied for the championship at the Boyne City Girls Tennis Invitational.

The Rayders' Ashley Louiselle-Paige Poirier finished second at No. 3 doubles, while Shelby Isaac-Erin Stebe placed second at No. 4 doubles.

Placing third for the Rayders were Kelsey Way, No. 1 singles; Kelsea Stevens, No. 3 singles; Lexi Barnes, No. 4 singles; and Roloff-Peebles, No. 1 doubles.

Looking ahead to Thursday's Division IV regionals, for Charlevoix, senior No. 1 singles player Kelsey Way earned a fourth seed, while a pair of doubles teams also earned a No. 4 seeding in Ashley Louiselle and Paige Poirier at No. 3, and Erin Stebe and Shelby Isaac at No. 4.

"We have a huge challenge in front of us, we're going up against a few No. 1 and No. 2 seeds," Charlevoix coach Audra Randall said. "Overall, my team has gained in strength as the season's progressed and we're starting to bite at the heels a little bit. We're building some momentum."

The regionals took place after the Courier's Thursday press time. See www.charlevoixcourier.com for results before next week's print edition.

Rayders' bats come alive for three wins

Rayders finish at 8-6 in conference, now tuning up for district tournament

Three straight losses in a tournament last weekend did little to pour water on the Charlevoix Rayder varsity softball team's hot bats as the team finished up its Lake Michigan Conference schedule with a sweep of Harbor Springs Tuesday.

In fact, in their sweep of the Rams and a split with Boyne City on Friday, May, 11, the Rayders racked up 57 hits in four conference games in the past week.

On Friday, Charlevoix pounded out a combined 33 including a season-high 23 hits in the nightcap in a double-header split with Boyne City.

The Rayders fell in game one 12-10.

Chelsie Hoffman had three hits to lead the Rayders, while Katie Hyhl, Kelsey Pischner and Nicole Pischner had two hits each, and Katelynn Louiska tripled. Kristin Mielke struck out seven in taking the loss.

Jennifer Archey, Hybl and Mielke collected four hits apiece in leading the Rayders to the game-two 20-4 win.

Louiska, Anna Moon, Kelsey Pischner, Nicole Pischner and Hoffman added two hits each.

Hybl struck out five for the win.

On Saturday, the Rayders finished 0-3 in the Traverse City West Invitational.

Charlevoix opened with a 9-2 loss to Saginaw Heritage, followed by a 9-0 loss to Midland, and it closed the tournament with a 6-5 loss to the host Titans.

Nicole Pischner had two hits to lead the Rayders in their loss to Heritage, while Hoffman and Paige Montgomery added a hit apiece.

Hoffman had three hits in the Rayders' loss to Midland. Mielke, Montgomery, Moon, Kelsey Pischner and Louiska each singled.

Against West, Moon finished with three hits, while Archey, Hoffman and Kelsey Pischner added two apiece, and Montgomery and Nicole Pischner had one each.

Charlevoix collected 24 hits between the two games.

Katie Hybl and Paige Montgomery had three hits apiece to lead Charlevoix in game one, while Anna Moon and Nicole Pischner added two hits apiece, and Kelsey Pischner, Kristen Mielke, Riley Knnop and Chelsie Hoffman finished with one hit each.

Mielke struck out four for the victory.

Brooke Paige homered and singled to lead the Rams in game one, while Kelsey Sydow, Kay Paige, Julia Wixson and Morgan Reeves each singled. Reeves picked up an RBI.

Hyhl struck out 10 for the win in game two.

Hoffman and Hyhl had three hits apiece, while Jennifer Archey added two, and Montgomery and Moon had one each.

Charlevoix improved to 12-11 overall and finished 8-6 in the league. The Rayder varsity squad was slated to face Pellston at home on Thursday, and then will play in a tournament at Harbor Light on Saturday.

JV Softball

The Charlevoix Rayder JV softball team fell twice by the same score 16-1, to East Jordan in an away double-header on Thursday, May 10.

East Jordan's Tori Goodrich struck out five in tossing a no-hitter in the nightcap as East Jordan improved to 14-2.

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

At the end of the school year, Charlevoix Elementary School will lose nearly 100 years of combined teaching experience when three of its teachers retire.

At three decades of teaching experience apiece, kindergarten teacher Diane Priess, library media specialist Margie Culver and first-second grade loop teacher Roxann Roberts will conclude their teaching careers when the school year concludes on Friday, June 1.

"It will be very bittersweet, but I'm excited to see what comes next," said Roberts.

Of Roberts' 28 years of experience, more than 20 years have been spent at Charlevoix elementary.

Before her 10 years as a loop teacher, which means she teaches the same class for two years, following a group of first graders to the second grade, Roberts spent 18 as a special education teacher, starting out in the Cadillac school district and moving to the Charlevoix district.

Margie Culver's career as a librarian — now called a "media specialist" — spans more than 30 years. It would be close to 40 if she hadn't spent a five-year stint at a law firm in Gaylord while looking for a librarian position.

For the past 13 years, Culver has worked as a media specialist at Charlevoix elementary — the last in the district with a master of library science degree.

High schooler helps DNR with underwater robot

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

On a sunny, warm day in May, Charlevoix High School junior Tyler Engstrom drives an underwater robot over a shipwreck in Lake Charlevoix.

"It's like exploring the Titanic," jokes Patrick O'Neill, fisheries technician with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Tyler is working with O'Neill and Charlevoix Fisheries Research Station manager David Clapp as part of a work-study program through Charlevoix High School. A few years ago, Clapp acquired an underwater robot. But because of time constraints, the robot sat on a shelf in the research station.

Then, Tyler came along.

He and Clapp retrofitted the robot with a joystick, making the robot easier to maneuver and more useful, said Clapp. With it, the DNR can take video of lake bottoms or spawning reefs for an easy check on what might be happening underneath the water.

The robot is outfitted with six bilge pumps, positioned so that the robot can move up, down, left, right, forward and backward. Affixed to the front of the robot is a camera that takes video of the lake floor or a structure the DNR wants to investigate — in this case, the wreckage of the Keuka.

The Keuka is a story all its own. Originally built as a three-masted lumber barge in 1889, the 172-foot Keuka was converted to a floating dance hall

Move would allow option to approve more downtown liquor licenses

STEVE ZUCKER

The Charlevoix City Council on Monday approved a measure that may allow it to grant additional liquor licenses in the downtown through a special state economic redevelopment program.

The measure was approved on a 3-2 vote. Council members Jill Picha and Shane Cole voted against approval. Lyle Gennett, Greg Stevens and Dennis Kitsina voted in favor of the measure, and Bryan Vollmer was absent.

The vote was to designate the city's Downtown Development Authority area as an Economic Redevelopment District. The designation is the first step in allowing downtown restaurants to take advan-

Jarema hires temporary replacement for Fanara

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney John Jarema recently hired a part-time temporary assistant prosecutor to help with cases while his chief assistant is out on medical leave.

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners' personnel committee last week unanimously agreed to Jarema's recent hiring of Petoskey-based attorney Robert Mendham on a contract basis to work part-time in his office, to help process cases in chief assistant prosecutor Shaynee Fanara's absence. Mendham is a retired Michigan State Police trooper who previously served as an assistant prosecutor in three Northern Michigan counties — including Emmet — before entering private practice in 2006.

Charlevoix County Circuit Court Judge Richard M. Pajtas signed off on Mendham's appointment on Thursday.

The prosecutor's office has only one other full-time assistant prosecutor on staff, Mark Muniak, who typically handles misdemeanor cases. Jarema said he needs help getting caught up with the backlog of cases that developed since mid-March when Fanara went on vacation and then stayed out on medical leave in March. Two recent trials that he handled further added to the piled up work, Jarema said.

Under the contract, Mendham will be paid $24 per hour and receive no other benefits. Jarema said he expects Mendham will work two to three days per week until the time he expects Fanara's return to work in early July.

In early April, Fanara went before the board at a public meeting and made numerous allegations against Jarema, accusing him of purposefully lying to both a judge and the board on an appellate court matter, harassing her and spreading false rumors about her in retaliation for her filing a complaint with the Michigan Attorney Grievance Commission.

According to previous news-stories, the complaint dealt with Jarema's alleged lies to the county commission and a circuit court judge regarding the appellate court matter. Fanara said she was required to report this matter to the commission.

Fanara remains out of the office on medical leave because of tension headaches she said her doctors blame on Jarema's alleged behavior toward her.

Jarema denied Fanara's accusations.

The personnel committee did not take an official vote on the hiring, but all three members, county commissioners Chris Christensen, Shirlene Tripp and Joel Evans, signed off on paperwork that allows for Mendham's employment.

After the meeting, Christensen said a vote of the committee or full board of commissioners was not needed for the hiring because Jarema did not ask for any increases in his budget. Department heads, such as Jarema, are permitted to staff their offices as they see fit within the constraints of their respective budgets, he explained.

The question that remained unclear among county officials Monday is which budget will be used to pay Mendham, especially because Fanara continues to be paid while on medical leave.

Jarema said he planned to use the remaining portion of the prosecutor's $10,000 annual civil counsel allocation to pay for the additional help. However, county clerk Cheryl Potter Browe, who also serves as the keeper of the county's budget, said the civil counsel allocation is actually a county board account.

Browe said, however, Jarema should have plenty of money available to cover Mendham's wages in a temporary staffing fund within his budget. She further explained that county leaders allocated $30,000 to that fund to help pay for a special domestic violence prosecutor that is shared between Charlevoix and Emmet counties, based on an expectation at the time that the grant-funded position would not be renewed with additional grant dollars. Browe said grant dollars for the domestic violence prosecutor ultimately were renewed, but the backup $30,000 remained in the prosecutor's budget.

Jarema said on Monday he had forgotten about the money set aside for the domestic violence prosecutor. He said he expects the money for the temporary prosecutor will likely come from that account instead.

However, on Monday Fanara not only questioned the manner in which Jarema hired the person she views as her replacement, but where the money will come from.

Fanara also complained that she's been "locked out" of the prosecutor's office while she's been on leave. Fanara said Jarema changed the security code to the prosecutors' office doors after she went on leave and since refused her multiple requests for the new code.

Jarema disagreed that he denied Fanara access to the office, saying that she has been in the office in general, and in her own office on more than one occasion in recent weeks. Fanara is welcome to stop in the office any time during normal business hours, but Jarema said he doesn't want her coming into the office after hours or on weekends.

Fanara said she could return to work at any time, if her doctor clears her to do so, but, she said Jarema told her he would file a grievance against her if, or when she returns to work.

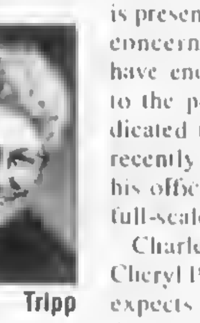
"I feel like, in essence, I've been fired," Fanara said.

County board to consider new civil counsel hire

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners held off Wednesday on considering a recommendation from its personnel committee for a firm to hire as its new civil counsel.

At its meeting on Wednesday, May 16, the personnel committee made up of commissioners Joel Evans, Shirlene Tripp and committee chairman Chris Christensen unanimously recommended to the full board that it hire Bellaire-based law firm Young, Graham, Elsenheimer and Wendling to serve as its civil counsel. The committee members said they were basing their recommendation mainly on price.



Tripp

The county recently advertised for applications to serve as its civil counsel after its previous counsel, Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney John Jarema, resigned from the post in April. The board received four written responses. One response did not include any dollar amounts.

Traverse City-based Zirnhelt Bowron and Wiggins offered $200 per hour, plus travel and expenses; Plunkett Cooney, which has an office in Petoskey, offered services for $195 to $225 per hour (depending on the nature of the work); and Young, Graham, Elsenheimer, and Wendling, offered $145 per hour and/or a $300 per month unlimited phone consultation retainer.

Christensen said his only concern in using Young, Graham, Elsenheimer and Wendling was that the firm also represents many of the county's townships, which could cause a potential conflict of interest, should a dispute ever arise between the county and one or more of those townships.

The committee members agreed that situation is unlikely, and if it arose, the board could bring in another pinch-hit firm — such as Plunkett Cooney, which already represents the board in labor matters. As part of the motion, the committee directed that the entire bid packet with all four firms be forwarded to the full board for its consideration at its regular semi-monthly meeting set for 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The board's search for new civil counsel began in late April when Jarema resigned from the position saying he is presently short-staffed and concerned that he doesn't have enough time to devote to the position. He also indicated that he is reviewing recently authorized cases in his office that may lead to a full-scale audit.

Charlevoix County Clerk Cheryl Potter Browe said she expects the board will pay for the new civil counsel out of what remains of Jarema's annual $10,000 civil counsel stipend and, if needed, out of a professional services line-item in the budget.

In earlier meetings, board members favored the idea of only having civil counsel attend meetings where it would be likely that immediate advice would be necessary.

If the board goes with Young, et al, and chooses the $300 per month phone retainer, then uses fewer than 44 billable hours over the course of the year, it would cost no more than the $10,000 it had been paying Jarema annually.

The board had been slated to consider the recommendation at its meeting Wednesday, but chose to postpone discussion until a committee of the whole meeting set for 7 p.m. on Thursday, because only four board members were present Wednesday.

Board holds off on fieldhouse repairs

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

The Charlevoix Public Schools Board of Education chose by 4-3 split vote Monday not to spend any money from a 2008 voter-approved technology, building improvement and transportation bond to repair the dilapidated Novak Fieldhouse at Kipke Field.

At its April regular monthly meeting, the board's buildings and grounds committee comprised of board members Glen Catt, Mike Pearsall and Kevin Pearsall brought a recommendation to the board that it seek bids for repairs to the fieldhouse, which houses locker rooms for the varisty and JV football teams, serves as the visitors' locker room for home football games, is used for workouts and is used during track season.

The committee reported that the 30-year-old building's roof leaks and is sagging, ceiling tiles are missing, the ventilation system is poor at best, and a person using the bathroom is afforded little in the way of privacy.

The committee has also been looking at repairs needed to the pressbox, including replacing missing siding.

In April Catt said estimators with his development firm pegged the cost for the work at about $143,000 — and that's with Catt, Pearsall and Pearsall volunteering to serve as the project manager.

Everyone on the board agreed in April that something needs to be done with the fieldhouse, but how to pay for it?

One possibility was to use proceeds from the recent sale of the final $1 million in bonds approved by voters for transportation, technology and building improvements in a 2008 ballot proposal. In all, the 2008 bond request was for 5.9 million, but school officials opted to hold off on selling the final $1 million in bonds until the end of the three year window it has to do so following a successful ballot request.

But several board members were concerned that using the money to fix the fieldhouse might not be true to the uses for money promised at the time of the bond election and also might not be the best use for the money for the district. Several board members wanted more information before proceeding, and accordingly the board voted 4-3 to table the matter request to send the proposed renovations out for bids matter to this months agenda. The three members of the building committee voted against tabling the matter.

Catt, Pearsall and Pearsall all expressed frustration that the other members of the board were putting the brakes on the repair.

When the fieldhouse repairs came up again at Monday's board meeting, the board voted — again 4-3 — to not proceed with the proposed renovations, and instead look for ways to stabilize the building for the short term, until a long-term plan for the building can be developed, interim district superintendent Patrick Bootz said.

In a related matter, the board did give tentative approval to spending some of those bond dollars when it gave Bootz the OK to seek bids for a new bus.

Bootz noted that this would be the fourth of five anticipated bus purchases with bond proceeds. He said the problem with the buses is not so much the power train, but rather the bodies. He said diesel engines will "last forever," but rusting out bus bodies are a common cause for a state police inspector to "red flag" a bus.

In other business, the board gave its blessing to plan proposed by the district's administrators to relocate the fifth grade from the middle school to the elementary school for the 2012-13 school year.

Bootz said the move was recommended, because fifth grade is still considered an elementary grade, and many 10-year-olds are often not comfortable being around 13- and 14-year-olds. He said the alignment also works better for the elementary school's special scheduling.

Bootz said he has had extensive discussions the elementary school principal Doug Drenth about the change and Drenth is working on how the change will

Roger Knutson

If there is one area where we expect science and research to benefit us, it is in medical research. Better understanding of how our incredibly complex bodies work will lead to better treatment for diseases and longer, more comfortable lives for many. We eagerly accept the most recent information and put it to use with new medications or treatment as early as possible. After all, we are all getting older and wouldn't want to miss out on something beneficial.

The position of too quickly accepting the results of medical research is problematic. Science almost always provides more questions than answers, and answers are most often tentative. There is likely to be a different answer around the corner.

Cholesterol research and related medical practice provide a fine example. Some brief examination of history is a good idea. Cholesterol is a normal constituent of all animal cells, including ours. It is produced in our liver and in our adrenal glands, and is essential to normal cell function. It is a complicated substance with many closely related forms. Some essential hormones like testosterone and other substances like vitamin D are closely related chemically.

In normal function, cholesterol is a part of our body's synthesis of such essential materials. Alternatively, cholesterol forms a part of most gallstones and certain uncommon brain tumors.

Decades ago, early research suggested that under some circumstances, excess cholesterol was associated with heart and vascular disease. The admittedly preliminary information led many people to think of cholesterol as a bad thing, to be avoided in one's diet, for example. Most of us produce in our bodies more cholesterol than we could acquire from food, but nevertheless high cholesterol foods were quickly viewed as questionable parts of a healthy diet.

The very wide range of what might be viewed as "normal" levels of blood cholesterol was not often emphasized. People were encouraged to know about their cholesterol numbers.

Research continued, and it was learned that there were floating around in our bloodstreams, two different forms of cholesterol, called LDL and HDL. So we understood "good" cholesterol, and "bad" cholesterol. Medications were developed that either increased the good kind or suppressed the bad kind.

Millions of patients took such medications and some of them benefited.

The latest round of research seems to suggest that the "good" cholesterol is probably not beneficial, and may have no effect on vascular or circulatory problems.

What is a person to do? First of all, recognize that almost any scientific result is preliminary or partial, and that basing health-care decisions on it may be premature and unnecessarily costly. None of us can wait for the final word on cholesterol or PSA or any other medical research, and we should understand that there is unlikely to be a final answer that clears up all the problems.

That doesn't mean that answers from research are useless, but it does suggest some caution in accepting them too quickly. That may be part of the reason that health care costs in our system are so much higher than in other countries. It might also explain why we are no healthier than the patients in those other countries. Unless you are really certain about the quality of the bandwagon, it may not be a good idea to jump on too quickly.

Editor,

Summer is a great time for children of all ages to continue to develop a value system, something all parents are seeking for their youngsters. Learning through the sport of golf is a relatively new approach. Yet, if you understand what may be learned as a youngster through golf participation, you suddenly can grasp its value. We encourage parents to consider registering their youngster for the Charlevoix Junior summer Golf program.

One of the first lessons stressed in golf is to be punctual. Golf lessons like tee times must start on time. If you are late for a tee time, you lose and often someone else has taken your place and you've lost your opportunity. In life, you must be on time. If you snooze, you lose! From that simple beginning, the lessons become somewhat more complex.

Etiquette is stressed for several reasons. It is important to not talk when people are getting ready to hit their golf shot, learning to help others find their lost ball is stressed, as is not walking on the green in front of a partner's ball. And waiting their turn before hitting can be the foundation for always thinking of others even when not on the golf course. Golf is a game that involves honesty more than any other sport. There are no umpires or referees to "make the calls." Your youngster will count their own strokes, determine if their ball is out of bounds, in the water, and penalize themselves whenever a penalty stroke is required according to the rules.

Civic obedience is crucial for our society. Laws and rules are made to follow. Golfers must follow playing and etiquette rules and this is stressed by all teachers of golf. Social skills are emphasized as your youngster will find themselves playing with different people every lesson day. In addition to learning to get along with the opposite gender and those from different economic backgrounds, we stress having empathy for the golfer struggling to master the many fundamentals of the game. Educators agree it's more difficult to teach desirable traits that are needed to be successful in today's society in a classroom setting.

Yet, through golf the emphasis is on honesty, helping and thinking of others, obeying rules even when it affects your playing, socializing with those in all walks of life, and being accountable to others.

The goal of the Charlevoix Area Junior Golf program is to introduce area youngsters to each of these attributes through learning the game of golf. The local teaching professionals donate their time to see that the golf experience is the best possible. Four area golf courses; The Belvedere, Antrim Dells, the city's Charlevoix Golf Clup, and the Charlevoix Country Club provide their facilities. Lessons meet 2-3 times a week starting in early June and finish mid July. The small fee of $5 per lesson or $50 for the season allows for prizes, equipment and supplies, and the pizza party. Those without clubs are welcome. The program has lender sets so that no youngster goes without clubs. There are also scholarships for those families where the lesson fees might cause a hardship.

Registration is scheduled for June 9 at the municipal Charlevoix Golf Club, at 10:45 a.m. for 11-17 year olds and 11:45 a.m for 8-10 year-olds. Juniors should bring a putter. Parents must accompany their youngster for the orientation session and official registration as their signature is needed on the wavier of insurance. Additional information may be obtained by calling program program director Dean Davenport (231) 547-6433, or the, City of Charlevoix Recreation office, (231) 547-3253.

Charlevoix was the last of the major northwest Michigan communities to receive a railroad, 19 years after Petoskey got theirs. Access via the Lake Michigan maritime lanes was so easy and convenient that many considered a railroad to be unnecessary. But because there was no water traffic during the months the lake froze over, it was finally realized that Charlevoix would have to enter the modern era if it were to flourish and compete. The Detroit, Charlevoix & Escanaba line started the work, but went belly-up in 1889 because of financial mismanagement. It was taken over by the Chicago & West Michigan Railway who completed the job by late June, 1892. Behind the handcar appear whitewashed stones spelling out "Charlevoix" in the newly landscaped Depot Beach lawn, a nice welcoming touch until rain dissolved the whitewash and vandals took care of the rest. (The complete story of how the railroad arrived can be found in the Charlevoix Historical Society Press booklet "The Railroad in Charlevoix," available at the Harsha House Museum.)

This image is one of 850 in the Charlevoix Historical Society's most recent DVD titled "Charlevoix, Michigan — A Pictorial Journey through 16 Decades." The disc is available at the Society's Harsha House Museum, 103 State St. next to the Congregational Church, from 1-4 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday. It is also available at the Central Drug Store, Round Lake Books, Castle Farms, and Ell-Air Gallery. Call (231) 547-0373 for mailing and society membership information.

Middle schoolers 'Experience Lake Charlevoix'

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

MORGAN SHERBURNE/NEWS-REVIEW

Volunteer Diane Strzelinski shows Charlevoix Middle School students how pollutants work their way into freshwater systems during a recent outing on the Beaver Islander boat on Lake Charlevoix. The event, called "Experience Lake Charlevoix," is sponsored by the Lake Charlevoix Association, with education stations by Petoskey's Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council.

For two days every year for nearly 20 years, the Beaver Islander changes into a floating science laboratory for Charlevoix County middle school students.

Sponsored by the Lake Charlevoix Association, the event, called "Experience Lake Charlevoix," aims to educate students about the water resource in their own backyards.

"We want to promote good lake stewardship at a young age so they start caring for the lake as young people," said Sue Costa, president of the Lake Charlevoix Association, who has coordinated the event for six years.

The boat, which usually ferries passengers between Charlevoix and Beaver Island, carries students to the middle of Lake Charlevoix. There, the boat drifts for four hours while students cycle through a series of seven educational stations, which are provided by Petoskey's Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council and staffed by volunteers from the Lake Charlevoix Association.

At each station, students learn about various aspects of water, including water safety, water clarity and aquatic life — the last of which tends to get some of the most effusive reactions.

"It's cool, but it's gross," said a student from Charlevoix, staring at wriggling, red midge larvae in a tub of mud two volunteers pulled up from the bottom of Lake Charlevoix.

"It's gross, but it's life," said another, who was on her hands and knees, digging through the mud.

The life the two students were talking about was a scoop from the "benthic community" — the community of organisms that live at the bottom of a body of water.

Tip of the Mitt's water resource specialist Dan Myers, a Charlevoix native, helped coordinate the event.

"The most important thing is to make sure the kids are having fun and getting exposed to something really cool," said Myers, who earned his bachelor's of science degree from Michigan State University.

Myers should have a pretty fair assessment of the success of the program. He attended the program himself as a student in the early 2000s.

Costa said that the association has worked with Charlevoix County teachers over the years in order to fit the information they and Tip of the Mitt Watershed Council present with science teachers' curriculum.

"It's a great way to get students thinking about what they're learning in the classroom," said Charlevoix Middle School science teacher Kristine Burmeister.

At the end of the year, Burmeister has her students create a project that shows how her students impact and interact with the environment.

"What I've heard is that this really enhances what (teachers) are able to do in the classroom," said Costa. "It augments what they can do and makes education come alive."

The East Jordan Rotary Club will presents its sixth annual Rotary Variety Show at 7 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, June 8-9, at the community auditorium at East Jordan High School.

Long-time Rotarian Chip Hansen will serve as the master of ceremonies again this year.

"We've got a great group of Rotarians and guests performing again this year," he said, adding, "the show has become a hot ticket throughout Northwest Michigan, which is testimony to the quality of the production."

The show features the Rotary Chorus, as well as a live pit band.

"The chorus and the band carry the show," Hansen said. "Our musicians fly in from all over the country, and they're absolutely top notch."

The Rotary Variety Show is a team effort. Rotarians Mike Aenis and Mark Penzien coordinate the show's production team.

"The production team is responsible for selecting the chorus medleys, writing the skits, managing the rehearsals, and more," Aenis said.

"We have as much fun putting the show together as we do performing the show," Penzien said.

A silent auction precedes each show, beginning at 6 p.m. in the auditorium lobby. The pre-show starts at 6:15 p.m., so guests are encouraged to come early to enjoy music provided by Bud Bechtol, Bob Bryan and the rest of the Rotary Swing Band.

Tickets are priced at $8 each, and are available in East Jordan at Bay Winds Federal Credit Union, Charlevoix State Bank, Glen's Market and Huntington Bank. Tickets may also be available at the door, but in limited quantities.

According to Chip Hansen, the show generally sells out.

"We really appreciate the support of the community," he said.

Proceeds from the show will be utilized in support of all the good work the East Jordan Rotary Club does throughout the year, including scholarship support for local students, youth leadership training programs and community improvement projects.

Boat company to celebrate Beaver Islander turning 50

BEAVER ISLAND — On Friday May 25 the M/V Beaver Islander will celebrate her 50-year anniversary with her first 2012 voyage. The vessel will depart Beaver Island at 8:20 a.m. and will be making its way through the Pine River Channel for a Charlevoix arrival about 10:30 a.m.

To celebrate the M/V Beaver Islander's 50-year anniversary, in the month of June, the Beaver Island Boat Company will provide a free one-way passenger ticket to anyone who is celebrating their 50-year wedding anniversary or who was born in 1962. The passenger must provide a valid photo ID with birth date or a marriage certificate.

The Beaver Islander was built in 1962 by Sturgeon Bay Shipbuilding & Drydock Co. out of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., for service to Beaver Island. It is 95 feet in length, 27 feet wide, draws 8 feet with a top speed of 13.5 knots and a maximum capacity of 172 passengers and 10 vehicles. From 1962 to 1997 the Beaver Islander was the primary Beaver Island ferry. Although its work load has been lightened by the M/V Emerald Isle, this season it will still service the island for about 68 round trips.

Charlevoix County commissioner plans to file grievance against prosecutor

BRANDON HUBBARD
Northern Michigan Review

CHARLEVOIX — A Charlevoix County commissioner says she plans to file a complaint with the Attorney Grievance Commission of Michigan against the county prosecutor for allegedly abusing his elected office.

Charlevoix County Commissioner Shirlene Tripp, of Hayes Township, read at length from a prepared statement Wednesday at the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners meeting, leveling several allegations against Charlevoix County Prosecutor John Jarema, including abusing his office staff, lying to elected officials and not acting in the best interest of the municipality.

"I think it is time for the public to know what is really going on behind the scenes," Tripp read, beginning her statement.

Tripp told the Petoskey News-Review following the meeting she intended to file a complaint with the grievance commission via certified mail Thursday.

The grievance commission serves the Michigan Supreme Court to perform investigations and prosecution for attorney misconduct. If the Attorney Grievance Commission finds a member of the Michigan Bar Association has potentially committed misconduct, a three volunteer attorney panel is appointed by the state Attorney Grievance Board to conduct trial-level proceedings.

Jarema

Tripp accused Jarema of coordinating to bring potential criminal charges over a discrepancy that Tripp, who represents District 1, was paid for meetings she did not attend. However, Tripp says the issue is years old and there was a sealed agreement by the prosecutor's office to allow her to repay some of the funds.

She denied the incident was criminal and said the questions regarding the meetings had been resolved previously.

"That is outrageous. Frankly, Jarema is misrepresenting this to his client Charlevoix County," Tripp said. "He has been vindictive and if I need to get an attorney because John Jarema lied to me and this board then I will do that. That isn't something I thought I would ever have to say."

Jarema, who did not attend the meeting Wednesday night, said Thursday morning by phone: "Let me get this straight. Tripp is now, because she has a criminal investigation against her on how she got paid or didn't get paid on per diems, now is bringing out allegations against me?"

Jarema said the matter involving Tripp had been brought to the attention of the Michigan State Police by two private citizens.

"I don't make charges, the police do," Jarema said. "I don't have a warrant request. I don't even know if the investigation is done, and if it is done and comes to my office, I'm going to refer it for a special prosecutor anyway. That is typical on conflict cases."

Although the agreement between Charlevoix County and Tripp came from an office Jarema governs, he said he did not have detailed knowledge about the dollar amounts or what was agreed upon.

"I didn't sign it," he said, although he admitted having oversight as the elected official in charge.

Jarema said the agreement was made between Tripp's attorney Mary Beth Kur and his chief assistant prosecutor Shanee Fanara, which according to Jarema, had an agreement that there would not be further prosecution or charges.

"Obviously, that is not a lawful or ethical agreement," Jarema said. "My chief assistant prosecutor should have known that ... She can not tie the hands of the public from demanding she repay the rest of the amount. Ethically, you can't."

The commissioner also alleged Jarema has "run out" seven employees from the prosecutors office since holding the elected office. One employee, she said, was forced to bring lunches daily to the prosecutor even when he was at his private residence and not working on county business.

"Why am I just learning that (the employee) was so unhappy about how Jarema treated her, she left the prosecutor's office to go to work for the Friend of the Court for less pay?" Tripp asked.

Chief assistant prosecutor Fanara, she said, could become the next person forced out.

Fanara came before the board last month, telling the board her boss had lied to commissioners, a judge, refused to pay her for work done and alleged Jarema spread false rumors she — a married woman — had sex with a defense attorney for better plea bargains. She said earlier this month that the false allegations continue.

The chief assistant prosecutor had been placed on medical leave under a doctor's recommendation because of stress headaches attributed to her work environment.

The prosecutor denied having abused or misused staff, saying all the employees listed left under normal circumstances.

"The only time this is an issue or this is brought up is when Shirlene Tripp lashes out or my chief assistant prosecutor does the same thing," Jarema said.

Other allegations included violating Freedom of Information Act rules by delaying information requests made by the Petoskey News-Review and doing so without cause, as well as attempting to pay an attorney county funds after the defense attorney had previously declined payment.

There was no direct response by Charlevoix County Commissioners Joel Evans of South Arm Township, Rich Gillespie of Beaver Island or Ronald Reinhardt of Wilson Township. Commissioners Robert Drebenstedt and Chris Christensen of Boyne City were absent from the meeting.

Gillespie said he did plan on addressing the prosecutor's office, but felt the issue had been exhausted.

CIVIL COUNCIL DECISION POSTPONED

A decision to hire a new civil council was postponed Wednesday night. Commissioners unanimously recommended the issue be referred to the Committee of the Whole at 7 p.m., Thursday, May 31. A motion to hire Young, Graham, Elsenheimer and Wendling was offered but then retracted because it lacked enough support to pass and all the commissioners were not present.

Prosecutor Jarema stepped down at the end of April as civil council saying "I simply cannot devote the time to county civil matters and give those matters the time and thought they deserve."

In the interim, Charlevoix County will use Petoskey-based Plunkett Cooney for its legal needs.

be implemented at the school. Bootz said sufficient classroom space is available at the elementary school to house the additional students.

In speaking to the board about the change, Bootz noted that more building configuration changes could await the board in coming years if the recent trend of the district's enrollment declining by 30-45 students per year continues.

In fact, Bootz pointed out that as school officials get closer to finalizing the proposed budget for next school year, there are some indications that the district could be down as many as 59 students when classes resume in the fall.

Where those enrollment numbers fall and what, if any bump in school funding the state legislature authorizes in its budget will be key in the district's bottom line for next year.

Bootz said in tentative calculations, he's not expecting any additional staff layoffs or programming cuts to be needed, but with six teachers retiring this year, it could make a difference in how many laid off teachers might be called back.

Lions Club awards five scholarships

Lauren Bartling and Anna Moon both received scholarships from the Don Meggison Scholarship Fund. The fund was named after Lion Don Meggison a life-long Charlevoix resident who was well known for his extensive participation in community affairs.

The Charlevoix Lions Club had established that scholarship in his honor to continue his legacy of helping others. Lauren and Anna both did not apply for this honor, but were selected by members of the Lion foundation and high school officials.

Anna will be attending the University of Michigan in the fall and Lauren will attend Grand Valley State University.

Megan Peters and Andrew Plude were the recipients of the Coleman Scholarship. This scholarship fund was created in memory of Lion, Stewart "Irish" Coleman. "Irish" was a teacher and coach at Charlevoix High School from 1926 to 1963.

Organizers said these students were selected for both their efforts in the classroom and on the athletic field, but were selected based on receiving at least six varsity sport letters. The top two with the highest grade point average are then selected as the winners.

Andrew will be attending Saginaw Valley State University this fall and Megan will be attending Grand Valley State University.

Trenton Bradley was the recipient of the seventh annual Charlevoix Junior Golf Book Scholarship. Trent has not yet finalized his college choice.

The Charlevoix Lions Club meets every Monday at noon at the Weathervane Restaurant.

Jocelyn Benson to speak at Charlevoix Dems kickoff

Charlevoix County Democrats are launching Campaign 2012 with an evening with Jocelyn Benson, nationally known advocate of voters' rights, Tuesday, May 29, 5:30 p.m., at Charlevoix's Argonne Supper Club.

The focus of the gathering will be the Campaign 2012 as seen locally, state-wide, and nationally, providing information on plans, the need for voter registration and getting out the vote.

Jocelyn Benson, law professor at Wayne State, will "fire up the troops," according to Bill Lovett, chair of Charlevoix County Democrats.

"She is dedicated to bringing more young people into the political process, making sure no voters are disenfranchised, and protecting voters' rights," Lovett said.

Benson was selected in 2011 to serve with Sandra Day O'Connor, retired United States Supreme Court Justice, on the national board of directors for iCivics, Inc., a nonprofit created by Justice O'Connor to improve civics education across the country.

A candidate for the Michigan Secretary of States office in 2010, Benson is also well-known for her work on election law reform.

The May 29 gathering at the Argonne will launch Campaign 2012 for the Charlevoix County Democrats. Voter registration drives, "rock the vote" events, and fund raising events will take place during the summer. The fund raising will help underwrite a campaign headquarters, campaign expenses and possibly a van to serve as a mobile office traveling the entire county.

Benson will address the group at 6 p.m. A "dutch treat" dinner will begin at 5:30 p.m. The Argonne is located on Boyne City-Charlevoix Road a half mile from the intersection with U.S. 31. To reserve a dinner spot email: democrats.charlevoix@gmail.com.

tage of a special liquor control commission program that could provide additional class C (on premise consumption) licenses beyond those that are typically available through traditional means.

Since the downtown is already at its quota for liquor licenses, the only way a business in the district could get one is to buy a transferable one that comes up on the market for sale. Going rates for such licenses can range for $40,000-$60,000.

Under this program in a redevelopment district (which must meet certain criteria for public and private investment in recent years), a business owner can ask to buy a license for $20,000 if it is willing to invest at least $75,000 in improvements in the business property.

The program is intended to help stimulate growth in struggling downtowns. But as the council has considered the program, many current downtown restaurant owners and liquor license holders have complained that the program will do more harm than good.

Existing licensees have said they struggle to get by in the offseason, and adding more licenses in an area that has a limited market could spell doom for many of their businesses.

After hearing many of the same objections to the program a year ago, consideration of the program never got beyond the Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority board, which quickly shot down a suggestion by its director Keith Carey to recommend to the city council that it consider the program.

However in the April 16 meeting Vi Keller, the owner of Scovies Gourmet Deli, located at 111 Bridge St., came to the council requesting the designation so she could serve beer and wine with meals and sell liquor during special events or a private party. Keller has said she has said she has no desire to turn the business into a typical bar, or extend the hours to 2 a.m.

The proposal for Scovies' license has had wide support among many city leaders and current downtown license holders, but most don't want to see it go any further.

Several restaurant owners, members of the downtown development board and some city council members have said they fear that the move will "open the floodgates" to "outsiders" coming in, setting up shop, causing businesses to close and disappearing into the night when the busy season is over.

Last week the downtown development authority board voted 4-3 to recommend approval of the designation, and then in a separate 4-3 vote recommended that issuance of the special licenses be tightly restricted.

Some of the restrictions that have been suggested include a requirement that a requesting business be in operation for several years before applying, limiting the hours of service or how much bar seating is allowed in such establishments.

During Monday's meeting, mayor Norman "Bnogie" Carlson was careful to note more than once that the measure approved at the meeting was merely the first step to start the process with the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, which will determine how many licenses may be issued in the district. He said once the preliminary work is back from the state, the council will set to work on setting the rules and restrictions it will follow when deciding whether to approve license applications under the program. He noted that the city is not obliged to approve any applications simply because it approved the redevelopment zone designation.

Carlson suggested prior to the council's deliberations on those criteria that a committee made up of current downtown licensees, other downtown merchants, city officials and others be convened to discuss how best to regulate the council's approval of the special licenses.

"I think we need to all come together and talk about this like adults," he said.

It's meter season

Charlevoix parking enforcement officer Katie Caldwell installs a parking meter along Bridge Street Wednesday. Parking meters are being installed in the downtown this week and will soon be enforced for the summer season. This year, however, Caldwell will have fewer meters to police after the city council last fall decided to remove parking meters from the backlots along the west side of Bridge Street.

Sixth annual Women Can/ Women Do fundraiser planned at Castle Farms

The Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan will host its sixth annual Women Can/Women Do fundraising luncheon from 11 a.m.-1:45 p.m. on Wednesday, June 20, at Castle Farms in Charlevoix. The event is crucial in raising funds for the center to support programs and services for women, children and families.

Luncheon guests at The Castle will be treated to the unique table designs of more than 28 Charlevoix County designers who have agreed to donate their time and talent.

"I am always amazed at the creativity of our designers who come up with unique and interesting themes each year," said Deb Smith, women's center assistant director. "A huge reason these luncheons are so popular is a result of the hard work and ingenuity of our table designers and dedication of our table captains; it's truly a first class event."

This year's table designers include: A Touch of Spring, Boyne Mountain Solace Spa, Boynes' Beyond Borders, Connie Carr-Designer, Castle Farms, Charlevoix Area Garden Club, Charlevoix Area Hospital Gift Shop, Charlevoix Circle of Arts, Charlevoix Country Club, Deer Creek Junk, Elements, Fanciful Tables, GaGa for kids, Hearts to Holly Quilt Shop, inspired living, Jordan River Arts Council, Kilwin's of Charlevoix, Lake Street Market, Marvin's Gardens, MerryMakers, Panache Hair Studio, Petals Custom Floral Designs, R & R Organic Spa, Raven Hill Discovery Center, Sommerset Yacht Club, The Backdoor-A Floral Studio, Upsy-Daisy Floral and Nanette Dion-Artist/Designer.

Although volunteer table captains are responsible for filling seats at each table, there are still seats available to those who contact the Women's Resource Center. Seats are a minimum donation of $150 per person. For information or to reserve a seat, call (231) 347-0067.

A group of Charlevoix County Jail inmates works on planting the jail's vegetable garden Tuesday, May 15, in the large plot south of the jail that was formerly a baseball field. This will mark the third year the sheriff's office officials have allowed certain inmates the privilege of working in the garden. Produce from the garden will be used in preparing meals in the jail's kitchen, which last year saved the sheriff's office about $10,000, undersheriff Chuck Vondra said.

ROBOT

and casino during Prohibition. It sank just off of Ferry Beach in Lake Charlevoix in 1932, and has lain 40 feet below the surface of Lake Charlevoix since.

On this day, O'Neill feeds the 50-feet of cord into the water above the wreck. The robot drifts downward. Tyler's job is to maneuver the robot as closely to the wreck as possible, a job made a little more difficult by the bundle of power and camera cords.

"Make a 180," says O'Neill.

"Left or right?" asks Tyler, using the joystick to move the robot underwater while watching the screen to see how the robot is responding to his commands.

"Your choice!" says O'Neill.

The robot is a little stubborn, but suddenly, the robot heads straight for the shipwreck, giving Tyler, O'Neill and Clapp a clear view of the cloud of fish over the boat.

"For some reason, for once, this thing is doing what we want it to do," says Tyler.

A member of the Charlevoix ski team and an Eagle Scout — a level he achieved at just 14 — Tyler may look into a career with the DNR, but he has a while to make up his mind.

While the DNR has no specific plans for the video footage Tyler captures of the shipwreck and its fish inhabitants, the work Tyler is doing will help the DNR better use the robot in the future. The robot saves technicians such as O'Neill work by giving the DNR a quick view of a lake floor instead of having to investigate by scuba diving these sites.

"We'd like to be able to, for example, look in Grand Traverse Bay off Elk Rapids — there's a population of lake herring unique to the Great Lakes," said Clapp. "We can measure the type of habitat, the size of rocks and whether there are zebra mussels there."

Too, the robot might be able to give researchers a look at whether the invasive round goby and crayfish are predating eggs on reefs, where fish such as lake trout and whitefish spawn.

And the robot also gives Tyler a chance to try out a potential future career, which he hopes will involve anything in the outdoors.

"I love being on the water," said Tyler. "It just feels peaceful."

MORGAN SHERBURNE/NEWS-REVIEW

LEFT: Engstrom watches the underwater robot he worked on with David Clapp (not shown), research station manager of the Charlevoix Fisheries Research Station, sink in Lake Charlevoix.

"I just immersed myself in children's and young adult literature," said Culver. "I'm constantly reading, and I'm a people person. I really enjoy the children and connect with them."

In Priess, the district will lose a teacher who spent her entire career with the Charlevoix school district.

"I'm so excited about retiring, but I will always love my kindergartners," said Priess, whose both maternal and paternal families have been established in Charlevoix for three generations before her.

Priess said she has been enamored of the kindergarten age group since high school.

"They're like little sponges," she said. "I like to incorporate music, dancing and cooking to help them learn different concepts."

And for 30 years of Priess's teaching career, her kindergartners have put on a performance of "Peter Rabbit" in Priess's classroom. It helps teach the students public speaking, she said.

This year, said principal Doug Drenth, so many parents, students and faculty came that the audience overflowed into the hallway.

"Thirty years of Peter Rabbit ended last week," said Drenth. "It was amazing to see those children speak in front of their parents and peers."

Roberts teaches love of learning in the same way.

"You have to laugh with your kids and have fun," she said. "Who wants to learn if you don't have fun?"

And Culver's specialty is being able to fit a book perfectly to each child who requests one.

"Well, I love kids, and I love books," said Culver. "We all have gifts. Maybe that's mine."

All teachers agree: The children come first.

"You have to establish trust between the teacher and the students, enjoy your job and get to know the kids on a personal level," said Roberts.

"You have to be steadfast because their lives are so variable," said Culver.

"I try my hardest to make every student as successful as they can be," said Priess. "Every student can be successful in their own way, if you put effort into what you're teaching and what you expect of them."

Principal Drenth will be feeling the loss.

"All three retirees will leave a huge void," he said. "It's still just so amazing to see their energy and enthusiasm even at the end of their careers. It makes me sad and feel blessed at the same time."

'It never fails'

Rayders face Rams for league title — again

As this edition of the Charlevoix Courier was headed to press two perennial Lake Michigan Conference girls soccer powerhouses were again headed toward a showdown for the league crown Thursday.

The Rayders were set for a 7 p.m. kickoff against Habor Springs at Ottawa Stadium to decide the title.

"It never fails that it comes down to us and Charlevoix," Harbor coach Ed Fantozzi said earlier this week commenting on the upcoming title game. "If you're going to have a key match, this will be it. It will be a fun game for sure. I'm sure it will be a great atmosphere."

Under the Lake Michigan standings format, Harbor, 14-3-0 overall, has 28 points, while Charlevoix has 30. A team is awarded three points for a victory under the format and it gets a point for a shoot-out loss. Harbor dropped its league-opener to Elk Rapids in a shootout, thereby earning the extra point.

If Harbor beats the Rayders Thursday, the Rams will finish with 31 points in league play. If Charlevoix wins, it takes the league title with 33 points. If the teams should go to a shootout — and Harbor wins — the teams would share the title. If Charlevoix wins the shootout, it takes the league title outright.

"It's pretty simple, if we win, we're in first place," Madison said. "If they win, they're in first place. It it goes to a shootout and we win, we're in first place. If we lose in a shootout, we're in first place.

"We just can't lose in regulation."

Charlevoix defeated the Rams, 4-2, on April 30 in Charlevoix.

Here's road the over the past week that lead the Rayders to Thursday's title game:

On Thursday, May 17, the Rayders suffered their first league loss of the season when they fell to Elk Rapids 3-1 in overtime.

Lauren Bartling scored off an assist from Maura Brandi 23 minutes into the first half to give the Rayders a 1-0 lead. Michelle Costa scored with an assist from Mylia LaPointe 15 minutes into the second half to tie it.

Down two goals in the OT, Charlevoix missed two good scoring opportunities in the final five minutes. One shot went off the crossbar, another went wide.

Gloria Greene was in goal for the Rayders, while Carolena Elowsky and Leah Davis were Charlevoix's defensive standouts, coach Carol Madison said.

"(Greene) just did a tremendous job, she really did," Madison said. "She had 14 saves on the night. Our defensive line, the first half we played so well. We never really played badly, there were just some bouoces that didn't go our way."

On Monday the Rayders bounced back East Jordan, 6-1, at home.

Carlson, Savannah Joseph, Cristin Cole and Cora Taylor each had an assist.

Grace Glenny and Shelby Robinson were Charlevoix's defensive standouts, Madison said, while Katie Paramo was a standout in the offensive end.

All four Charlevoix goals came in the second half.

Conference champs, again!

Rayders' depth key in second straight dual conference titles

GRAYLING — Charlevoix won just four of 34 events Wednesday at the Lake Michigan Conference Track & Field Championships at Grayling High School.

But depth goes a long way in high school track and field.

Amber Way won two individual events and the Rayders were first in both the boys and girls 3200-meter relays as Charlevoix captured both team titles for the second consecutive year.

The Rayder boys finished with 146 points, while Boyne City, 122, was second, and East Jordan, 91, finished third.

Charlevoix finished with 148.5 points in the girls meet, while Harbor Springs edged Traverse City St. Francis, 128-125.5, for second place.

Way won the 1600- and 3200-meter runs to lead the Charlevoix girls.

Charlevoix's lone win in the boys meet came in the 3200 relay, but the Rayders used their exemplary depth in claiming the team title.

For example, the Rayders went 1-2-3 in the 1600 meter run as Way's teammates, Annie Dipert finished second followed by fellow Rayder Olivia Certa.

Molly Jeakle and Madeline Boss placed second and fourth respectively in the 400 meter run.

Makenzi Kage took second in the 300-meter hurdles, Hilary Way took third in the 800-meter run, Certa took second in the 3200 meter run and the Rayder 1600 meter relay team also took second place.

In field events, Jenna Way and Sarah Mackenzie took second in the discus and high jump respectively, while Jenna Way and Madeline Boss took third respectively in the shot put and long jump.

For the boys, the Rayders took second in the 800-meter and 1600-meter relays, Kirk Acharya, Nick Snabes, and Jackson Buday weth 3-4-5 in the 1600 meter run, Nick Plude and Chirs Young took seconds in the 400 meter run and 300-hurdles respectively.

In field events, Josh Hogan took second in high jump and third in shot put, Sawyer Russell and Andrew Taylor took second and fourth respectively in the pole vault, and Jake McLean and Andrew Plude took third and fourth respectively in the long jump.

Hot stuff: Rayders roll in regionals

Eleven Charlevoix qualifiers headed to state championships

STEVE FOLEY
Northern Michigan Review

EAST JORDAN — On an extremely hot day, certain performances also rose to the occasion much like the mercury in the thermometer.

A total of nine Charlevoix High School female athletes qualified for the Division III state track and field finals on June 2 at Comstock Park as the Rayders finished runner-up in a the 15-team regional Saturday at sun-splashed Boswell Stadium in East Jordan.

Benzie Central won both sides of the meet — which took place in 90-degree-plus temperatures which forced watering stations to be assembled on the track in both the 1600- and 3200-meter runs — as the Huskie girls finished with 150 points and Charlevoix was second with 90. The Benzie boys finished with 103.5 points and Kingsley was second with 71.

The top two finishers in each event qualified for the state meet, as well as those who met an additional qualifying standard.

"I thought we had a very good day," Charlevoix girls coach Mary Plude said. "Those we wanted to get to the state meet, we accomplished every goal in getting nine of them to the state meet and they rose up."

The Rayder girls were led by senior Molly Jeakle, who qualified for state in four events including the 3200 relay with Olivia Certa, Kourtney Putman and Amber Way, which finished second in 9 minutes, 54.55 seconds; the 1600 relay (Caroline Boss, Madeline Boss, Putman), which finished third in 4:16.94. Jeakle also qualified in the 800, 2:23.67 (second); and the 400, 1:01.75 (third).

"Molly had to be a little conservative in the 1800)," Plude said. "She ran in four events and I know she really wants to run that (800) in the state meet. Our 11600)) relay also ran really well.

"As for the heat, it wasn't as detrimental as we thought it'd be for the race. The kids handled it well. They knew it was there and we just tried not to talk about it."

Also for the Rayder girls, senior Sarah Mackenzie qualified for state in the high jump as she placed fourth at 5 feet; while another senior, Makenzi Kage, qualified in the 300 hurdles, placing second in 50.15.

"Sarah (Mackenzie) missed her first jump, but from there it just clicked," Plude said. "That's really exciting for a senior who's never gone (to state) before and who just picked up the event last year.

"I'm very proud of both Sarah and Mackenzie in their senior year. They've both worked hard and got what they deserved."

Charlevoix freshman Madeline Boss also punched her ticket to the state meet as she placed fifth in the long jump, 15-8; while freshman Amber Way set a school record in the 1600, 5:17.80, and placed third and also qualified, as did senior Annie Dipert, who was fifth in 5:27.67.

Certa won the 3200 in 11:47.61; while Amber Way was second, 11:48.76.

"For (Certa) to be a regional champ is great," Plude said. "She's gone through a lot and she and Amber were just picture-perfect. They didn't show a lot of distress in the heat and they were not challenged, even from the get-go."

For the Charlevoix boys, who finished in fifth place with 53.5 points, the 3200 relay team of Nicholas Plude, Vinnie Vonlau, Will Jeakle and Andrew Plude placed second in 8:17.02; while the 1600 relay team of the same quartet also qualified for state by finishing second, 3:33.19.

"The day before the meet, Vinnie Vonlau rolled his ankle," Charlevoix boys' coach Ken Plude said. "It was more nerve-racking than it probably looked for Vinnie in those relays, but I wasn't going to take him out. He's a senior and he ran great. He didn't get a chance to compete in the fall (cross country), so this was great for him.

"I thought we competed very well considering the heat. I pulled a lot of kids out of some events to try to get those two relays to the state meet. As a team, we scored about where I thought we would. Our 400 relay had an outstanding race and Jackson (Buday) and Kirk (Acharya) ran really well in the (3200) going fourth and fifth (respectively). We competed very well and we gave it our best shot. I'm very proud of all of them."

STEVE FOLEY/NEWS-REVIEW
Charlevoix freshman Amber Way (right) and junior Olivia Certa lead the pack during the 3,200-meter run Saturday in East Jordan at the Division III regional meet at Boswell Stadium. Certa won the race in 11 minutes, 47.61 seconds, while Way was second, 11:48.76.

Rayders up and down in pre-district tune-ups

The Charlevoix Rayder varsity baseball team has been up and down in a series of non-conference games as they prepare to start district tournament action next week, but along the way they and an opponent managed to raise more than $2,600 for prostate cancer research.

On Thursday, May 17, the Rayders hosted the Pellston Hornets for the first-ever Athletes for A Cure event. The event included a challenge between the two teams to see who could raise more money for prostate cancer research. When all was said and done the Hornets were the far-and-away winner in the fundraising challenge. The square off was more balanced on the ball diamond as the Rayders won the first game 6-2 and then fell in the nightcap 8-3.

Charlevoix freshman Nate Moon struck out four in earning his first varsity win in the opener. Moon allowed five hits and walked six for the win.

Isaac Klooster, Coby Herriman, Tommy Zipp, Moon, Luke Klinger and Will Telgenhof each singled for Charlevoix. Klooster drove in three runs, while Zipp and Klinger had one RBI apiece.

"(Moon) did an excellent job keeping our batters off balance," Pellston coach Randy Bricker said.

Nick Kasuhowski allowed four hits, walked one and struck out two over 4 1/3 innings for the victory. Cameron went the final 1 2/3 innings, striking out three.

Zipp had an RBI double to lead Charlevoix, while Moon, Herriman and Jesse Drost each singled.

Pellston was 16-12, Charlevoix was 11-12 following the game.

On Friday the Rayders traveled to Clio where they dropped a non-conference double-header to the Mustangs 10-4 and 8-4.

Zipp struck out five in taking the loss in game one. Sutherland, Herriman, Potter and Morgan Stewart had two hits apiece.

Will Telgenhof doubled for Charlevoix in game two. Sutherland took the loss.

On Saturday, the Rayders remained downstate to play Burton Bently. This time Charlevoix was the team holding the broom, as they swept Bently 14-0 and 10-0.

Herriman struck out 10 in tossing a one-hitter in the opener, then Andrew Potter fanned nine in the nightcap as the Rayders earned the non-league sweep.

Herriman improved to 8-1 on the year and upped his season strikeout total to 103 through 48 innings. His career strikeout total, 310, is a school record. Herriman broke the school career strikeout record last season, so every strikeout he notches this year ups the bar in the record books.

Noah Certa and Tommy Zipp both singled and doubled for Charlevoix in game one, while Shane Sutherland and Luke Klinger added two hits apiece.

Potter allowed just three hits for the win in game two as Charlevoix improved to 13-14.

Isaac Klooster had three hits, Certa added two, and KeNen Borths singled to lead the Rayders at the plate.

On Tuesday, the Rayders split a non-conference double-header with Travese City Christian, winning the opener 2-0 and falling the the nightcap 4-1.

Nate Moon struck out seven in pitching his first career shutout in the opener. Moon allowed three hits while walking two. Coby Herriman singled and doubled. Moon had an RBI double, and Isaac Klooster and Noah Certa each singled for the Rayders.

Will Telgenhof struck out five, walked one and allowed four hits in taking the loss in game two. Moon and Klooster each singled.

Charlevoix was 14-15 as of Wednesday.

The Rayders were slated to travel to Central Lake for a non-conference double-header Thursday.

JV BASEBALL

Logan Eckhardt homered, doubled and was the winning pitcher in leading the Rayders to a 16-4 non-conference win at home over Johannesburg-Lewiston on Friday.

Eckhardt struck out nine, walked two and give up six hits. Also for the Rayders, Justin Pearl had two doubles, and Jared Cole, Devin Largent and Jon Frieberg each doubled.

Johannesburg-Lewiston forfeited the second game because of an injury. Charlevoix's JV squad was scheduled to play its final game of the season Thursday at home against Glen Lake.

Lady Rayders split with Hornets

The Charlevoix Rayder varsity softball team split a non-conference double-header with Pellston on Thursday, May 17, winning the opener 9-1 and falling in the nightcap 12-3.

Charlevoix's Katie Hybl finished with six hits on the night.

Hybl, Chelsie Hoffman and Anna Moon had three hits apiece for the Rayders in the opener, while Kelsey Pischner added two hits, and Nicole Pischner, Kristen Mielke and Kaitlin Louiska had a hit apiece.

Mielke struck out five and scattered three hits for the victory.

Shelby Hughey doubled, and Kelly Lewis and Megan Milbrandt each singled for Pellston. Milbrandt struck out two in taking the loss. Kali Fyke pitched an inning of relief for the Hornets, striking out one.

Lewis and Breah Carter finished with three hits apiece to lead the Hornets in game two, while Tori Kirsch singled and doubled and drove in two runs. Also for Pellston, Hughey had two hits, and Tori Rybinski and Milbrandt each singled. Fyke struck out two for the victory.

Hybl had three hits to lead Charlevoix, while Nicole Pischner and Hoffman added two each, and Moon, Mielke and Jennifer Arehey had one apiece. Hybl took the loss.

Charlevoix was 13-11 and Pellston is 18-10 following Thursdays games.

On Saturday, the Rayders played in the Christi Hoesli tournament hosted by Harbor Light at Ed White Field in Petoskey. The Rayders fell 1-0 in the opener against the host Swordsmen and then lost 5-4 to Posen 6-4 to Rudyard.

Katie Hybl had three hits in each of the second two games. Hoffman, Mielke and Jennifer Archey each had a hit in both of those games.

Moon had a big hit in the sixth inning in the Posen game that drove in two runs in the sixth to tie it.

"The girls play good defense but couldnt string many hits together," Rayder coach Ken Hoffman said. "Katie Hyble and Kristen Mielke both pitched well in all three games."

The Rayders were slated to travel to Central Lake for a non-conference double-header on Thursday.

Rayders wrap up solid season on the courts

The Charlevoix Rayder girls varsity tennis team wrapped up its 2012 season with third and fourth place finishes at the conference and regional meets, respectively.

On Tuesday, the Rayders finished in a three-way tie for third place with Elk Rapids and Grayling in the Lake Michigan Conference Girls Tennis Championships at Traverse City Central High School.

Harbor Springs placed first in five flights as the Rams won the conference title finishing with 21 points, three better than runner-up Traverse City St. Francis. Charlevoix, Elk Rapids and Grayling tied for third with 5 points each, while Boyne City was sixth with 2.

Five of the Rayders' flights made it to the semi finals but ultimately fell to the strengths of Harbor Springs and St. Francis.

The Rayders' usual No.1 singles Kelsey Way did not make an appearance and neither did No. 1 doubles player Cassidy Peebles because a knee surgery on Monday.

"With all the changes, many flights were boosted up and therefore playing a higher level than they had all season," Rayder coach Audra Randall said. "I thought everyone took (the changes) in good spirits and put their positive play out there and left everything on the court".

Rayder results from the league championship meet include:

No. 1 singles, Madi Carey was defeated by Dami Gray 6-2, 6-1

No. 2 singles, Kelsea Stevens was defeated by St. Francis' Lena Popp, 6-3, 6-3

The camps will take place in three sessions, a "toddler camp," a "youth camp" and a "team camp" which will take place cooperatively with the Lowell High School football program.

The Toddler Camp will take place from 11-11:45 a.m. on June 11-13 at Kipke Field. This camp is for children ages 4 through incoming first graders. Camp will include a T-shirt, daily snacks and giveaways. Instructors for the camp will include Rayder football coaching staff and members of the 2012 high school football teams. The cost is $20 per child.

The Youth Camp will take place from 9-10:30 a.m. on June 11-13 at Kipke Field. This camp is for players entering grade 2-7 in the fall. Instructors for the camp will include Rayder football coaching staff and members of the 2012 high school football teams. The cost is $30 per child.

The Team Camp will take place on June 14 in Lowell and is designed for players going into grades 8-12. Campers leave from the high school for Lowell at 7 a.m. and are expected to return around 11 p.m. The Charlevoix and Lowell football staffs will be working together as instructors for the camp. The cost is $40 per person.

Camp organizers have made provisions will be made for inclement weather.

All camp registrations will take place one half hour prior to the beginning of the first day of each camp.

Registration for fall flag and Pop Warner football will be available from 10:30-11 a.m. on June 11-13.

Registrations will be accepted right up to the start of the camps, but players registering after June 4 cannot be guaranteed a properly-sized t-shirt. Registration forms are available at the high school, middle school or may be downloaded at www.charlevoixcourier.com.

New Rayder varsity head football coach Jason Katt comes to Charlevoix after many years serving as the defensive coordinator for Lowell's highly-successful football program.

ties in the first half, but we just couldn't finish," Madison said. "We talked about that at halftime. Our defense did a great job in the first half, and then in the second we scored three goals within the first eight minutes."

Kiteley opened the scoring two minutes into the second half off a feed from Anna Way. Hannah Herboldsheimer scored three minutes later off a Sydney Carlson assist.

Just two minutes later, Kiteley scored again with an assist from Megan Peters, then Kaitlin Hinkley closed the scoring off an assist from Leah Davis.

Madison lauded the defensive play of Carolena Elowsky, Savannah Joseph and Kelly Greyerbiehl.

"Carolena was just outstanding," Madison said. "She did a good job playing against Grayling's Hannah (Haven) and just shut her down. Our entire team defense was outstanding."

Looking ahead to Thursday's game Maddison said, "It's going to be a great game. The conference championship is on the line, it's parent's night, there'll be a big crowd and it's kind of a preview for our district."

Four retiring from middle school staff

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

Charlevoix will say goodbye to another round of experienced teachers at the conclusion of its school year on Friday, June 1.

Middle school math teacher Kay Wasilewski, band director Jayne Bennett Winchester, fifth grade teacher Helen Donahue and special education aide Judy Clock, will all retire at the end of the school year.

"It's a good life, being a teacher, but it's changed very dramatically since I started. It's a lot harder than it ever was," said Wasilewski, who taught math for 35 years at the middle school.

Accreditation, testing, and recent cuts because of the economy have led to the more difficult world of teaching, she said.

Still, she said she will miss the students and people she works with.

One of those teachers is Jayne Bennett Winchester, the school's high school and middle school band director who, two years ago, also added elementary music education to her teaching load.

Winchester is retiring after 10 years teaching in Charlevoix. She spent most of her career teaching in the Northview school district near Grand Rapids, then teaching in Petoskey and finally Charlevoix.

"Although I love teaching elementary music, it's an overload — too much for one person," said Winchester, who spent 20-25 weekends per year with the band at various concerts, parades, festivals and sporting events. "I hope that the next band director builds large band numbers, and keeps a strong band program going with the support of the administration."

Winchester hopes music remains a priority in the district — its interdisciplinary benefits are strong, agreed Wasilewski.

"I could always see that some of my best math students were some of the best

13 years of perfect attendance

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

Newly-graduated Charlevoix senior Isaac Klooster has a rare claim: he has made it through 13 years of school, kindergarten through grade 12, without missing a single day of school.

He started to realize he had perfect attendance just after middle school.

"And I only got sick on weekends," he said.

Joy Klooster, Isaac's mother, said Isaac's attendance was a mixture of a strong immune system and luck.

"He's rarely sick, and when he is, he's only sick for a brief time," she said. "It just seemed to work out that it was on weekends. He had no broken bones and no major illnesses, so that was pretty lucky."

It's not that Klooster and her husband, Nathan, pushed their son unnecessarily hard.

"I'm a nurse, and I know how people can be contagious, so (staying home) was always an option. But he was just never really that sick that he couldn't go to school," she said.

Too, Joy and her husband planned vacations during summer vacation so that their children, Isaac and Megan, never had to take time off. Megan, who has just graduated from Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City and is now attending Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant, had a near-perfect attendance record: she missed only part of a day in high school.

"My daughter was upset because she had missed a half day her entire school career," said Klooster. "She had broken her arm in a snowboarding accident and had to go see the doctor during the week."

Isaac did not have to contend with a broken arm, but he did have to make a decision over a long-standing tradition, senior skip day. But the decision was pretty easy.

"I just knew I had to go to school," Isaac said.

He was one of only five seniors in attendance that day.

In addition to his school duties, Isaac plays left field for the Charlevoix baseball team, is active in his church's youth group and has taken an elective construction class all four years of high school — another incentive that kept him coming to school, he said.

"This year, we built a house, and that's keeping us busy," he said.

Isaac plans to attend Northwestern Michigan College to study plumbing, heating, ventilation and air conditioning

City replaces two fire trucks with one

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

The Charlevoix City Council on Monday, May 21, approved buying a "gently used" 1994 aerial fire truck from a suburban New York state fire department to replace two aging trucks in its fleet.

It was just one of many items on a very full agenda that also included a public hearing, discussion and vote on a designation that will allow the city council the option to approve more liquor licenses downtown.

The council unanimously approved (council member Bryan Vollmer was absent) a request from city fire chief Paul Ivan to purchase the aerial truck at a cost of $215,000. The Sutphen fire truck will come to Charlevoix from a volunteer fire department in the suburban Buffalo, N.Y., area. Ivan said he ran across the truck for sale by accident and was able to see it in person when traveling to New York for a conference in early May. Ivan described the truck as being in excellent condition, noting that the department it is coming from was downsizing because it recently came to the conclusion that it was more truck than they need for the 2.5 mile fire district they cover.

Ivan explained to the council that in recent years the department's 27-year-old backup or "second-out" pumper, 5302, and its 30-year-old ladder truck, 5316, have both become "maintenance headaches" to keep in service.

He said the department's leadership decided the best course of action would be to replace both trucks with one truck, but made it a priority to not have the change affect the department's Insurance Services Office rating. The rating, which is supposed to be a measure of department's firefighting ability, is used by many insurance companies to determine homeowners' insurance rates. He said fire officials have been looking for a good-condition used truck because the price of similar new trucks can range from $950,000 to $1.2 million.

Ivan said although the pump on the newly purchased truck has a 1,500 gallons per minute capacity, versus the 2,000 gallons per minute capacity of 5302, the city department's fleet will still be 500 gallons per minute above the threshold for its current rating.

The truck will be sent to a maintenance facility where its equipment will be tested and serviced, and the truck will be re-lettered for Charlevoix Fire Department. The purchase contract also includes delivery to Charlevoix.

Ivan said he understands there could be some in the community who might be upset at the department taking 5302 out of service because it was purchased by the firefighters association after extensive fundraising efforts in the mid 1980s. But he said the truck has just become impractical to keep in the fleet.

Some of the other business the council conducted included:

— The council unanimously approved a contract with engineering firm Prein and Newhof to help the city's wastewater treatment plant meet new state ammonia discharge regulations that will take effect in 2015. The contract calls for the amount not to exceed $79,000 and the city will be applying for a state grant that could pay up to 90 percent of that cost.

Under the plan the engineers would take a two-track approach. First it would negotiate with the state for ammonia discharge limits that are reasonable given the seasonal limitations placed on the system by winter temperatures which hinder the bacteria that consume ammonia. Secondly the firm would work to design a system to meet the negotiated levels.

— The council unanimously approved a request from city police chief Gerard Doan to purchase a new 2013 Ford utility police interceptor from Fox Motors for $26,171.

— The council approved a request from the Lake Charlevoix Mariners to renew and expand its agreement to offer small, non-motorized boat storage racks at Depot Beach. City staff and organization officials said the program has been well-received and no complaints have been received from Depot Beach users. The new agreement expands the maximum number of boats allowed to 36, up from 20.

— The council awarded a bid for $50,356 to Communications Consultants for a new phone system for city offices. City treasurer Rick Brandi said the new system will replace the current system which is more than 25 years old and lacks voice mail capacity. He said the new system will save significantly on monthly costs as it will make use of the city's new fiber optic cable capacity. Brandi also noted that, not only did the bid come in more than $30,000 under the amount budgeted for the project, but the contractor is allowing the city to spread the cost over two fiscal years.

BOYNE FALLS

Sheriff substation contract awarded

BRANDON HUBBARD
Northern Michigan Review

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners approved a $263,000 bid Wednesday, May 23, to construct a new sheriff substation in Boyne Falls to improve operations in the eastern half of the county.

The winning bid went to Birchwood Construction, of Harbor Springs, on a unanimous vote. Charlevoix County Commissioners Robert Drebenstedt and Chris Christensen were absent.

The present board members lamented not being able to take the lowest bidder at $41,000 less than the accepted amount, but that contractor did not enter all the required paperwork.

"You know, when you put the bid process out there, you have to follow the rules," said Joel Evans, Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners chair. "We set up rules and everyone has to follow them. Unfortunately, we had a lower bid but they didn't complete the bid properly."

Commissioner Shirlene Tripp voted yes, but voiced her concern that the project was over the original discussed amount by $63,000.

Charlevoix County Sheriff Don Schneider had asked the county to consider building a $200,000 outpost near Boyne Falls to replace a small, village-owned office used by deputies, arguing the one-room facilities is inadequate and has limited privacy for conducting interviews or investigations.

Schneider said he hopes to see construction begin sometime in June and the building ready for use by early September.

Jazz @ the Library concerts begin July 11

The Charlevoix Public Library present the sixth season of JATL: Jazz at the Library

JATL is a program of live concerts chronicling jazz music through the ages. This year standard jazz will be pulled in new directions in a unique setting with an eclectic mix of musicians. There will be many non-traditional players including the head of the violin department at Michigan State University, steel drums and new vocalists.

Concerts take place at 7 p.m. each Wednesday, July 11 through August (except Venetian Week), in Grandma Geri's Children's Garden at the library. A special soloist will join the JATL trio of Steve Stargardt, Andy Evans and Chris Ames each week to bring the music alive.

This year JATL: Jazz @ the Library is also planning a feature event "A Tribute to the Big Bands" where attendees may dance to original big band themes with the live Razor Entertainment Dance Band. The big band event will be Aug. 8 under a tent on the library grounds; bring your own chair. The big band event is sponsored by the Charlevoix County Community Foundation. Visit the library's website, www.charlevoixlibrary.org, for more details and a full list of the musicians.

Each JATL performance will be prefaced by a brief introductory talk describing the formation of jazz, stylistic changes over time, or profiles of famous artists who worked to affect those changes. All concerts are free and open to the public.

JATL is made possible through the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Public Library, patrons of previous JATL concerts, Bobbie and Bob Williams, Melvy and Milford Lewis and Don and Jan Hand. Weather permitting, performances will be in the garden; for inclement weather, concerts will be moved to the library's community meeting room.

Fundraiser to support family health in many ways

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

Charlevoix Area Hospital officials are hoping that a new fundraising event will foster better health for area families in a whole host of ways.

The hospital will host its first-ever 1.5 mile "Charlevoix Area Hospital School Nurse 5210 Family Fun Run" on Saturday, June 9, at the hospital, 14700 Lakeshore Drive in Charlevoix.

The 5210 theme promotes five fruits and vegetables, no more than two hours of "screen time," one hour of physical activity, and zero sugary drinks per day.

The fun run will begin at 9 a.m. with registration starting at 8 a.m. The registration fee is $20 per family. Registration fees includes a healthy, colorful breakfast and opportunities to try fun activities including karate, yoga, and dance after the walk. Local area high school students will have a face painting booth and each family will take home a cherry or grape tomato plant.

Local author and cartoonist, Dick Evans will read from his new book "Discover the Magic of Rainbows" which promotes colorful, healthy eating. He will also conduct fun, informal classes on the "art of cartooning."

All proceeds from this event will benefit the Charlevoix Area Hospital School Nurse Program which currently employees four full-time school nurses who cover Bellaire, Concord Boyne, Boyne Falls, Central Lake, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Ellsworth, Northwest Academy, and St. Mary's School in Charlevoix.

Kathy Jacobsen, who is Charlevoix Area Hospital's director of community health education and the school nurse program said the idea behind the event is not just to raise money for the school nurses, also to do what the nurses do every day in their school — promote healthy lifestyles.

"With this run we are trying to establish a habit and example of a healthy family lifestyle," Jacobsen said. "If parents aren't on board, the children can't do it alone. Children model behavior and love to do what grown-ups do — positive or negative."

She said plans for the event have recently included offering blood sugar checks where parents and children (with parental permission) could learn instantly if their values fit into the normal, pre-diabetic, or diabetic range.

She noted that recent research has indicated the "skyrocketing" incidence of type 2 diabetes in children because of obesity.

"In the past, it was always referred to as 'adult onset diabetes,' but no one is using that phrase anymore.' Today, children will have to face these problems sooner whereas in the past they were primarily adult issues."

Besides diabetes, she said, overweight children are at a higher risk to have strokes, develop high blood pressure and high cholesterol, and surprisingly, gall bladder disease.

She cited U.S. Department of Health and Human Services statistics which estimate that that 7 million people in the U.S. are diabetic and don't know it.

City replaces two fire trucks with one

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

The Charlevoix City Council on Monday, May 21, approved buying a "gently used" 1994 aerial fire truck from a suburban New York state fire department to replace two aging trucks in its fleet.

It was just one of many items on a very full agenda that also included a public hearing, discussion and vote on a designation that will allow the city council the option to approve more liquor licenses downtown.

The council unanimously approved (council member Bryan Vollmer was absent) a request from city fire chief Paul Ivan to purchase the aerial truck at a cost of $215,000. The Sutphen fire truck will come to Charlevoix from a volunteer fire department in the suburban Buffalo, N.Y., area. Ivan said he ran across the truck for sale by accident and was able to see it in person when traveling to New York for a conference in early May. Ivan described the truck as being in excellent condition, noting that the department it is coming from was downsizing because it recently came to the conclusion that it was more truck than they need for the 2.5 mile fire district they cover.

Ivan explained to the council that in recent years the department's 27-year-old back-up or "second-out" pumper, 5302, and its 30-year-old ladder truck, 5316, have both become "maintenance headaches" to keep in service.

He said the department's leadership decided the best course of action would be to replace both trucks with one truck, but made it a priority to not have the change affect the department's Insurance Services Office rating. The rating, which is supposed to be a measure of department's firefighting ability, is used by many insurance companies to determine homeowners' insurance rates. He said fire officials have been looking for a good-condition used truck because the price of similar new trucks can range from $950,000 to $1.2 million.

Ivan said although the pump on the newly purchased truck has a 1,500 gallons per minute capacity, versus the 2,000 gallons per minute capacity of 5302, the city department's fleet will still be 500 gallons per minute above the threshold for its current rating.

The truck will be sent to a maintenance facility where its equipment will be tested and serviced, and the truck will be re-lettered for Charlevoix Fire Department. The purchase contract also includes delivery to Charlevoix.

Ivan said he understands there could be some in the community who might be upset at the department taking 5302 out of service because it was purchased by the firefighters association after extensive fundraising efforts in the mid 1980s. But he said the truck has just become impractical to keep in the fleet.

Some of the other business the council conducted included:

— The council unanimously approved a contract with engineering firm Prein and Newhof to help the city's wastewater treatment plant meet new state ammonia discharge regulations that will take effect in 2015. The contract calls for the amount not to exceed $79,000 and the city will be applying for a state grant that could pay up to 90 percent of that cost.

Under the plan the engineers would take a two-track approach. First it would negotiate with the state for ammonia discharge limits that are reasonable given the seasonal limitations placed on the system by winter temperatures which hinder the bacteria that consume ammonia. Secondly the firm would work to design a system to meet the negotiated levels.

— The council unanimously approved a request from city police chief Gerard Doan to purchase a new 2013 Ford utility police interceptor from Fox Motors for $26,171.

— The council approved a request from the Lake Charlevoix Mariners to renew and expand its agreement to offer small, non motorized boat storage racks at Depot Beach. City staff and organization officials said the program has been well-received and no complaints have been received from Depot Beach users. The new agreement expands the maximum number of boats allowed to 36, up from 20.

The council awarded a bid for $50,356 to Communications Consultants for a new phone system for city offices. City treasurer Rick Brandi said the new system will replace the current system which is more than 25 years old and lacks voice mail capacity. He said the new system will save significantly on monthly costs as it will make use of the city's new fiber optic cable capacity. Brandi also noted that not only did the bid come in more than $30,000 under the amount budgeted for the project, but the contractor is allowing the city to spread the cost over two fiscal years.

BOYNE FALLS

Sheriff substation contract awarded

BRANDON HUBBARD
Northern Michigan Review

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners approved a $263,000 bid Wednesday, May 23, to construct a new sheriff substation in Boyne Falls to improve operations in the eastern half of the county.

The winning bid went to Birchwood Construction, of Harbor Springs, on a unanimous vote. Charlevoix County Commissioners Robert Drebenstedt and Chris Christensen were absent.

The present board members lamented not being able to take the lowest bidder at $41,000 less than the accepted amount. But that contractor did not enter all the required paperwork.

"You know, when you put the bid process out there, you have to follow the rules," said Joel Evans, Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners chair. "We set up rules and everyone has to follow them. Unfortunately, we had a lower bid but they didn't complete the bid properly."

Commissioner Shirlene Tripp voted yes, but voiced her concern that the project was over the original discussed amount by $63,000.

Charlevoix County Sheriff Don Schneider had asked the county to consider building a $200,000 outpost near Boyne Falls to replace a small, village-owned office used by deputies, arguing the one-room facilities is inadequate and has limited privacy for conducting interviews or investigations.

Schneider said he hopes to see construction begin sometime in June and the building ready for use by early September.

Jazz @ the Library concerts begin July 11

The Charlevoix Public Library present the sixth season of JATL: Jazz at the Library.

JATL is a program of live concerts chronicling jazz music through the ages. This year standard jazz will be pulled in new directions in a unique setting with an eclectic mix of musicians. There will be many non-traditional players including the head of the violin department at Michigan State University, steel drums and new vocalists.

Concerts take place at 7 p.m. each Wednesday, July 11 through August (except Venetian Week), in Grandma Geri's Children's Garden at the library. A special soloist will join the JATL trio of Steve Stargardt, Andy Evans and Chris Ames each week to bring the music alive.

This year JATL: Jazz @ the Library is also planning a feature event "A Tribute to the Big Bands" where attendees may dance to original big band themes with the live Razor Entertainment Dance Band. The big band event will be Aug. 8 under a tent on the library grounds; bring your own chair. The big band event is sponsored by the Charlevoix County Community Foundation. Visit the library's website, www.charlevoixlibrary.org, for more details and a full list of the musicians.

Each JATL performance will be prefaced by a brief introductory talk describing the formation of jazz, stylistic changes over time, or profiles of famous artists who worked to affect those changes. All concerts are free and open to the public.

JATL is made possible through the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Public Library, patrons of previous JATL concerts, Bobbie and Bob Williams, Melvy and Milford Lewis and Don and Jan Hand. Weather permitting, performances will be in the garden; for inclement weather, concerts will be moved to the library's community meeting room.

Fundraiser to support family health in many ways

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

Charlevoix Area Hospital officials are hoping that a new fundraising event will foster better health for area families in a whole host of ways.

The hospital will host its first-ever 1.5 mile "Charlevoix Area Hospital School Nurse 5210 Family Fun Run" on Saturday, June 9, at the hospital, 14700 Lakeshore Drive in Charlevoix.

The 5210 theme promotes five fruits and vegetables, no more than two hours of "screen time," one hour of physical activity, and zero sugary drinks per day.

The fun run will begin at 9 a.m. with registration starting at 8 a.m. The registration fee is $20 per family. Registration fees includes a healthy, colorful breakfast and opportunities to try fun activities including karate, yoga, and dance after the walk. Local area high school students will have a face painting booth and each family will take home a cherry or grape tomato plant.

Local author and cartoonist, Dick Evans will read from his new book "Discover the Magic of Rainbows" which promotes colorful, healthy eating. He will also conduct fun, informal classes on the "art of cartooning."

All proceeds from this event will benefit the Charlevoix Area Hospital School Nurse Program which currently employees four full-time school nurses who cover Bellaire, Concord Boyne, Boyne Falls, Central Lake, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Ellsworth, Northwest Academy, and St. Mary's School in Charlevoix.

Faithfulness in marriage: Beware of 'emotional affairs'

A LOOK AT LIFE

Gayle Gennett

Prior to a couple getting married I like to cover pertinent information proven helpful before entering married bliss. I usually stick to topics like communication, finances and intimacy. Once in a great while I am thrown a wrench and need to delve deeper into our discussions. There seems to be a situation that is becoming more of a regular occurrence so I thought maybe I could help others by bringing it up.

It's not unusual for me to see a couple who are getting married for the second time. When the first marriage ends in divorce because of an affair, I feel it's important to discuss this. Although most couples have the belief that an affair ends a marriage, research tells us the marriage was already breaking apart and the unhappy spouse was seeking solace elsewhere until they were caught. Instead of communicating about their needs to each other they went outside of their marriage for support, and I don't mean seeing a counselor or his or her pastor.

If the marriage was going well in the first place there wouldn't be the need to seek out someone new to add to the dynamics. What seems to be occurring in this overwhelming busyness of everyone's life is the need to feel loved and cared for more than ever and, because of this need, there are more emotional affairs taking place. Emotional affairs may be more subtle than sexual affairs but the there is no denying that the marriage is in need of a tune-up.

This type of affair starts out as a friendship where you share information about your day, the kids, or what's taking place at work. As time progresses, you may find yourself thinking, "Hey this person is really listening to me and they understand me." You may also find yourself looking forward to your next conversation. You begin to turn to them for a listening ear. What starts out as harmless texting "call me" turns into "I miss you."

What began as chit-chat turns into an emotional need to share more than how your day is going, but may include sharing how unsatisfied you are with your spouse. If you find yourself getting angry with your spouse more often and not working it through with them and beginning to turn to your "friend" for support, then an emotional affair is beginning to blossom. Psychotherapist M. Gary Neuman says, "It's not so much that you're not talking with your spouse anymore, but you're not sharing with them your innermost thoughts and even funny jokes. You begin to save your interesting personal experiences and share them with your "friend" instead of your spouse. Even if you never so much as touch each other physically, this emotional attachment has just as much potential as a sexual fling to damage your marriage. It takes a lot of energy to share enough emotions and love for three. In an emotional affair, more energy begins to take place outside of the marriage to keep things going smoothly.

Platonic relationships between men and women are fine but when they become secret and you find yourself having to delete messages and calls and talk only when the spouse in not around, you are in an emotional affair. Warning signs that your emotional affair is in full swing are: finding yourself withdrawing from your spouse and you think about when you can communicate with your "friend" again.

The sharing of feelings and problems with your "friend" instead of your spouse because they understand.

Once you are drawn into an emotional affair it can feel so good you don't want it to end. Sometimes the thought of not having sex may make the connection seem spell binding.

You will know when your innocent friendship has gotten out of control if you would be embarrassed to have your spouse see you interact in person with your "friend." Sometimes emotional affairs become physical — especially if you find yourself feeling vulnerable and turn to the other person for more support than you would from anyone else. You may move the level of communication to suggestive emails, texting and finally, you may begin to put yourself in a situation where the two of you could be alone. Now there is potential that this marriage may end.

In my next column I will focus on getting your marriage back on track and things to do to keep your marriage and yourself emotionally healthy.

LOOKING BACK…

In 1930, Belvedere Club member Logan Thompson, head of the Champion Paper Company in Ohio, purchased the fifth in his series of vessels named after his wife. The boat was one of an identical five built at the Bath Iron Works Corp. in Bath, Maine. At 191 feet in length, it was considered to be the most beautiful vessel ever to part the waters of Charlevoix, so graceful it looked to be gliding atop the water, not through it. When the Sylvia passed across Round Lake to and from her berth on the Belvedere, Bridge Street traffic came to a standstill. But sensing what was about to happen in a world slowly going mad, Thompson donated the Sylvia to a United States government gearing up for expected hostilities. In April of 1941, a full eight months before Pearl Harbor and our involvement in a world war, the Sylvia, painted with the American flag, headed into Lake Charlevoix for her farewell cruise before leaving for the Brooklyn Navy Yard, knowing she would never return. But she had seen much in Charlevoix, including bringing in one of the 1930s' most notable couples as Thompson's guests, actress Katherine Hepburn and aviator Howard Hughes.

This image is one of 850 in the Charlevoix Historical Society's most recent DVD titled "Charlevoix, Michigan — A Pictorial Journey through 16 Decades." The disc is available at the Society's Harsha House Museum, 103 State St. next to the Congregational Church, from 1-4 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday. It is also available at the Central Drug Store, Round Lake Books, Castle Farms, and Ell-Ait Gallery. Call (231) 547-0373 for mailing and society membership information.

New nursery blooms on Bridge Street

ANNE KELLY
Special to the Courier

There are more than petunias blooming on Bridge Street this spring thanks to Chris Helstrom, owner and manager of the new nursery Bridge Street Blooms.

Helstrom has high hopes for a successful enterprise. "It's just the beginning," he said of his family-owned-and-operated business. "We have plans to erect a permanent glass greenhouse on the property and expand our operations to create a complete nursery including trees, shrubs, mulch and bulk bark along with the annuals and perennials already on hand in the next couple of years."

Located on Bridge Street on the former site of Bethany Lutheran Church at 1403 Bridge St., there is easy access and plenty of parking.

Helstrom acquired an affinity to the nursery aspects of businesses he has been associated with for the past 20 years including Bosmans which, moving from Montana to Charlevoix, he started six years ago.

He is engaged to be married to Mary Edger (formerly Lenhardt) of Petoskey's Radio Shack, this summer. Her 23-year-old daughter, Lindi, has already participated by designing and painting the highway sign and her 16-year-old son, Austin, will help out in retail on busy weekends.

Helstrom finds himself marrying into a family that has built a Radio Shack business (Charlevoix, Boyne City and Petoskey) that has been around for 37 years. He hopes to duplicate that record by following suit with his own family-based entrepreneurs. Helstrom's 20-year-old son, Casey, moved back from Montana with his dad to help open up the business. His 22-year-old daughter Kaitlyn is already at work on site, and his 4-year-old son, Keane, will be there at times to help water the plants, get some retail experience and maybe even operate a lemonade stand.

Bridge Street Blooms boasts all Michigan grown plants and a large selection of more than 300 perennials. Ready for planting or already potted and ready to hang, a colorful nursery selection will be available May through mid-July.

"We opened on May 1 and have had an awesome response so far," said Helstrom.

Insurance shop earns 'best' designation

Fremont Insurance, a Michigan-exclusive property and casualty insurance carrier, has designated The Insurance Shop as one of the company's "Best of the Best" insurance agencies.

Only five agencies from across the state — less than three percent of the company's agency force — earn this distinction.

"The Insurance Shop embodies the characteristics necessary to be successful in our industry – hard work, a commitment the customer and the drive to achieve quality business results – even in a challenging economic environment," said Fremont Insurance Company president and CEO Richard Dunning. "We commend The Insurance Shop in this outstanding achievement and we are pleased to present this tribute of our appreciation, admiration and partnership."

In a news release, Fremont officials said each year the company honors insurance agencies that "maintain the highest business standards and performance. The award recognizes agencies that have achieved long-term success in operating a profitable and growing business. The accomplishments of these highly-successful agencies directly impact insurance partners, customers and the community. While business expertise is an important part of the criteria, customer satisfaction and community contributions are also central to this award."

Camp Sea-Gull owners open 'Paddleworks' business

MARK LINDSAY
Northern Michigan Review

Schulman Paddleworks, a supplier of paddles, kayaks, canoes and boating supplies, opened Saturday, May 26, at Camp Sea-Gull near Charlevoix.

Operated by Bill and Jack Schulman, with the support of their families, the new shop at 08580 Boyne City Road is part of a multi-generation combination of outdoor-related businesses. Camp Sea-Gull, the site of the store, has been owned and operated by the brothers' parents, Lew and Regene Schulman, since 1955. Although its summer camp programs were eliminated last year, Camp Sea-Gull remains available for school and organized group use.

Having grown up around the camp, and following in their parents' footsteps, the brothers' new store appears to be a natural choice for them.

"We have taken a life of outdoor trips and discovery of unique gear and tried to bring it into the Paddleworks," Bill noted.

As co-owners, Bill and Jack each bring their own unique travel and outdoor experience to the shop.

"We've both spent our lives camping, hiking and on various outdoor adventures," Bill Schulman noted. "I feel like the Paddleworks will reflect that in the unique products we offer."

The Schulman brothers both have their own families now, who have also grown up around Camp Sea-Gull and the outdoor life it encompasses. Bill's wife, Lori, and Jack's wife, Marsha, also assist them with the start-up and operation of the new store.

"All of our children are now college age, but we do hope to have another generation of Schulmans taking over the family business," Bill Schulman said.

The products offered at Schulman Paddleworks are primarily manufactured by small businesses, rather than large brand names. The brothers discovered many of the items in their travels around the country.

Some of the product lines they carry are: Naish, Whiskey Jack, Arcteryx and the well-known Stormy Kromer line.

"We also want the products we carry to be uniquely usable, and the highest quality," Schulman said. "We feel that the different lines we've brought in are some of the best overall that are available out there."

Although much of the Paddleworks product line is U.S.-made, some items come from other countries such as Canada.

The Naish Stand-Up Paddleboards carried by the store are a quickly growing summer sport item. With a minimum of equipment, stand-up paddleboard users can paddle anything from ocean surf to lakes and rivers without the need for waves.

"Paddleboards are great for Northern Michigan waters, and can be used almost anywhere," Schulman noted.

Paddleboarding offers a full-body workout and is becoming a popular cross-training activity for skiers, snowboarders and other athletes. It also provides a way enjoy nature at the same time.

Business hours for Schulman Paddleworks will be 9 a.m.-noon and 4-7 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Sunday.

For more information on the store or its products, see www.schulmanpaddleworks.com or call (231) 675-8542.

OBITUARY

Marie E. Ance, 91

Marie E. Ance, 91, of Charlevoix, passed away Tuesday, May 29, 2012, at her home.

Born at home, February 21, 1921, in Banks Township, the daughter of Andrew and Minnie (Wynsma) Essenburg. Marie graduated from Ellsworth High School in 1939 as valedictorian of her class.

Marie worked in the business office of the Ellsworth Canning Factory during WWII. On Nov. 27, 1948, Marie married Lysle D. Ance, DDS in Ellsworth. They made their home in Charlevoix where they raised their two daughters, Alice and Laurel.

Marie worked for 17 years as a receptionist and lab assistant for Dr. Robert Anderson, OD, where many area residents remember her fondly.

Marie was an accomplished knitter and seamstress, but may mostly be remembered for her homemade apple pies. She enjoyed playing golf and in her later years became an avid Detroit Tigers fan.

She is survived by her daughters, Alice Ance-Matthews of Troy, Mich., and Laurel D. Ance of Beverly Hills, Mich., as well as many neices and nephews.

Her husband Lysle preceded her in death on Oct. 1, 1996.

Marie was also preceded in death by her parents Minnie and Andrew Essenburg; brothers, Don Essenburg, Bruce Essenburg, and Andrew Essenburg Jr. "Andy;" sisters, Jean Essenburg Rood, and Ruth Essenburg Barkey; and infant twins, Betty and Arlo and baby Laverne (Buddy).

Funeral will be 2 p.m., Saturday, June 2, at the First Congregational Church in Charlevoix, where visitation will begin at 1 p.m. The Rev. Neil Wilson will officiate and burial will take place in the Atwood Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the First Congregational Church, 101 State St., Charlevoix, MI 49720, or to the organization of your choice.

The Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix is handling arrangements.

Foundation's Youth Advisory Committee award $16,000 in grants

Charlevoix High School students Brandon Arp (left) and JJ Wachler are busy volunteering at the Manna Food Project, representing the Charlevoix County Community Foundation's Youth Advisory Committee.

The Youth Advisory Committee of the Charlevoix County Community Foundation recently distributed $16,000 in grants to six local nonprofit agencies to fund programs that benefit young people.

The following agencies received support:

— Child and Family Services of Northwest Michigan ($1,552) to support foster parent recruitment and retention programs.

— Health Department of Northwest Michigan ($1,500) to provide mental health consultations for children ages 0-5, and ($2,273) to support the Safe Routes to Schools planning processes in Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Jordan River Arts Council ($675) to provide materials for the council's school bead project for local fifth-grade students.

— Manna Project ($4,000) for supplies for the Backpacks for Kids program.

MSU Extension/Charlevoix County 4-H ($4,000) to provide scholarships for low income youth to attend summer youth camps.

— Raven Hill Discovery Center ($2,000) for the FREE Second Saturday program for students and families.

Started in 1992, the Youth Advisory Committe was organized to engage local high school students in philanthropy. Sixteen students, representing Beaver Island, Boyne City, Boyne Falls, Charlevoix, East Jordan and Northwest Academy high schools, comprise the group.

Organizations submitting proposals for consideration by the committee are required to appear before the group for a formal interview.

"The interviews really help us to become more familiar with the nonprofit agency and the project they're proposing for funding," said Brandon Arp, a Charlevoix High School junior and committee member.

Casey Keane, a junior at East Jordan High School, is completing her third year as a Youth Advisory Committee member.

"The thing I enjoy the most about YAC is getting the opportunity to see and experience the positive impact that our grants have on the organizations that are helping and providing great experiences for youth in our area," she said.

The Charlevoix County Community Foundation is a grassroots charitable organization made up of various funds all of them established by local donors. Some funds are earmarked for specific causes, and others are open-ended to meet changing needs. The funds are held in permanent endowment, so they can continue to grow and generate income to enhance the quality of life in Charlevoix County, now and for generations to come.

To learn more about the Charlevoix County Community Foundation, including how to make a gift to the Youth Fund, visit the foundation online at www.c3f.org, or call (231) 536-2440.

Smart commute event takes first steps next week

SMART CVX COMMUTE
June 4 - 8, 2012

The first-ever Smart Commute Charlevoix Challenge is ready to take its first steps next week from June 4-8.

Smart Commute Charlevoix is an initiative to support businesses to encourage their employees to find alternative methods of transportation to work for one week. Alternative methods include walking, biking, carpooling, taking public transportation, etc.

Businesses can register to participate for free and will be placed into three categories: small (1-4 employees), medium (5-15 employees) and large (more than 15 employees).

The businesses that have the highest percentage of employee participation will receive free publicity for their business, the commuter cup trophy, and T-shirts for their participating employees..

"Why wouldn't you participate," said chairperson Bethany Pearson. "It's good for you, good for your employees, your business, and the environment-plus it's absolutely free!"

Pearson noted data in a recently released nationwide county-by-county health study that showed Charlevoix County ranks in the bottom third of all Michigan counties with respect to workers commuting alone. She said in the study Charlevoix County is tied for the 24th highest percentage of those driving alone to work at 83 percent. Only Otsego County (84 percent) has a higher percentage of single commuters in northern lower Michigan. By comparision, Emmet County is at 77 percent, Antrim County is at 78 percent and Grand Traverse is at 80 percent, she noted.

To learn more about Smart Commute Charlevoix or to register your businesses in the Commuter Cup Challenge visit www.charlevoix.org/smart-commute or contact Bethany Pearson at the Charlevoix Chamber, 231.547.2101 or pearson@charlevoix.org; or Val Meyerson at the Charlevoix Public Library 231.547.2651, or val@charlevoixlibrary.org

Smart Commute Charlevoix is a volunteer run organization. The mission of the group is to promote and encourage individuals and businesses to conserve resources, promote healthy exercise, and become stewards of a sustainable lifestyle in Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix-based event is modeled after the Emmet County event that is now in its third year and will be taking place the same week.

The event is sponsored by Irish Boat Shop, Charlevoix Area Hospital, Harbor Industries, Revolution Bike, Village Graphics, The City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix Public Library, WATCH, and the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

Historical society to host program on Indian treaties

The Charlevoix Historical Society will host a program on the interpretation of Indian treaties throughout United States history at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, June 5 at the Depot, Depot Beach.

The program will be presented by former Michigan State University professor Chuck Cleland, a resident of Norwood and noted expert on Native-American anthropology and archaeolgy. Cleland headed the 1970s MSU dig on the site of the LaCroft condominium on Charlevoix's north side Lake Michigan shore, as a result of which it was discovered that this area has been inhabited since approximately 1500 B.C.E.

A society news release on the event reads: "As the conquest and subjugation of the Native-American tribes began across the continent not too long after the arrival of the country's first settlers, relocations and treaties proliferated. Most of the latter were not worth the paper they were written on as they were continually disregarded and broken. Cleland will focus on one of them, the Treaty of 1836, to try to interpret and understand the meaning of it with a new and richer way of reading these ancient documents." The program is titled "Ethnohistory: The Key to a Hidden Past."

The public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge, but support donations for the society are appreciated. Light refreshments will be served. For more information, call (231) 547-0373.

Joppa house seeks help

With the move of the building that will eventually become a transitional home for women in need recently completed, Third Day Fellowship and Outreach pastor the Rev. Ginger Stevens is hoping the community will continue to come through as the next step of the project gets under way.

Earlier this month, crews completed work on moving the house that had formerly served as the St. Mary Church convent about a block to the west to the corner of State and Garfield streets where it will begin its new life at the Joppa House — a shelter for women and their children to live temporarily while they pursue learning life skills, employment and ultimately self-sufficiency.

The Joppa House project is a sister ministry of Third Day Fellowship which operates both a food pantry and a drop-in center on Bridge Street in Charlevoix.

"Joppa House has been moved. Now the work begins," Stevens said. "We are in need of funds to renovate the home and get it ready to house women and children."

Among the house's needs are $12,000 for a new heating system, and even more money for insulation, wiring, vinyl siding, finishing the basement for the childcare and rejuvenating the interior of the house.

To help kick-start the next phase of the fundraising effort, Third Day will host a "Anthems for Asaph" concert at 7 p.m. on Monday, June 11, at the Charlevoix Assembly of God, 5291 M-66 North. The suggested donation for admission is $5. Call (231) 547-8040 for more information.

Stevens noted that Joppa House and Third Day Fellowship and Outreach is registered as a 501c3 non-profit organization, so contributions are tax-deductible.

The ministry received some donated land at the corner of State Street and Garfield Avenue and plans to use the Catholic church's convent house, which will be relocated to the vacant lot. It will cost $10,500 to move the stick-built house and upwards of another $15,000 to build a new basement and foundation.

It's estimated the ministry will need $75,000 to put the project together, though that does not include operating expenses, Stevens said.

Anyone who would like to donate directly to the Joppa House effort, my send contributions to: Third Day Fellowship, P.O. Box 174, Charlevoix, Mich 49720. Donors should note in the memo line whether their donation is for the Joppa House shelter, the ministry operations fund or the food pantry program.

band students," said Wasilewski.

But music isn't the only program threatened with cuts, said Judy Clock, a special education aide who is retiring after "32.4001 years," she joked.

"I started in home (economics), art, gym and shop," she said. "Some things we should bring back. Definitely we need (the home economics) and shop."

Clock graduated with a degree in speech pathology from Central Michigan University, and worked as an aide because it fit her children's school schedules. Through her years with the Charlevoix school district, she worked as an aide in several capacities. She has worked as a special education aide for many years now, though her assignment varied from year to year.

"You never know what you're going to do until September," said Clock.

All three of them will continue in education in some capacity after retirement.

"I'll be back for MEAP testing," said Clock. "They're not going to get rid of me that easily."

Wasilewski plans to work with two teacher education groups through the state of Michigan: Project PRIME, and SAMS, which stands for Science and Math Misconceptions. Both are programs aimed at helping current science and math teachers become better educators.

Wasilewski

Winchester plans to continue playing with the Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra, where she fills the principal clarinet position. She also plays and will conduct two concerts for the Charlevoix City Band over the summer.

Both Winchester and Wasilewski are thankful for community support over their careers.

"Mr. Bill Schuiling has supported our band tremendously through my last ten years of teaching," said Winchester.

"I would like to say thank you to the community for all you have done for the schools," said Wasilewski. "We are very, very blessed for so many years to have so much. And (we are especially grateful) to parents sending kids to us that are well prepared. That always makes our job so much easier when we have the support of the community."

Donahue

Commenting on her years in the classroom, Donahue said, "I have enjoyed very much my 14 years of work with the students and the staff and look forward to time spent with my family."

Editor's note: This is the second in a two-part series of stories on seven Charlevoix Public Schools staff members who are retiring at the end of this school year. The first in the series featuring Charelvoix Elementary School staff members appeared in last week's edition.

Since it began last year, the school nurse program has instituted and/or facilitated the hospital's Fit-4-Life for Kids program in the schools, Girls on the Run, and Fuel up to Play 60.

In Boyne Falls, school nurse Chris Warstler (who also serves Concord Boyne, Northwest Academy and St. Mary's School) is working with the school, the Michgan State University Extension and the Charlevoix County 4H to establish a "Farm to School Program."

Michelle Coleson, who serves as East Jordan's school nurse has helped introducing different types of exercise to those kids who aren't really good at or interested in the after-school sports. A yoga class in the middle school has been a big success.

Sue Coen, who serves as the school nurse for Ellsworth, Bellaire, and Central Lake is working on getting as many staff and students CPR certified as possible in all of the hospital's service area. She is also setting up "response teams" made up of teacher/school staff in all of the schools and will be conducting "mock drills" twice per year to improve response time for emergencies.

Charlevoix Elementary School kindergarten teacher Diane Priess said Robarge has been a big asset to the school.

"It is such a relief to have a nurse in our building when there is an accident or medical emergency. Kristie is there to assess the child medically and inform the parents of any concerns. Kristie deals with everything from taking temperatures to working with some of our medically fragile students. Our school is definitely a safer place with a registered nurse in the building," Priess said.

Jacobsen noted that the hospital's fledgling school nurse program has been praised at the state level as an innovative approach to solving the school nurse shortage.

She said Michigan has the lowest number of school nurses-to-student ratio in the nation.

HARBOR SPRINGS — As expected, extra time was needed to decide it.

Almost as expected, it came down to a shootout.

After clinching the Lake Michigan Conference title simply by reaching the shootout, the Charlevoix High School girls soccer team went on to defeat Harbor Springs, 3-2, in a match that decided the Lake Michigan Conference championship Thursday, May 24 at Ottawa Stadium.

Anna Way, Savannah Joseph and Leah Davis scored in the shootout, with Davis' tally standing up as the game-winner as the Rayders claimed their first league championship since 2008.

Charlevoix closes the regular season 14-6-2 overall, 11-1 league, and finishes with 33 points in conference play. Harbor is 14-4-0, 9-3, and finishes with 29 points. Under the Lake Michigan standings format, a winning team is awarded three points. A team that loses in a shootout, gets one point.

"The girls all knew that if we went into a shootout it didn't matter, because we'd be the conference champs," Charlevoix coach Carol Madison said. "But heading into overtime, there was still 20 minutes left to play and we had to stay positive, play focused and play every ball, and not think about anything but one ball at a time.

"I thought we talked so much better and supported each other better in the overtime periods. I was really pleased to see them communicate really well in the overtime."

The Rayders — who also defeated the Rams, 4-2, on April 30 in Charlevoix — opened the scoring just 21 seconds into the game as sophomore Katie Kitely volleyed in a shot attempt from in close off the foot of Hannah Herboldsheimer.

"It was nice to get that goal because when you come in and score one that quickly, it makes the other team take notice and it also really fired up our own team," Madison said. "We thought right away, we really could do this."

Harbor tied it 10 minutes later as junior Rhi Cullip outraced a Rayder defender along the right side and sent a cross to freshman Tia Esposito, who beat Rayder goalkeeper Bailee Stevens.

Charlevoix then took a 2-1 lead 15 minutes into the second half as Megan Peters scored of an Anna Way corner kick.

The Rams again responded with the speedy Cullip taking a through ball from Stephanie Sylvain to score on a breakaway to knot it at 2-all.

"Harbor is a good team and they have a lot of speed with Rhi Cullip and Tia Esposito," Madison said. "We need to work more on our finishing because come (district) tournament time, against good teams like Harbor, you don't get many opportunities and we have to finish them."

The teams remained tied after two 10-minute overtime periods, sending the match to the shootout. Charlevoix found the back of the net on three of its shots in the shootout, while Harbor scored twice. Meg Shepherd and Cullip scored for the Rams.

"We didn't play with a lot of heart and we didn't play the way we normally play, but that's just the way it is," Harbor coach Ed Fantozzi said. "We didn't necessarily do our best, we were disjointed and you could see it. It wasn't the pressure they put on us, we just made some bad decisions we normally don't make, and we didn't move the ball like we normally do."

Madison lauded the efforts of Stevens in goal, who just returned from injury, as well as her defensive line, which includes Carolena Elowsky.

"I thought once again our defense was so solid," Madison said. "Winning in penalty kicks really was just more confidence for us going into next week."

SOCCER DISTRICT PREVIEW

Rayders peaking at the right time

Key Charlevoix players returning just in time for Districts

They're getting healthy, they just won a league championship, and they earned a first-round bye.

The Charlevoix Rayders girls soccer team learned two things Tuesday: They will face Oscoda in a Division IV district tournament semifinal on Thursday at Harbor Springs' Ottawa Stadium, and if they win that game there won't be a rematch of last week's conference title game with Harbor Springs.

The Rams fell to Elk Rapids, 2-1 in a shootout Tuesday.

Elk Rapids advances to play Boyne City 5 p.m. Thursday, May 31, in a district semifinal at Ottawa Stadium. The second semifinal, which carries a 7 p.m. start, pits Charlevoix against Oscoda..

The Distrcit final is scheduled for 6 p.m. Friday.

After battling injuries through the middle portion of the schedule, the Rayders are nearly back to full strength.

"We've had a lot of injuries and our goalie (Bailee Stevens) just came back last week and Ellie Way will be back this week," Charlevoix coach Carol Madison said. "She'll (Way) be a big plus for us. We're getting healthy and getting people back at the right time."

Junior Carolena Elowsky leads a solid Rayder defense and is joined on the backline by the likes of Kelly Greyerbiehl, Cristin Cole and Savannah Joseph.

"Winning on penalty kicks (against Harbor Springs) really was just more confidence for us going into (Districts)," Madison said. "We knew as you go into the tournament, you're not going to get a ton of chances, so we have to make sure we finish those chances."

But music isn't the only program threatened with cuts," said Judy Clock, a special education aide who is retiring after "32,000 years," she joked.

"I started in home economics, art, gym and shop," she said. "Some things we should bring back. Definitely we need the home economics and shop."

Clock graduated with a degree in speech pathology from Central Michigan University, and worked as an aide because it fit her children's school schedules. Through her years with the Charlevoix school district, she worked as an aide in several capacities. She has worked as a special education aide for many years now, though her assignment varied from year to year.

"You never know what you're going to do until September," said Clock.

All three of them will continue in education in some capacity after retirement.

"I'll be back for MEAP testing," said Clock. "They're not going to get rid of me that easily."

Wasilewski plans to work with two teacher education groups through the state of Michigan: Project PRIME, and SAMS, which stands for Science and Math Misconceptions. Both are programs aimed at helping current science and math teachers become better educators.

Wasilewski

Winchester plans to continue playing with the Great Lakes Chamber Orchestra, where she fills the principal clarinet position. She also plays and will conduct two concerts for the Charlevoix City Band over the summer.

Both Winchester and Wasilewski are thankful for community support over their careers.

"Mr. Bill Schuiling has supported our band tremendously through my last ten years of teaching," said Winchester.

"I would like to say thank you to the community for all you have done for the schools," said Wasilewski. "We are very, very blessed for so many years to have so much. And (we are especially grateful) to parents sending kids to us that are well prepared. That always makes our job so much easier when we have the support of the community."

Donahue

Commenting on her years in the classroom, Donahue said, "I have enjoyed very much my 14 years of work with the students and the staff and look forward to time spent with my family."

Editor's note: This is the second in a two-part series of stories on seven Charlevoix Public Schools staff members who are retiring at the end of this school year. The first in the series featuring Charlevoix Elementary School staff members appeared in last week's edition.

Since it began last year, the school nurse program has instituted and/or facilitated the hospital's Fit 4 Life for Kids Program in the schools, Girls on the Run and Fuel up to Play 60.

In Boyne Falls, school nurse Chris Warstler (who also serves Concord Boyne, Northwest Academy and St. Mary's School) is working with the school, the Michigan State University Extension and the Charlevoix County 4H to establish a "Farm to School Program."

Michelle Coleson, who serves as East Jordan's school nurse has helped introducing different types of exercise to those kids who aren't really good at or interested in the after-school sports. A yoga class in the middle school has been a big success.

Sue Coen, who serves as the school nurse for Ellsworth, Bellaire, and Central Lake is working on getting as many staff and students CPR certified as possible in all of the hospital's service area. She is also setting up "response teams" made up of teacher/school staff in all of the schools and will be conducting "mock drills" twice per year to improve response time for emergencies.

Charlevoix Elementary School kindergarten teacher Diane Priess said Robarge has been a big asset to the school.

"It is such a relief to have a nurse in our building when there is an accident or medical emergency. Kristie is there to assess the child medically and inform the parents of any concerns. Kristie deals with everything from taking temperatures to working with some of our medically fragile students. Our school is definitely a safer place with a registered nurse in the building," Priess said.

Jacobsen noted that the hospital's fledgling school nurse program has been praised at the state level as an innovative approach to solving the school nurse shortage.

She said Michigan has the lowest number of school nurses-to-student ratio in the nation.

Conference champs!

STEVE FOLEY
News-Review Sports Writer

HARBOR SPRINGS — As expected, extra time was needed to decide it.

Almost as expected, it came down to a shootout.

After clinching the Lake Michigan Conference title simply by reaching the shootout, the Charlevoix High School girls soccer team went on to defeat Harbor Springs, 3-2, in a match that decided the Lake Michigan Conference championship Thursday, May 24 at Ottawa Stadium.

Anna Way, Savannah Joseph and Leah Davis scored in the shootout, with Davis' tally standing up as the game-winner as the Rayders claimed their first league championship since 2008.

Charlevoix closes the regular season 14-6-2 overall, 11-1 league, and finishes with 33 points in conference play. Harbor is 14-4-0, 9-3, and finishes with 29 points. Under the Lake Michigan standings format, a winning team is awarded three points. A team that loses in a shootout, gets one point.

"The girls all knew that if we went into a shootout it didn't matter, because we'd be the conference champs," Charlevoix coach Carol Madison said. "But heading into overtime, there was still 20 minutes left to play and we had to stay positive, play focused and play every ball, and not think about anything but one ball at a time.

"I thought we talked so much better and supported each other better in the overtime periods. I was really pleased to see them communicate really well in the overtime."

The Rayders — who also defeated the Rams, 4-2, on April 30 in Charlevoix — opened the scoring just 21 seconds into the game as sophomore Katie Kiely volleyed in a shot attempt from in close off the foot of Hannah Herboldsheimer.

"It was nice to get that goal because when you come in and score one that quickly, it makes the other team take notice and it also really fired up our own team," Madison said. "We thought right away, we really could do this."

Harbor tied it 10 minutes later as junior Rhi Cullip outraced a Rayder defender along the right side and sent a cross to freshman Tia Esposito, who beat Rayder goalkeeper Bailee Stevens.

Charlevoix then took a 2-1 lead 15 minutes into the second half as Megan Peters scored of an Anna Way corner kick.

The Rams again responded with the speedy Cullip taking a through ball from Stephanie Sylvain to score on a breakaway to knot it at 2-all.

"Harbor is a good team and they have a lot of speed with Rhi Cullip and Tia Esposito," Madison said. "We need to work more on our finishing because come (district) tournament time, against good teams like Harbor, you don't get many opportunities and we have to finish them."

The teams remained tied after two 10-minute overtime periods, sending the match to the shootout. Charlevoix found the back of the net on three of its shots in the shootout, while Harbor scored twice. Meg Shepherd and Cullip scored for the Rams.

"We didn't play with a lot of heart and we didn't play the way we normally play, but that's just the way it is," Harbor coach Ed Fantozzi said. "We didn't necessarily do our best, we were disjointed and you could see it. It wasn't the pressure they put on us, we just made some bad decisions we normally don't make, and we didn't move the ball like we normally do."

Madison lauded the efforts of Stevens in goal, who just returned from injury, as well as her defensive line, which includes Carolena Elowsky.

"I thought once again our defense was so solid," Madison said. "Winning in penalty kicks really was just more confidence for us going into next week."

SOCCER DISTRICT PREVIEW

Rayders peaking at the right time

Key Charlevoix players returning just in time for Districts

They're getting healthy, they just won a league championship, and they earned a first-round bye.

The Charlevoix Rayders girls soccer team learned two things Tuesday: They will face Oscoda in a Division IV district tournament semifinal on Thursday at Harbor Springs' Ottawa Stadium, and if they win that game there won't be a rematch of last week's conference title game with Harbor Springs.

The Rams fell to Elk Rapids, 2-1 in a shootout Tuesday.

Elk Rapids advances to play Boyne City 5 p.m. Thursday, May 31, in a district semifinal at Ottawa Stadium. The second semifinal, which carries a 7 p.m. start, pits Charlevoix against Oscoda.

The District final is scheduled for 6 p.m. Friday.

After battling injuries through the middle portion of the schedule, the Rayders are nearly back to full strength.

"We've had a lot of injuries and our goalie (Bailee Stevens) just came back last week and Ellie Way will be back this week," Charlevoix coach Carol Madison said. "She'll (Way) be a big plus for us. We're getting healthy and getting people back at the right time."

Junior Carolena Elowsky leads a solid Rayder defense and is joined on the backline by the likes of Kelly Greyerbiehl, Cristin Cole and Savannah Joseph.

"Winning on penalty kicks (against Harbor Springs) really was just more confidence for us going into (Districts)," Madison said. "We knew as you go into the tournament, you're not going to get a ton of chances, so we have to make sure we finish those chances."

Looking to make it four straight

Rayders start District title defense against Mancelona Saturday

Charlevoix pitcher Paige Montgomery (15) throws to Alyasa Chomiczewski (2) at first base after fielding a ground ball in the first game of the Rayders' double-header against Harbor Light Tuesday.

EAST JORDAN — District tournament host East Jordan made an early exit to this year's Division III tournament when it fell to Boyne City 3-0 in a pre-district game Tuesday.

Boyne, which was swept by the Red Devils, 19-1 and 9-5, during the regular season, will play Harbor Springs in a district semifinal on Saturday, June 2, at East Jordan. Charlevoix and Mancelona will square off in the second semifinal. The title game is scheduled for 2 p.m.

"We did all the little things right," Boyne coach Sandy Clausen said. "I'm very proud of the way the girls played. We've been working at it all season and we just needed to put the bat on the ball and be solid defensively. We had just two errors, so defensively we really were strong.

"Our girls played well enough to win," East Jordan coach Meg Kitson said. "Our solid hits went right at Boyne's fielders."

Prior to Tuesday's opener, Kitson had said the tournament could be anyone's for the taking.

"All of the teams have a real good chance to win the district," she said. "It will be a matter of shows up playing their best ball on Saturday."

"Whoever plays good defense will win the district, and all five teams are capable of doing that," said Charlevoix coach Ken Hoffman, whose team is seeking its fourth consecutive district title.

Pitchers Kristen Mielke and Katie Hybl lead the Rayders.

"Kristen has a lot of experience and has won in the tournament since she was a sophomore," Hoffman said.

Jennifer Archery, Chelsea Hoffman and Hybl, who head Charlevoix's lineup, are all hitting over .450 for the season.

Mancelona will bring a solid team to the tournament with Kallie Derrer pitching and Dakota Derrer hitting.

"Mancelona is solid again this year," Hoffman said.

Harbor Springs is a young team, but can surprise a team not playing at their best. Kay Paige and Brooke Paige are among the Rams' leaders.

Rayders fall to Harbor Light

The Charlevoix Rayder varsity softball team closed out its regular season schedule dropping a non-conference double-header to Harbor Light Christian at home Tuesday. The Rayders fell 10-3 in the opener and 10-2 in the nightcap.

The Rayders faced the same Swordsman pitcher for both games. Kaila Schutte broke her own school record for strikeouts in a season striking out 10 in the opener and four in the nightcap, bringing her season strikeout total to 216, eclipsing the school record of 212 she set last season.

In game one, Chelsea Hoffman had two hits to lead Charlevoix, while Kristen Mielke, Jennifer Archey, Katie Hybl, Ryleigh Knoop and Nicole Pischner each singled.

Mielke struck out six in taking the loss.

In game two, Alyssa Chomiczewski, Hybl, Kelsey Pischner and Nicole Pischner each had a hit for the Rayders, 13-16 while Hybl struck out three in taking the loss.

BASEBALL DISTRICT PREVIEW

Pitching likely to make the difference

KURT GRANGOOD
News-Review sports writer

Good pitching — getting it and beating it — is the key in baseball.

When it comes to the Division III distict tournament at East Jordan, pitching is the name of the game.

East Jordan and Boyne City oped the tournament on Tuesday when the Ramblers defeated the Red Devils 2-1. Boyne now moves on to a semifinal Saturday against Harbor Springs. Charlevoix and Mancelona will meet in the other semifinal on Saturday, with the championship game to follow.

Morse sports a stellar 0.71 ERA and with him on the mound, the Rams can beat anybody.

Charlevoix's ace is Coby Herriman, who is 8-1 with 103 strikeouts in 49 innings. The Rayders' No. 2 hurler, Andrew Plude, is no slouch. He sports a 2.57 ERA. Elliott Hausler has emerged as Boyne City's top hurler.

"All five teams (In the district) have a solid number one (pitcher)," Charlevoix coach Allen Telgenhof said. "When you add in the rivalry aspect, we should have some pretty close and competitive games."

Harbor's lineup is led by Morse, while the likes of Adam Sydow, Jake Hickman and Ryan Cantrell have produced all season.

Herriman, Potter and Nate Moon are all hitting above .300 for the Rayders, who have steadily improved throughout the season.

"Our top hitters have been consistently around the .300 mark all season," Telgenhof said.

"We like to see that, especially coming into this time of the year."

Mancelona, meanwhile, is always a tough out in the tournament and won its fifth consecutive Ski Valley Conference title this season. The Ironmen are the defending district champions, and last year reached the state quarterfinals.

"The geographical rivalry with East Jordan, Charlevoix and Boyne City and the other Lake Michigan conference team, Harbor Springs, and the fact that Mancelona has won the district, makes it anybody's district to win," Telgenhof said.

Rayders sweep Harbor Light

The Rayders finished out their regular season schedule and last chance at pre-district preparation Tuesday with a sweep of Harbor Light Christian in a non-conference double-header at home.

The Rayders won the opener 11-1 and the nightcap 12-7.

Tommy Zipp had four hits and drove in four runs to lead the Rayders who improved their record to 17-16.

Coby Herriman and Andrew Potter combined to strike out 10 and walk five in the opener for the Rayders.

Zipp had four hits, Herriman and Noah Certa added two each, and Potter, Isaac Klooster and Jon Freiberg added one apiece. Certa finished with three RBI.

Jessie Drost allowed six runs — all unearned — on four hits while walking five and striking out three over four innings for the win in the nightcap. Shane Sutherland struck out one and allowed one hit in relief.

GOLF DISTRICT PREVIEW

Rayders ready to tee it up

Now, every swing, every putt, every decision takes on added importance.

All the driving-range swings and work around the practice green comes down to this for area high school golf teams as they tee it up in district tournaments on Thursday and Friday, May 31 and June 1.

On Thursday, the Charlevoix Rayders along with four other Lake Michigan Conference rivals Boyne City, Kalkaska, Grayling and Elk Rapids will go to Cheboygan Golf Club for an 11-team Division III event.

The top six teams along with individuals in the top 10 on non-regional qualifying teams advance to regionals, which are scheduled for Thursday, June 7. The Division III regional is scheduled for Lakeside Links in Ludington.

Kalkaska won the Lake Michigan title in a very close race among several teams, including the Rayders, who finished fourth overall in the league standings.

"Our total scores in the five (conference) tournaments, we were only 10 shots behind them for the whole year," Charlevoix coach Keith Grunch said. "We've been competitive. We've had three wins (in league tournaments), but a couple fourths and fifths that hurt us in the standings,"

The Rayders have played particularly well lately, and they finished first in the final Lake Michigan event and won the nine-team Ludington Invitational last week.

The Rayders' Tanner Catt and Noah Jeakle finished first and second, respectively, in the final Lake Michigan event. Catt shot 80; Jeakle, 82. At Ludington, Jeakle, a freshman, shot 82 to tie for the low score.

Grunch said he expects all of those Lake Michigan squads to be in the hunt for one of the six regional-qualifying spots, along with the host Chiefs.

Messy face, good cause

Trout tournament hoists anchor June 8

It's time once again for area anglers to get their fishing gear ready to vie for thousands of dollars in prize money in the 2012 Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournament which is set to take place Friday through Sunday, June 8-10.

Most of the weekend's events will again be based in Charlevoix's East Park including the popular fishing for kids in East Park's trout stream.

The children's fishing event will take place from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturday, June 9. For a cost of $5 per person, poles, bait and tackle and a whole lot of fun are provided.

Registration for the fishing tournament is noon-8 p.m. Wednesday, June 6, and Thursday, June 7, in East Park. Actual fishing in the tournament will begin 5 a.m. Friday, June 8, and ends at noon Sunday, June 10. The awards ceremony is 1 p.m. Sunday in East Park.

The cost to register has increased slightly to $35 for adults, but kids 14 and under are still $10.

Paid registrants will get a trout tournament T-shirt and will be entered into the grand prize drawing which takes place on Sunday at the awards ceremony.

A mandatory meeting of team captains will take place at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 7, in the Odmark Pavilion in East Park.

Prizes will be awarded in five divisions including brown trout, lake trout, steelhead, salmon and walleye. This year five extra places have been added to the brown trout and walleye divisions. The salmon, steelhead, lake trout divisions pay 20 places, with $1,000 going to first place in each division. The brown trout and walleye divisions pay 10 places, with $750 going to first place in each division.

Other awards include: The largest fish each day will win a $100 port prize; the angler who brings in the largest lake trout will have his or her name placed on the Rex Blanchard Trophy and the largest fish caught on a Stinger spnon will win the Golden Stinger Award.

All wining fish will be mounted by Dhasceleer Taxidermy.

Participants may fish from Charlevoix, Petoskey, Harbor Springs, East Jordan and Boyne City and may fish Lake Charlevoix and Lake Michigan.

Friends of the Jordan seeks contest entries

With hundreds of acres of rolling hills, cool forests and miles of clear, clean river and streams, the Jordan Valley is a natural treasure

To promote the value of this pristine area, the Friends of the Jordan is sponsoring its annual photography contest with the theme, "Portraits of Nature."

All photographers — amateur, professional, young and old, locals and seasonal visitors are encouraged to enter

Pictures of activities, scenery, flowers, animals and the changing seasons of the Jordan are all eligible and images from all seasons are encouraged. The only requirement is that the photos are taken in the Jordan River watershed area.

The winning photographs will be published in the 2013 calendar.

An exhibit of all entries and an awards ceremony will also take place on Saturday, Sept. 22.

Photo entries must be unmatted, 8-by-10-inch prints. A $5 entry fee must be submitted with each photo, however, to encourage more youth participation, students under 18 may enter two photographs for free.

Summer concert series to liven up downtown evenings

The Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority recently announced its 2012 Charlevoix Concert Series schedule, which offers a wide variety of musical entertainment from late June to late August.

"Offering a variety of genres remains a top priority for our series and we're confident this summer's schedule will keep folks entertained during yet another great summer in downtown Charlevoix. We're also pleased to continue our partnership with the Charlevoix Venetian Festival by offering Charlevoix's own Audio Circus in the Venetian Tiki Tent during various times the evening of Tuesday, July 24."

A petunia party

Temperatures were up and that may have driven participation down a bit in this year's Keep Charlevoix Beautiful's Operation Petunia planting day on Thursday, May 24.

Organization board president Aaron Wilkin said he's not sure if it was the temperatures in the low 90s or if people were just busy with other activities, but he said this year the majority of our block captains reported that there was a much smaller turnout than previous years.

Aside from the lower-than-normal volunteer turnout, Wilkin said organizers are pleased with this year's crop of petunias.

"They have large blooms and we expect them to fill the flower beds in beautifully," Wilkin said. "Our changes to the wheel that stamps the holes for the petunias (adding weight) appears to have corrected our problem of the holes being too spread out last year," he added.

He said the community appreciation picnic also went off well.

"We would like to thank all the picnic donors, all of the KCB picnic volunteers and Cindy and Rick Malamed for organizing such a wonderful picnic. Planting day would not be possible without out all the hard work from Bo Boss, Joe Vogelheim, the Boss family, all the block captains, Keep Charlevoix Beautiful board members, and all the volunteers the show their support around the community."

Anyone who wasn't able to help on planting day can still help in the petunia effort.

"Donations are still down from last year and we need the continued support from the community to ensure we can keep the 30 year tradition of Operation Petunia alive," Wilkin said.

Donations may be sent to Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, P.O. Box 1, Charlevoix, MI 49720.

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

Charlevoix native Marianne Pfister Huskey is living a life most anglers dream of: She's a professional walleye angler.

And she's not only a professional walleye angler, but the only female professional walleye angler on the circuit.

Pfister Huskey came to the job after a lifetime of fishing.

"When I was little, I would go with my grandfather salmon fishing and perch fishing," she said.

She and her grandfather would fish Lake Michigan and Lake Charlevoix, but it was after she moved away from Charlevoix at age 23 that she became enamored with walleye.

At that point, Pfister Huskey had moved to St. Ignace to own a construction company with her husband, Tom, who died in 2009.

Pfister Huskey, now 37, started zeroing in on walleye in 1995.

"I caught my first walleye through the ice, and I was fascinated by the species," she said.

Walleye are a notoriously finicky fish, and figuring out the subtleties of being successful at catching walleye appealed to Pfister Huskey.

"It's a tougher bite. It's more of a challenge to catch walleye versus bass or anything else," she said. "Walleye are affected greatly by water temperature change and weather. In the winter, they are more lethargic, and don't feed as much as during the summer months. And of course, I love to eat walleye, too."

She cut her teeth on walleye, she said, on the St. Marys River in the Upper Peninsula, but also fished Burt Lake, Mullet Lake and Saginaw Bay to learn the fish's habits.

Pfister Huskey said there are a multitude of ways one can fish for walleye — "rigging, jigging, trolling, trolling fire line, pitching jigs, trolling lead core" – but her favorite way is open water trolling.

"You can cover water quicker, and increase your catch percentage," she said.

And if you're Marianne Pfister Huskey, catch percentage is pretty important.

By the end of 2008, Marianne was ready to start fishing big fishing tournaments. She had been working with Maple Bay Marine and owned a boat she purchased from them. She was named to the professional staff for Lund Boats and Mercury Marine, makers of fishing boats and motors, respectively.

"Pro anglers suggested I jump right to the professional level," she said.

Pfister Huskey had been considering team tournaments, in which two anglers fish together in a boat. But fishing in pro-am tournaments — the shortened version of professional-amateur tournaments — would help Pfister Huskey on her way. In those kinds of tournaments, two people are still on a boat, but only one, Pfister Huskey, is the professional.

"(Pro anglers) said, 'You're going to learn everything about walleye 10 times faster. You will excel quicker and learn faster,' and I did," said Pfister Huskey.

That's not exactly an exaggeration. Pfister Huskey is in her fourth year of professional angling, and is fresh off her biggest tournament so far of this year, the Bay Mills Can-Am Invitational Walleye Tournament in Brimley. The top 31 Canadian walleye anglers competed with 31 of the top American walleye anglers in a three-day tournament that took place May 30-June 2 on the St. Marys River.

Pfister Huskey stood in third place on the first day, first place on the second day, and finished the tournament at second.

Record number of scholarships available this year

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

A new camp director will be at the helm when the City of Charlevoix Parks and Recreation Department's Camp McSauba kicks of its 36th summer of fun on Monday, June 11.

For more than three decades, the camp, has been providing local and vacationing boys and girls ages 5-13 with a quality camping experience on 54 acres of natural setting at the city's Mount McSauba Recreational Area.

City recreation director Teresa Hart said she is excited to welcome Linda Amstutz, a long time Charlevoix resident, who she said has an extensive background in education, including with 15 years working in many capacities with children ages newborn to 13.

"Her passion for working with children and making a difference in a child's life and seeing them smile will add to the already established quality experience that has been provided over the years," Hart said.

Camp cost is $85 per week, with before and after care an additional $30 per week.

In addition to a new director, Hart noted that this year a much larger than normal number of scholarships are available for children whose families might not otherwise be able to afford to send them to camp.

"Through the extreme generosity of the following organizations and individuals, there are numerous scholarships available to attend Camp McSauba: Charlevoix County Community Foundation, Char-Em United Way, Department of Human Services, Jim Alger," Hart said.

Some scholarships also allow transportation to be provided by the Charlevoix County Transit Authority.

Hart said further scholarship donations are still being accepted for 2012. Anyone in need of a scholarhip, or who would like to donate money for one, should contact the recreation department at (231) 547-3253.

Camp McSauba is geared to provide each camper with new experiences. Campers can try their hand at archery, BB gunnery, field sports, campfire programs, sand castle building, swimming, arts and crafts and many other activities. Children also have the opportunity to experience the fellowship that camping establishes. Several day-to-day activities, based around a theme, are scheduled by the campers and their counselors on a small group level to encourage participation and decision making by all involved.

Hart noted that camp counselors work hard to provide many activities and adventures for the children. Weekly themes that appeal to kids are planned for each session. Although the theme titles are the same as 2011, there will be many new and exciting choices along with the "back by popular demand" activities, she said

Sessions are five days each, running 9 a.m.-3:15 p.m. Monday to Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Friday, with Thursday as the overnight camp.

At the overnight, campers enjoy roasting hot dogs around the fire. The younger kids make s'mores, while the older kids have the option of visiting the Charlevoix Area Community Pool. Then it's time to settle in their sleeping bags and anxiously anticipate the well-known pancake breakfast rustled up by the counselors on Friday morning. At 11 a.m., on Friday's the well-known weekly awards ceremony begins, in which every child receives an award while friends and family acknowledge their accomplishments.

For more information about Camp McSauba visit the city's websit at www.cityofcharlevoix.org.

HOSA students see success, heading to nationals

Four Charlevoix High School students found success in state-level a vocational leadership organization this school year and two of them are hoping to take their skills to the national level.

And they are hoping for a little help from the community to get there.

Kaye Beatty, registered nurse and Charlevoix High School health sciences instructor last fall four health science students expressed an interest in leadership activities related to Health Occupations Students of America — better known by many as by the acronym HOSA. Taylor Ackerman, Lauren Bartling, Marguerite Bolt, and Caroline Boss chose their competitive events, worked diligently to prepare, and compete with more than 600 students from schools and tech centers in their region to qualifying to muve on to the state leadership conference, Beatty said.

At the State Leadership Conference, where they competed among more than 1,600 other students, Marguerite earned fourth place in pathophysiology, Taylor took third place in medical spelling, and Lauren ranked first in medical photography. (Caroline was unable to attend the state event because of a scheduling conflict.) Taylor and Lauren are now able to travel this month to compete at the National Leadership Conference in Orlando Florida, June 20-23.

These two recently-graduated seniors will be leaving for college in the fall.

Taylor's ultimate goal is medical school. Lauren plans to become a physician's assistant.

Both girls are currently are helping to raise money for their trek to the conference.

The Charlevoix State Bank, Charlevoix Area Hospital, Charlevoix Area Hospital Foundation, and Lakeview Dentistry have already contributed to help defray their expenses.

Anyone wishing to contribute to help Taylor and Lauren with expenses associated with their upcoming trip may contact Beatty at (231) 330-1577.

Columnist: Don't fear low-level radiation

Roger Knutson

Fear is in some ways a good thing. Our inborn fear of falling probably saves us from dangerous situations. But there is fear and then there are phobias. A phobia is an exaggerated or disabling fear that often has no rational basis.

I am not especially fond of spiders. A surprise visit from even a small spider causes me great consternation, even though I know that only the tiniest minority of spiders are able to harm me in any way. That may not quite be a phobia, but it is an irrational fear.

Most fears and near-phobias are of little concern except to the person feeling them. Too many people currently have a widespread social phobia or irrational fear that may seriously harm our capacity to confront worldwide problems.

Fear of nuclear radiation is very widespread and most often unreasonable. Following what is still often called the Three Mile Island disaster, which may have been monetarily costly, but harmed not one human being, the U.S. suspended the building of nuclear power plants for 34 years. The explosion and fire at Chernobyl, a nuclear power plant in the Ukraine, did directly cause the deaths of several dozen fire fighters who were exposed to massive amounts of radiation. The predictions of cancer, birth defects and other health disasters for the almost five million people exposed to low levels of fallout from the plant have not come to pass. In fact, deaths from cancer in the exposed population are now lower than those in the unexposed population.

In March of 2011 an earthquake and tsunami in Japan destroyed three nuclear reactors and spread radiation over a considerable area. Japan immediately evacuated the area and shut down all other nuclear reactors in Japan, which were providing about 20 percent of the country's electricity needs. They are only now considering reopening and re-starting some of them. No life shortening radiation injuries occurred, but everyone was afraid. The area exposed to radiation from the plants is still closed off to former residents.

Fear of radiation has repeatedly paralyzed government and private response to such events. Were the former residents of the evacuated area in Japan to return to their homes, they would be exposed to LESS radiation than the daily background radiation in much of the world.

Radiation as it effects people is currently measured in seiverts or more commonly milliseiverts (that is, one one-thousandth of a Seivert). For all of their biological history, people have been exposed to radiation from the sky and from the ground. Annual exposure varies from place to place on the earth. It may be as little as one milliseivert or as much as 240 milliseiverts. If all the people in the exposed areas in Japan were to return to their homes, they would be exposed to much less than 240 milliseiverts. They should not be afraid, and the Japanese government should not feed that fear.

Radiation dosages in the range of a few hundred milliseiverts have no measurable adverse effects on human health. In fact a large body of serious and convincing research suggests, as one of my colleagues has said, "Radiation is like vitamins. A little of it is good for you and too much is harmful." Annual exposure to as much as 1,000 milliseiverts produces no noticeable adverse health effects. And such exposure actually reduces deaths from cancer in the irradiated population.

The Japanese population exposed to varying levels of radiation from the world's first atomic bombs at Hiroshima and Nagasaki have been followed medically for more than 50 years, the best and largest set of observations ever made on radiation exposure. Those exposed to low levels of radiation, in the range of 180 milliseiverts, have a LOWER incidence of cancers of all kinds than the Japanese population at large.

The bottom line: Do not fear low level exposure to nuclear radiation. In the range below 1,000 milliseiverts, it's good for you. Do not fear nuclear power plants, they can save the world from excess heating.

If you must fear something, be afraid of carbon dioxide. It can kill you. Fear global warming. It WILL disrupt your life. Just don't worry about the nuclear power plant next door. It is safer than the coal-fired one down the street.

Much of the information in this essay is from an article prepared by Dr. John Tjostent, a long-time colleague and student of nuclear power.

The first Charlevoix High School commencement ceremony took place at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, June 10, 1888, in the Lewis Grand Opera House next to the channel bridge. Six young ladies made up the senior class. Their class motto was "We rise by the trifles beneath our feet." The graduating students are pictured with superintendent Henry Enos, who conferred their diplomas at the end of the ceremony, and their teacher (name unknown), both in the center of the photo. All the girls contributed to the important evening. Luna E. Washburn spoke on the class history, Jennie Stover read on essay explaining the class motto, Josie M. Litzau read her paper on "An Education: What Is It?," Edith M. Hawkins described "The Mission of the Girl Graduate," Phila Wood told the class prophecy, and valedictorian M. Marguerite Enos, daughter of Mr. Enos, gave the valedictory address, "What Is Beyond?" Two ministers also took part with scripture reading, a prayer, and a short lecture on "Society and the Schools," all interspersed with fine musical interludes both instrumental and vocal.

Last Tangle Salon and Tanning replaces J. Marie's

ANNE KELLY
Courier Staff Writer

The Last Tangle Salon and Tanning business, formerly J. Marie's, is under new ownership.

Holly Vincent, married and mother of two young children, was born and raised in East Jordan and attended Houghton Lake Institute of Cosmetology. She began her career as a hair stylist in Boyne City, and subsequently joined Jenny Liotta of J. Marie's Salon at this location nine years ago. Tables turned, Liotta continues to work at the salon for Vincent part-time, maintaining former clientele as Vincent gathers new customers.

"I didn't know you were here," is a common response from clients who find her, either by stumbling upon the salon inadvertently or by being directed to and referred by satisfied clientele.

Last Tangle is located at 1516 Bridge St., just south of Walgreen's.

Vincent hopes, by becoming a member of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce and by continuing in the tradition of J.Marie's, to continue expanding services. The salon offers the entire spectrum of hair and beauty care from head to toe including hair color and styling, manicures, pedicures, waxing and tanning. Vincent also features accessories such as jewelry, purses and other fashion items. She hopes to run monthly tanning specials and expand her product line.

"We have done many weddings referred to us through the Castle," Vincent said. "I enjoy the more relaxed styles currently in vogue for the girls. The trend now is to create a hairstyle that is flattering to the individual person."

Last Tangle Salon is open for business from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Tuesday-Friday, and 10 a.m.-2 p.m. on Saturday. Appointments may be made by calling (231) 547-5555.

OBITUARIES

Leone Barker, 105

Leone Barker of Clearwater, Fla. and Charlevoix died June 1, 2012. She was born on April 20, 1907 to Vesta Boone Shrider and Lester Shrider in Hicksville, Ohio.

She is survived by her son, John (Diane); grandson John Jr (Marnie) and their children, Haley, Bradley and Brendan; granddaughter Julie Leone Daniels (Douglas), and their children, Kevin, John and Brian Leone was a very proud 1928 graduate of the University of Michigan, School of Nursing. She was her class president. It was there that she met the future president, Gerald Ford who waited tables as a student athlete in the faculty dining room. She stayed at the university upon graduation as assistant to the director of student nurses until 1932. She traveled to Europe for six months, borrowing the $400 for the trip from her Aunt. She said it took a long time to pay it back. She then became a Detroit public health nurse, where she met her husband, John, who predeceased her in 1991. They married the day he graduated from Wayne State University medical school, on June 16, 1939. They practiced medicine in Center Line, Michigan until 1973. They were St. Clair Shores residents from 1948 until they retired in 1973 to Charlevoix and Clearwater, Fla.

Leone began driving when she was 8 or 9 years old because her mother could not back out of their narrow driveway. She last drove on April 8, 2007, as family and friends cheered her on, celebrating the fact that she was licensed to drive until her 100th birthday.

Leone died at home under the gentle care provided by her family, GC, and Suncoast Hospice. Funeral services on June 3, 2012 were provided by Moss Feaster, Clearwater, Fla. She was buried at Sylvan Abbey Cemetery.

Betty LaRouche

Betty LaRouche died peacefully June 2, 2012. Born Betty Nicola, Sept. 25, 1922. The youngest of six children to Gerrit and Ida Nicola, Betty survived the last 89 years with six errors on her birth certificate, as the local doctor who delivered her at home made his visit to the courthouse to file the births in Bellaire but once a month in those days, and had to depend upon his memory and scraps of notes for many of the birth details.

Born at the family farm home between Eastport and Atwood on what is now U.S. 31, Betty was witness to the family home burning when she was only 3. The entire family survived, but life was tough for this depression era family in all respects. While their Dad (Gerrit) often times could only find employment outside the area, the kids, when not in school, had to work for the neighbors weeding gardens to help supplement the family income. On winter nights, the family many times played cards after sorting a 100-pound sack of dry beans by kerosene lantern. Betty along with her older sisters Sadie (Brooks), Hattie (Arnold), Ida (Richardson), and brothers Bill Nicola (Marion), Art Nicola (Mary), and Gerrit Nicola (Iva) were educated in the one-room school know as the Maple Hill School, which is now occupied by the Smith/Scott family. Betty, born in an era which didn't always give girls a chance to get the education they wanted, never got a chance to attend high school, through no fault of her own. It was something she always regretted. At 16, denied the schooling she would have wanted, Betty decided farm life wasn't for her and moved to the Flint area with a girl friend and waited tables in the Hilltop Tea Room. She eventually moved to the Detroit area during World Warr II and learned typing and secretarial skills through a government program of the day. In 1946 she married Louis LaRouche, formerly of Bay City. They raised one child, Richard who was born in 1950. Betty reentered the labor market in 1966 working for the Wayne Oakland Bank, where her husband Louis was an internal bank auditor. Betty and Louis retired in 1968 after purchasing a home with acreage in Betty's home area of Eastport. In 1972 after the graduation from college of their son, Betty and Louis divorced and she moved to Charlevoix where she worked for the Charlevoix State Bank for more than two decades, eventually becoming vice president. She retired in 1986 and moved to Gaylord in 2001 to help supervise the raising of her grandchildren Elizabeth and Stephanie LaRouche. Though in her later years she was afflicted with dementia, Betty was a wonderful and caring mother and grandmother and she will be missed forever by all those who knew her. Betty is survived by her son Richard LaRouche , his wife Mary Ann, granddaughters Elizabeth and Stephanie and by her only living sibling Sadie Brooks who is 93 years old, and many nieces and nephews.

Funeral services took place Tuesday, June 5, at 1 p.m. at the Central Lake Chapel of Mortensen Funeral Homes with The Rev. Jerry Troyer officiating. Interment will follow in Lakeview Cemetery, Eastport. The family received friends Tuesday from noon until the time of service. Memorial donations may be directed to the Otsego County Commission on Aging, 120 Grandview Blvd, Gaylord, MI 49735. Please sign her online guestbook www.mortensenfuneralhomes.com.

United Way seeks annual Day of Action participants

Oganization's June 21 program will focus on literacy

Fewer Americans today are likely to earn a diploma than their parents, a distinction not shared by any other industrialized country. Char-Em United Way will join organizations nation-wide in celebrating a Day of Action on the longest day of the year, June 21, to work to meet this growing community need.

Locally, Char-Em United Way will partner with local libraries, schools, and other agencies to promote reading and learning skills with area children. Volunteers are being recruited to read to children at several sites on June 21. People interested in volunteering can learn more about this opportunity at www.tinyurl.com/volunteerconnections .

"We are excited to promote our second annual Day of Action," says Martha Lancaster, executive director of Char-Em United Way. "The longest day of the year is a great time to renew our community's focus on education and we encourage everyone to take action. You can volunteer to read to kids, write a letter in support of early childhood education funding, donate books to a local school, or make a financial contribution to our education efforts."

Volunteer readers on Day of Action will be matched with local summer schools, day care centers, and libraries. Organizers note that summer is a critical time for reading activities, as research from the National Summer Learning Association shows, students also lose more than two months in reading achievement over the summer months.

"Developing reading proficiency at an early age is a key factor in high school graduation," Lancaster added. "Students who aren't strong readers by fourth grade are at risk of educational failure and are more likely than their peers to drop out of high school. We believe — with the help of local volunteers — we can put local kids on the path to success."

The Day of Action is only one piece in United Way's Education Initiative. The organization is also seeking volunteers to make a year-round commitment to read to, tutor, or mentor youth in a variety of settings. Members of United Way's "Literacy Corps" will be provided with training and support and placed in programs needing their help.

Anyone interested in helping with the Day of Action activities or becoming a mentor, tutor or reading aide on an ongoing basis, email vista@charemunitedway.org or call (231) 487-1006. Volunteer opportunities are listed under the Volunteer tab at www.charemunitedway.org.

Leadership group receives grant

This spring, the Charlevoix County Community Foundation awarded a $5,000 grant to Leadership Charlevoix County to help fund the second year of the educational training program.

"The Community Foundation is so pleased to be in a position to support Leadership Charlevoix County again in the year ahead," foundation president Chip Hansen said. "We know that leadership matters, and working with the local chambers of commerce to develop quality leaders is something that we're proud to be a part of."

Leadership Charlevoix County organizers said the program's mission is to cultivate new, emerging leaders from the Charlevoix County area to strengthen individual leadership abilities and create an awareness of leadership opportunities within the communities. The program is a partnership of the Boyne, Charlevoix and East Jordan Area Chambers of Commerce with support from the Beaver Island Chamber of Commerce and is organized by a volunteer Steering Committee.

Program officials said the project is a necessary component for the stability and growth of Charlevoix County.

"Leadership is not often an accessible education option nor is it focused on local issues and situations. Leadership Charlevoix County provides both of these opportunities in a comprehensive and affordable format for up and coming leaders. Ultimately, the program will help to develop stronger Charlevoix County employees and citizens while advocating volunteerism and philanthropic activity," organizers said in a news release.

The Charlevoix County Community Foundation describes itself as a local charitable organization dedicated to improving and enriching life for all who live, work or vacation in Charlevoix County. Foundation funds help enhance the quality of life in Charlevoix County now and for generations to come, by building permanent charitable endowment from a wide range of donors, addressing needs through grant making, and providing leadership on matters of community concern.

Applications are now available for the 2013 class of Leadership Charlevoix County. More information about may be found at www.leadershipcharlevoixcounty.com or by calling (231) 547-2101. Scout's sign project comes to life

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

Boaters arriving to Charlevoix via the Pine River Channel this summer will be greeted by a brand new sign to welcome them as they approach Memorial Bridge thanks to the efforts of an aspiring Eagle Scout, some of his fellow Boy Scouts, and contributions from the city and multiple groups, businesses and organizations.

In September, Charlevoix Boy Scout Jonathon Lindfors asked for the city council's permission to remove the decade's old welcome sign along on the south side of the channel and its surrounding overgrown vegetation and replace it with a new sign to match the signs as the city's north and south entrances and new landscaping.

The council agreed not only to allow the project, but also to contribute $7,000 toward its costs and to allow city staff to assist with the project.

This week all of Jonathon's hard work (and the efforts of those who helped him) came to fruition as the old sign came out on Monday, landscape and prep work took place on Tuesday and the new sign and landscaping went in on Wednesday.

Jonathon said the total cost for the project came in around $12,000. He said a number of service organizations contributed money to the project and many area businesses contributed materials or offered discounts.

He said with his community service project out of the way, he has a couple more merit badges to earn and he hopes to earn the rank of Eagle Scout sometime later this year.

New recycling center open

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

The Charlevoix County Recycling program recently opened its new Charlevoix recycling drop off center just a few hundred yards away from the old location.

On Friday, June 1, a group of county officials gathered in the rain at the new site, located on the east side of Grant Street, just north of Carpenter Avenue for a ribbon cutting ceremony.

The new location, on the southwestern corner of the Charlevoix County Sheriff's office property, replaces the previous location behind the jail.

Recycling program officials said the new location offers not only better traffic flow, but more room for recycling containers and vehicles.

The new location also features a cardboard compactor, similar to the one that was installed at the Boyne City drop off site last year.

County buildings and grounds department head Frank Shaler said the compactor will mean significant savings for the program noting that it costs the program nearly $200 each time a cardboard bin is hauled away. With the compactor, he said one bin can hold as much as seven uncompacted bins.

The new Charlevoix site will also soon be staffed for a couple hours a day during the week. The attendant will help keep the site clean, help people with their recyclables and operate the compactor. The compactor and attendant also means area businesses will now be able to use the site for cardboard recycling.

Some of the cost of the county's recycling program is paid for through the price the program gets for the materials it sends to the Emmet County Transfer Station and the rest is covered by the county's voter approved 0.15 mills recycling millage.

Plant plastic container collection set for June 23

The Charlevoix County Recycling program will conduct its annual plant plastic (horticultural containers) collection day from 9 a.m.-noon on Saturday, June 23, at the following locations:

BOYNE CITY — Boyne Avenue Greenhouse on Boyne Avenue

CHARLEVOIX — in the Kmart parking lot in the back

EAST JORDAN — at the EMS/fire station off M-32

Most types of containers will be accepted, but items are generally limited to pots of any size, flats, plug trays and cell packs. Organizers ask that all items are rinsed free of excess soil and like items are stacked together.

Plastic collected during the event will be recycled and used by East Jordan Plastics, Inc.

LANDING

It was the first time a woman has ever finished in the top five in the history of the tournament," said Pfister Huskey.

Being the only woman in the population of professional walleye anglers isn't something Pfister Huskey dwells on for very long.

"It's taken me these last four years to get to the level I'm at. It's a lot of hard work, but that would be true for anyone, whether male or female. You have to earn respect from other competitors," she said. "This last weekend, taking second place, was huge. It definitely shines a light that being a strong competitor and being consistent isn't about being male or female."

After all, the only reaction she cares about is that of the fish.

"The fish don't know what's on the other end of the line," she said.

Pfister Huskey will speak at noon on Sunday, June 10, at East Park in Charlevoix during the Charlevoix Trout Tournament.

Also the National Professional Anglers Association director for youth clinics on the Anglers Insight Marketing Pro Walleye Series, Pfister Huskey received the "Dave Anderson Sportsman of the Year" award in 2010.

Currently, she lives in Shawano, Wis., in order to be centrally located to fishing tournaments. For more information, visit www.mariannehuskey.com.

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

Charlevoix resident Dean Mikulski noticed something he hasn't seen in the 46 years he has lived in Charlevoix: the salmon are in early.

"Normally, the salmon don't normally get going until late July," he said.

Mikulski, 70, arrived in Charlevoix in 1966, just as the Department of Natural Resources began planting salmon, after the collapse of the lake trout fishery from the sea lamprey and over fishing. So when he first saw Lake Michigan from Charlevoix, the lake was a barren place.

"I looked out there and said, you mean to tell me there aren't fish out there to be caught?" he said.

But over the next few years, hatchery salmon began returning to Lake Michigan tributaries in overwhelming numbers.

This year, the fishing hearkens back to those early salmon days.

Mikulski has one guess as to why that might be: according to Michigan Sea Grant's daily temperature recordings, "Lake Michigan, in front of Petoskey and Charlevoix, ranged 13 and 14 degrees warmer than late May of last year.

"The temperatures are something we normally see in mid- to late June," said Mikulski.

That's leading the few anglers out fishing for salmon to have pretty successful days fishing, and it's leading Mikulski to hope for some big fish to be brought in during Charlevoix's sixth annual trout tournament, which he helps organize.

Water temperatures are up because of Michigan's warm winter, which was the fourth mildest winter in more than 100 years. And March's weather madness didn't help matters.

"March was extraordinary. I don't think there's any other word for it," said Jeff Andreson, state climatologist and associate professor with Michigan State University. "March was the warmest in recorded history."

And though April felt cold, its temperature was closer to average than March's temperature. Still, March's warm weather on top of the already mild winter bumped up air temperatures — Northern Michigan is running 4 to 6 degrees above average — as well as water temperatures, said Andreson.

Lake temperatures have crept upward too because of lack of ice cover in 2009, 2010 and 2011, said George Leshkevich, physical scientist with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's Great Lakes Environmental Research Laboratory.

Hotter summers and warm winters roll together to keep lake temperatures high — which leads to less ice cover and warmer temperatures early in the season.

"If there's no ice cover, the lake starts warming earlier in the season, and if it's a hot summer, there's a lot of heat storage," said Leshkevich.

Without stable ice cover, which reflects heat and light back into the atmosphere, lakes can store heat, and warming trends can start earlier and last later in the year. During the winter of 2011-2012, less than 20 percent of Lake Michigan was covered with ice.

Currently, the average surface temperature of Lake Michigan is about 5 degrees above average: 54 degrees compared to the 20-year, 49 degree average. As of June 4, Michigan Sea Grant's Coastwatch reported temperatures of 59.4 near Charlevoix and 52.7 near Petoskey.

These late spring salmon's success is thanks not only to the warmer water, but the strong year of alewives in 2010, which are the invasive prey fish that form the basis of salmon's diet. Juvenile salmon survived well in 2010 because they had ample food to prey on, said Randy Claramunt, DNR fisheries biologist based at the Charlevoix Fisheries Research Station.

And, because of both the warm water and ample food, salmon didn't travel south for the winter, down to the southern end of Lake Michigan.

Usually anglers see salmon fishery pick up down near Michigan City, Ind., and St. Joseph, in April, and then slowly work its way up the coast, said Claramunt.

In fact, in years past, anglers in the Charlevoix Trout Tournament start fishing down five or seven miles south of Charlevoix, hoping to get as close to the action as possible. That kind of travel might not be necessary in this year's tournament, set to take place Friday-Sunday, June 8-10.

But what goes up must come down — a rule that holds especially true for the predator-prey relationship. A strong salmon population one year can eat the following generations of salmon out of house and home.

Because of that, the DNR hosted a meeting in Benton Harbor in April to assess the numbers of salmon it's planting each year in the Great Lakes.

But before the DNR makes its decision, it will consider angler input through a survey that was open to anglers through May 15.

"The logic is to reduce the predators so alewife year classes last longer," said Claramunt. "The simple biological pyramid holds: the predator will not last if the prey doesn't. They fall when prey falls. That's a guarantee."

Woman injured in dirt bike crash

On Sunday, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office responded to Charlevoix Area Hospital for a report of a personal injury crash involving a dirt bike, according to a release issued Monday.

Kendra Russell, 18, of Charlevoix, was operating a dirt bike on private property when she lost control while coming out of a ditch onto a driveway, causing her to crash, according to the release.

Russell, who was wearing a helmet at the time of the crash, was being treated for an injury to her left arm, according to the release.

Rayders earn All State honors

Amber Way leads Rayders, places second in 3200 run

Nine Charlevoix Rayders combined to bring home four medals Saturday at the Division III Track and Field State Finals at Comstock Park High School.

Charlevoix's Amber Way earned two medals to lead the Rayders at the state finals.

The top eight finishers in each event earns All-State honors.

Boyne City's Kylie Hicks, a junior, also placed second in the girls 100-meter hurdles and third in the 300 hurdles, while Way was second in the girls 3200 and ran a leg on Charlevoix's 3200 relay team, which placed fourth.

Olivia Certa, Kourtney Putman and Molly Jeakle joined Way in the relay. They finished in 9 minutes, 48.8 seconds, breaking a school record that had stood since 2005.

Way, who was seeded 13th in the 3200, broke her own school standard by some 18 seconds, finishing with a time of 11:07.63. Lindsey Burdette of Hanover-Horton won in 11:01.29.

"Her goal time was an 11:10," Charlevoix coach Mary Plude said of Way, a freshman, who ran in the lead pack behind Burdette for much of the race. "She didn't go until about the half-mile and she started moving up. At 1,000 (meters) I told her to get going and go for it. She was effortless and she passed the four (runners) in front of her.

"Just a greatly paced-out race. Lap after lap, she never broke stride. She's just a steely competitor."

Way, Certa, Putman and Jeakle broke the school mark, 9:52, in the 3,200 relay that was set in 2005 by Shannon Dibble, Teresa Martin, Lindi Edger and Brittany Lamb. Benzie Central won the race in 9:37.97.

Boyne's Hicks wrapped up a sensational sophomore season by breaking her own school records in both hurdle events. She was second in 14.98 in the 100 hurdles, and third in the 300 hurdles in 45.06. She was fourth in the state finals last year in the 100 hurdles.

She was nipped for second place in a photo finish in the 300 hurdles by 5-100ths of a second by Emily Wee of Frankenmuth, who finished in 45.01.

Both events were won by Reed City standout Sam Michell, who became just the second athlete in state history to win four individual events in the state finals. She set three records along the way.

Elks nip Rayders' district title bid

KURT GRANGOOD
Northern Michigan Review sports writer

HARBOR SPRINGS — Although they avoided a rematch with perennial conference foe Harbor Springs, it was another Lake Michigan Conference nemesis, Elk Rapids, that spoiled the Charlevoix Rayder girls soccer team's dreams of yet another district championship last week.

Hailey Patterson scored with 10 minutes remaining off a Robin Trierweiler assist for the lone goal of the game as Elk Rapids defeated Charlevoix, 1-0, Friday, June 1 in a Division IV girls soccer district championship game at Ottawa Stadium.

After Patterson's goal, the Rayders applied pressure in the final minutes, but could not break through.

The loss ended a 14-4-1 season for Charlevoix, which won the Lake Michigan Conference championship and was vying for a fifth consecutive district championship.

It was the second consecutive district title for Elk Rapids, 14-4-2, which will open regional play on its home field on Tuesday, June 5, against Hart. The Elks' district crown last year came in Division III.

Elk Rapids was the only Lake Michigan Conference team to beat Charlevoix during the regular season. The teams split their regular season meetings each winning 3-1 on their respective home fields.

Bailey Steven made five saves in goal for Charlevoix, while the Elks' Maggie Marshall stopped seven.

"We came out a little tentative in the first half," Charlevoix coach Carol Madison said. "Elk Rapids is a good team, and they were beating us during the first 10 minutes of the game before we could settle down.

"I am very proud of this

Rayders bow to Mancelona in district opener

STEVE FOLEY/NEWS-REVIEW

Charlevoix senior Coby Herrimen delivers s pitch to home plate in the Rayders' district semifinel geme against Mancelona Mondey. Herrimen finishes the season end his high school career holding the school's carreer end single-seeson strikeout recorde.

EAST JORDAN — Despite a 10-strikeout effort by their ace starter Monday, the Charlevoix Rayder varsity baseball team ended their season and their hopes of playing in the regionals on their home field when they lost to Mancelona 6-3 in a Division III district semifinal game in East Jordan.

Harbor Springs defeated Boyne City 5-0 in the day's other semifinal behind a no-hit pitching performance of senior Soctty Morse. Monday's games had been postponed from Saturday because of rain.

Mancelona, which went on to defeat Harbor Springs 3-2 in eight innings in the district final Tuesday, will now play Benzie Central at 10 a.m. on Saturday at Charlevoix. Whittemore-Prescott will take on Negaunee at noon in the other regional semifinal Saturday. The winners of each game will play for the regional title at 2 p.m.

In Charlevoix's semifinal Monday, Mancelona opened the scoring in the first inning when their leadoff man was hit by a pitch, stole second, advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on a passed hall.

The Rayders answered in the bottom of the inning when Andrew Potter led off with a double down the leftf ield line, moved up on a ground out and scored on a Tommy Zipp ground out.

In the third, Mancelona scored on a two-out single to take a 2-1 lead. In the fourth, they scored twice on two walks to start the inning, a double steal, a passed ball and an RBI single.

The Rayders eame hack with two runs of their own in the bottom of the inning. Zipp and Shane Sutherland had back-to-haek singles to start the inning and with one out, Isaac Klooster hit a two-run single to right field to cut it the margin to 4-3.

But the Ironmen tacked on two insurance runs in the seventh on three singles and a sacrifice bunt.

"It was a tough way for our seniors to go out.," Rayder bead coach Allen Telgenhof said. "Mancelona made the plays and we did not. We had our chances when we were only down 4-3, in the fifth. We had a man on first and lined hard into a double play and in the sixth we got our leadoff guy on but he was picked off first base."

Charlevoix senior Coby Herriman struck out 10, walked three and allowed five hits in taking the loss.

Andrew Potter doubled, and Tommy Zipp, Shane Sutherland, Isaac Klooster and Nate Moon each singled for the Rayders.

Klooster had two RBI and Zipp added one.

The Rayders finish the season at 17-17, which is the first time they finished at or above .500 since 2007.

The game was the last in Rayder maroon for Herriman who holds two school strikeout records. Herriman finished the season at 9-2 with a 1.38 earned run average and notched 123 strikeouts in 60 innings. Herriman broke his own the single-season stirkeout record of 120 which he set last year. He eclipsed the career stirkeout record last year when he passed the former record of 177 held by Mike Loper. The new career strikeout mark set by Herriman stands a 330.

Herriman has signed a letter of intent to play for Kalamazoo Valley Community College next year.

The Rayders had three players finish with a team high .313 batting average, Herriman, Andrew Potter and Tommy Zipp. Potter led the team in runs scored with 33 while Zipp led in RBIs with 28.

Telgenhof said the players voted team awards of Most Valuable Player and Best Pitcher to Herriman, Best Hitter to Zipp, Best baserunner to Potter, Best Defensive player to Morgan Stewart, Best Team Player to Potter, Most Improved player(s) to Noah Certa and Isaac Klooster.

Looking ahead to next year Telgenhof commented, " I am excited about next year's team hut it will be different as it will be young, but experienced. We will return six key players from this year's squad: pitcher/center fielder Zipp who will be a senior, catcher/outfielder Luke Klinger and pitcher/infielder Shane Sutherland who will be juniors, and pitcher/infielder Nate, Moon, first baseman/outfielder Noah Certa and catcher Will Telgenhof, all who started as freshmen this season.

In addition, we have some solid players who will likely be moving up from the JV including pitcher/infielder J.J. Bottomley, outfielder Justin Pearl, outfielder Logan Eckhardt, first haseman Andrew Mitchell and pitcher/infielder KeNen Borths."

Stingrays learn from Olympians

Several members of the Charlevoix Stingrays Swim Team recently had the opportunity to swim with and learn from Olympians.

"It was an amazing experience to watch our swimmers interact with the Olympians," Stingray coach Betsy Granstra said. Granstra and coach Jory Jonas accompanied eight members of the Charleviox Stingray swim team to one of the two largest and well-known privately-run swim clinics in the world, the Central State Swim Clinic in Chicago, Illinois.

The Charlevoix Stingrays who attended received personalized training and attention from the U.S.'s top coaches and Olympians such as, Josh Davis, Kristy Kowal and Margaret Hoelzer.

"I felt like they really cared about us. They took the time to learn our names and where we were from. It was also a great feeling to wear their Olympic medals," Stingray team member Connor Currier said.

As part of this special experience, the young athletes also benefited from some one-on-one time with two-time NCAA Coach of the Year and head coach of the University of Michigan Women's Swim Team, Jim Richardson. Richardson met with the Stingrays over lunch to share his experience and knowledge of collegiate swimming.

"This was a tremendous opportunity for our swimmers to learn about college swimming and to meet such a successful coach," Granstra said.

She added that the opportunity was one to remember for members of the Charlevoix Stingray Swim Team.

"We left this clinic with a list of ways to improve our swim program in addition to an experience that has inspired our young swimmers and provided them with memories that will last a lifetime," she said.

Rayders bow to Mancelona in district opener

EAST JORDAN — Despite a 10 strikeout effort by the ace starter Monday, the Charlevoix Rayder varsity baseball team ended their season and their hopes of playing in the regionals on their home field when they lost to Mancelona 6-3 in a Division III district semifinal game in East Jordan.

Harbor Springs defeated Boyne City 5-0 in the day's other semifinal behind a no-hit pitching performance of senior Scotty Morse. Monday's games had been postponed from Saturday because of rain.

Mancelona, which went on to defeat Harbor Springs 3-2 in eight innings in the district final Tuesday, will now play Benzie Central at 10 a.m. on Saturday at Charlevoix. Whittemore Prescott will take on [illegible] at noon in the other regional semifinal Saturday. The winners of each game will play for the regional title at [illegible].

In Charlevoix's semifinal Monday, Mancelona opened the scoring in the first inning when their leadoff man was hit by a pitch, stole second, advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on a passed ball.

In the third, Mancelona scored on a two-out single to take a 2-1 lead. In the fourth, they scored twice on two walks to start the inning, a double steal, a passed ball and an RBI single.

The Rayders came back with two runs of their own in the bottom of the inning. Zipp and Shane Sutherland had back-to-back singles to start the inning and with one out, Isaac Klooster hit a two-run single to right field to cut it the margin to 4-3.

But the Ironmen tacked on two insurance runs in the seventh on three singles and a sacrifice bunt.

"It was a tough way for our seniors to go out," Rayder head coach Allen Telgenhot said. "Mancelona made the plays and we did not. We had our chances when we were only down 4-3, in the fifth. We had a man on first and lined hard into a double play and in the sixth we got our leadoff guy on but he was picked off first base."

Charlevoix senior Coby Herriman struck out 10, walked three and allowed five hits in taking the loss.

Andrew Potter doubled, and Tommy Zipp, Shane Sutherland, Isaac Klooster and Nate Moon each singled for the Rayders.

Klooster had two RBI and Zipp added one.

The Rayders finish the season at 17-17, which is the first time they finished at or above .500 since 2007.

The game was the last in Rayder maroon for Herriman who holds two school strikeout records. Herriman finished the season at 9-2 with a 1.38 earned run average and notched 123 strikeouts in 60 innings. Herriman broke his own the single-season strikeout record of 120 which he set last year. He eclipsed the career stirkeout record last year when he passed the former record of 177 held by Mike Loper. The new career strikeout mark set by Herriman stands a 330.

Herriman has signed a letter of intent to play for Kalamazoo Valley Community College next year.

The Rayders had three players finish with a team high .313 batting average, Herriman, Andrew Potter and Tommy Zipp. Potter led the team in runs scored with 33 while Zipp led in RBIs with 28.

Telgenhof said the players voted team awards of Most Valuable Player and Best Pitcher to Herriman, Best Hitter to Zipp, Best baserunner to Potter, Best Defensive player to Morgan Stewart, Best Team Player to Potter, Most Improved player(s) to Noah Certa and Isaac Klooster.

Looking ahead to next year Telgenhof commented, " I am excited about next year's team but it will be different as it will be young, but experienced. We will return six key players from this year's squad: pitcher/center fielder Zipp who will be a senior, catcher/outfielder Luke Klinger and pitcher/infielder Shane Sutherland who will be juniors, and pitcher/infielder Nate Moon, first baseman outfielder Noah Certa and catcher Will Telgenhof, all who started as freshmen this season.

In addition, we have some solid players who will likely be moving up from the JV including pitcher/infielder J.J. Bottomley, outfielder Justin Pearl, outfielder Logan Eckhardt, first baseman Andrew Mitchell and pitcher/infielder KeNen Borths."

Stingrays learn from Olympians

Several members of the Charlevoix Stingrays Swim Team recently had the opportunity to swim with and learn from Olympians.

"It was an amazing experience to watch our swimmers interact with the Olympians," Stingray coach Betsy Granstra said. Granstra and coach Tory Jonas accompanied eight members of the Charlevoix Stingray swim team to one of the two largest and well known privately run swim clinics in the world, the Central State Swim Clinic in Chicago, Illinois.

"The Charlevoix Stingrays who attended received personalized training and attention from the U.S.'s top coaches and Olympians such as Josh Davis, Kristy Kowal and Margaret Hoelzer.

"I felt like they really cared about us. They took the time to learn our names and where we were from. It was also a great feeling to wear their Olympic medals," Stingray team member Connor Currier said.

As part of this special experience, the young athletes also benefited from some one-on-one time with two-time NCAA Coach of the Year and head coach of the University of Michigan Women's Swim Team, Jim Richardson. Richardson met with the Stingrays over lunch to share his experience and knowledge of collegiate swimming.

"This was a tremendous opportunity for our swimmers to learn about college swimming and to meet such a successful coach," Granstra said.

She added that the opportunity was one to remember for members of the Charlevoix Stingray Swim Team.

"We left this clinic with a list of ways to improve our swim program in addition to an experience that has inspired our young swimmers and provided them with memories that will last a lifetime," she said.

Belvedere Hickory Open set to tee off

The Belvedere Golf Club, will host the seventh annual Belvedere Hickory Open June 21-23 at Belvedere Golf Club in Charlevoix.

Club officials are expecting 50 hickory golfers will be coming to Northern Michigan from 19-states and Canada for this year's event. Participants have come from as far away as Manchester, England in past Belvedere Hickory Opens.

The two-day competition is played with authentic, pre-1935 hickory-shafted golf clubs and competitors dress in period appropriate apparel which includes knickers, ties and jackets. The competition takes place under the auspices of the Society of Hickory Golfers, a national hickory organization which celebrates and promotes the hickory game of the 1910's–1930's.

Belvedere has been selected as a "major" hickory venue and is now part of the Hickory Championship Series. The Hickory Championship Series attracts hickory golfers to compete at six "Major" venues throughout the year, beginning with the Southern Hickory Four-Ball in Birmingham, Ala. and ending at the Mid-Pines Hickory Open in Pinehurst, N.C. Points are accumulated at these "major" venues and tallied similarly to the PGA Tour's year ending Fed-Ex Cup point system. Belvedere is hosting the second "major" of the year and is followed by stops at Ankeny, Iowa, French Lick, Ind. and Fort Smith, Ark.

Hickory golfers vary in their aptitude but all have a great passion for the old game, Belvedere Club professional Marty Joy said. He said the champion at Belvedere has historically had to put two rounds in the mid to low 70s together to become champion.

Joy said Belvedere golf club, established in 1925, is the perfect venue for such a tournamen as it was built in the heyday of hickory golf.

"All of the greens are accessible in front and the bunkering is laid out precisely were hickory clubs want to send errant golf balls," Joy said.

Major golf champions Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen, Tommy Armour, Horton Smith, Denny Shute, Jock Hutchison and Leo Diegel have all competed at the Belvedere Golf Club with hickory clubs. Tom Watson (a modern day major champion) is an honorary member of the club and still considers Belvedere Golf Club as one of his top three favorite courses in the country, Joy said.

Tee times for both Friday, June 22 and Saturday, June 23 begin at 9 a.m. Spectators are welcome to walk the course and take in the competition at no charge.

Belvedere Golf Club, the "Home of the Michigan Amateur Championship," will host their 40th Michigan Amateur Championship in 2014.

Library hosts monthly SummerFolk Concert Series

The Charlevoix Public Library hosts the SummerFolk Concert Series from 6:30-8:30 p.m. on the fourth Monday of each month.

The SummerFolk concerts celebrate local folk artists with an evening of music. The featured performer kicks off the evening with a 45-minute concert, which is followed by an open mic session. Open mic sign-up begins at 6 p.m. the night of the concert, and is limited to five performers.

The June 25 concert will feature Hannah Stopple who will perform songs from her Celtic roots. She attended Interlochen Arts Academy for voice, earned a degree in English from Michigan State University and is beginning her MFA in fiction writing at Pacific University. Stopple started playing guitar in college. She has opened for acts such as Harmonious Wail, Switchback and An Dro, and performed at Blissfest, Crooked Tree Arts Center, the County Emmet Celtic Shop, Street Musique and Stroll the Streets.

The folk series will continue on July 30 with the library's own Jessica Dominic, who will show off her vocals and eclectic mix of music. To continue the theme of librarians in song, there will be a special performance by Dwain Martin and his band Just Now on Monday, Aug. 13. Jamie-Sue Seal will perform on Monday, Aug. 27.

The library will be utilizing the memorial gift of sound equipment, honoring Sandra Marquardt who loved and appreciated this concert series. This memorial donation is a gift from her friends and the Friends of the Library.

For more information about the folk concert series, talk to Dwain at the library, (231) 547-2651.

Since the founding of our nation, the role of newspapers in our democracy has been crystal clear. We have been, and will continue to be, the eyes and ears of the American people. After all, the right of free speech is meaningless if no one knows what's really going on. That's why more than 100 million Americans depend on their hometown newspapers daily and why today's newsrooms are staffed with dedicated, highly trained reporters and experienced editors who bring you the very best journalism found anywhere, in print and online.

Legal firm hired

Charlevoix County commissioners choose Bellaire-based lawyers to replace prosecutor in civil role

SHERI MCWHIRTER
Northern Michigan Review

Charlevoix County commissioners hired an Antrim County law firm to serve as civil counsel.

Commissioners decided Wednesday on Young, Graham, Elsenheimer & Wendling, of Bellaire, in a 5-1 vote. Commissioner Rich Gillespie of Beaver Island, cast the sole dissenting vote.

> "Conflict in this case is inevitable and hopefully we can work through it."
> — Richard Gillespie, Beaver Island, Charlevoix County commissionar

The county will pay the law firm either or both $145 per hour and $300 for a monthly telephone retainer. The money will come from the board's budget.

Gillespie said Young, Graham, Elsenheimer & Wendling is well-known across the region as municipal law experts, the reason why the firm serves as civil counsel for many municipalities, including counties, townships, cities and villages.

"I just felt it could be a conflict when we try to resolve issues or look into issues. Conflicts could arise with other units of government," Gillespie said.

New football coach punts before first down

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

Charlevoix Public Schools officials are hoping a man the high school athletic director called "an answered prayer" will help its football program quickly recover from a recent head coach hiring fumble.

On Wednesday, the Charlevoix Public School's Board of Education used a special meeting it had originally called to pore over applications for new district superintendent candidates, to also hire a new head varsity football coach to fill the position it thought it had filled with Jason Katt in late April.

The board ultimately voted 5-2 Wednesday to hire retired Flat Rock High School head football coach Joseph Pruchnicki as the new Rayder head football coach. Board members Glen Catt and Kevin Pearsall cast the dissenting votes.

School officials have been scrambling since Thursday, June 7, when Katt announced during a morning team weight training session that concerns over his family's financial security had prompted him to walk away from the head coaching position and the high school English teaching position for which the board approved him on April 23.

Katt

In April, a search committee had recommended Katt for the coaching position from a field of about 20 applicants for the job. Although this would have been Katt's first head coaching position, he has a strong coaching pedigree from Lowell High School, one of the top football programs in the state in recent years. Katt, 37, has been Lowell's defensive coordinator since 1998. During his tenure with the Red Arrows, they have racked up a 147-25 record, three Division II state championships, two state runner-up finishes, six regional championships, and nine district titles.

Katt also came highly recommended from Lowell High School officials as a teacher.

In the weeks since his hiring, Katt had made regular weekly trips to Charlevoix to begin work in advance of the 2012 season. He had already hosted a "meet the program" event, established a pre-season weightroom schedule, set up a youth football skills day camp (which assistant coaches, parents and team members handled in his absence this week), among many other pre-season efforts.

The day after the school board hired him, Katt told the Courier that his main motivation for seeking the Charlevoix position was his family.

Katt and his wife, Kylee, who is also a teacher, have four children, an 8-year-old daughter, a 7-year-old son, and twin 2-year-old boys.

Katt said Kylee works in a different district than he does, and their school aged children attend school in a third district. The logistical whirlwind, he said, was creating a strain on the family.

Ultimately, it was the same concern for his family's well-being that Katt said prompted him to walk away from the Charlevoix positions.

In a statement emailed to the Courier Saturday, Katt wrote: "Nearly two months ago my family was given assurance that they would be taken care of, and just recently we were made aware that assurance no longer exists. This news is extremely disappointing because of the time devoted to Charlevoix student athletes by the coaching staff, the personal sacrifices my family made, and the good faith proffered to Charlevoix Schools by my family the day this opportunity became available.

"I especially feel for the young men that have had to endure this process that began last November, but I hope that

Coast Guard medivacs ailing crewmember

The man's name and age are not being released.

According to a U.S. Coast Guard news release issued Wednesday, crews at Coast Guard Sector Lake Michigan in Milwaukee received notification at about 10 p.m. EDT of a crewmember aboard the motor vessel Joseph L. Block, a 715 foot, U.S.-flagged commercial vessel, reportedly complaining of lower abdominal pain. After a conference call between the 9th Coast Guard District, Sector Lake Michigan and Air Station Traverse City's flight surgeon, it was decided that a medevac was the best course of action.

The rescue aircrew, aboard an MH-65C Dolphin rescue helicopter, immediately launched and met the vessel at about 11 p.m. EDT near Manitou Pass. After safely airlifting the man off the vessel, the crew transported him to waiting emergency medical services at Charlevoix Municipal Airport. He was taken to Charlevoix Area Hospital.

The man's condition was unknown as of Wednesday.

Smart Commuters log 5,000 miles in first event

Representing Northwestern Bank in Charlevoix, which won the medium-sized organization division of the first-ever Smart Commute Charlevoix event are (from left), Meghann Vincent, Michael Hauser, Jessica Lovsy, Steve Weber, and Lindsy Lawsy.

Organizers of the first-ever Smart Commute Charlevoix Week, running June 4-8, said the event was a "huge success" with 15 businesses logging more than 5,675 total miles and saving more than 246 gallons of fuel.

Smart Commute Charlevoix is a weeklong event designed to encourage businesses to compete against one another for the coveted Commuter Cup, a one of a kind traveling trophy.

Businesses encourage their employees to walk, bike, carpool, take public transit or use any other means of non-motorized transportation to get to and from work each day. The winning team is determined by a calculation of overall participation and miles commuted.

"It was extremely hard to determine a winner for the first year," said Smart Commute Charlevoix chairperson Bethany Pearson. "We had a lot of teams that were neck-in-neck. The participation was overwhelming and more than we could have asked for."

Businesses were divided into three categories, small (0-5 employees) medium (5-15 employees) and large (more than 15 employees). The winning teams for each division were:

Small: The Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce with seven commutes total and 74.5 miles logged

Medium: Northwestern Bank with 14 commutes total and 318 miles logged

Large: Harbor Industries with 174 commutes and 3,239 miles logged

The three pillars of Smart Commute Charlevoix focus on encouraging healthier lifestyles, becoming more environmentally friendly, and fostering teamwork in the workplace. Participating businesses were encouraged to focus on the impact of these three things throughout the week.

"Northwestern Bank wanted to participate in Smart Commute to build our teamwork skills, be active in the events that are important to our community, and to show that we are truly dedicated to having a 'greener' bank," said team captain Lindsy Laway of Northwestern Bank. "It is well worth a week of minor changes in order to make a large impact on the conservation of resources in our community."

With more than 3,000 miles logged, Harbor Industries in Charlevoix had the largest impact on the local carbon footprint. Of their 149 employees more than 40 of them participated in commuting to work over the course of the work week.

Jennifer Kenny, team captain of the Harbor Industries team said, "At Harbor, we believe it's important to be responsible stewards of the environment. For us, it's about thinking of the generations to come and the positive impact we can have. We are continuously trying to find ways to reduce our carbon footprint so this event aligned perfectly with our core values and we were excited to participate."

Smart Commute week is a nationwide event that also takes place in Emmet and Grand Traverse County. It is the hope of the Charlevoix team to expand the event to include the whole county next year and to create a friendly county-versus-county competition.

Smart Commute Charlevoix is organized and run by a group of volunteer individuals. If you are interested in getting involved in Smart Commute Charlevoix, contact Bethany Pearson at (231) 547-2101 or by e-mailing pearson@charlevoix.org.

Norwood road work approval?

SHERI MCWHIRTER

FILE PHOTO

This and another section of Lakeshore Drive in Charlevoix County's Norwood Township are set to improved under paving and Afton stone placement contracts road officials were set to consider earlier this week.

NORWOOD — Contracts for long-awaited road upgrades in Norwood Township were up for potential approval, Monday, June 11, by Charlevoix County road commissioners. (Results of the meeting were not available from road commission officials before press time Thursday.)

Commissioners were expected to meet at 9 a.m. Monday, and among their agenda items is the construction contracts for both paving and gravel placement on two stretches of often muddy, bumpy Lakeshore Drive. The Lake Michigan bluff-top road is divided in two by a portion of Fisherman's Island State Park and remained at the center of months-long past disputes between township and road commission officials.

However, now the two government agencies agreed on how to remedy the recurring problems with the road.

Plans call for workers to pave about 1.3 miles along the northern portion of Lakeshore Drive that is connected to Clipperview Road. Officials estimated the cost at $203,700 and the low bid of $181,705.50 came in from Rieth-Riley, of Petoskey.

Additionally, less than three-quarters of a mile along the southern stretch of Lakeshore Drive starting at Lake Street in Norwood village is set to receive four inches of Afton stone. Officials estimated the cost of that work at $25,275, but the low bid of $27,412.50 came from Poquette Leasing, of Petoskey.

Road commissioners opened sealed bids for the proposed improvements on May 29 in Boyne City.

Lakeshore Drive often becomes a sloppy, slippery mess during and after rainfall, plus the spring thaw makes the road virtually impassable without a four-wheel drive vehicle. It amounts to a lot to contend with, especially for year-round residents, officials said.

Frank Hamilton, township supervisor, said the planned work should improve not only driving conditions on the residential road, but also make walking or bicycling easier for those who live in the neighborhood.

Many — but not all — of the houses along Lakeshore Drive are summer retreat homes, the northern section several miles south of Charlevoix on the western side of U.S. 31. The southern portion is several miles away, separated by several miles of Lake Michigan shoreline in the state park.

Last year, township officials unsuccessfully petitioned road commissioners first to cover the existing dirt roads with triple-seal coat, then failed in their request for the remote stretches along the bluffs to be designated natural beauty roads, at least partly to allow paving without tree removal. This year township officials want to pave the roads with their own funds, a change from last year when they asked the county to float them a loan.

Bike4Breast Cancer Ride set for Saturday

Saturday, June 16, 2012, marks the 10th anniversary of the Charlevoix/Emmet County Bike4BreastCancer Ride at Veteran's Park in Boyne City. This event is held the third Saturday in June each year, raising funds for breast cancer programs offered through Charlevoix Area Hospital and McLaren-Northern Michigan Hospital.

In nine years this event has raised nearly a $250,000, donating $180,000 back to the community. Eighty-five percent of the net is spent right here in Charlevoix and Emmet County, providing services and support to the women who live and work here. The remaining 15 percent goes to the national Bike4BreastCancer chapter, which funds the local organization's website and provides insurance and support for the individual rides.

From July 2011 through May 2012, breast health services have been provided for 117 women at either Charlevoix Area Hospital or McLaren-Northern Michigan Hospital, which includes mammograms, ultrasounds, MRIs, CT scans and biopsies. In addition, Charlevoix Area Hospital spent more than $3,000 in assistance with cancer related medical bills. The money raised by Bike4BreastCancer through this ride helps to sustain these programs year-round.

Organizers said community support is key to the success of any event. For a complete list of sponsors and supporters, see the Local Sponsor page for the Northern Michigan ride on the website. This year's Bike4BreastCancer Ride is donating $1 per rider to the Boyne City-Charlevoix Trail project.

Onsite registration is available at a cost of $35 per person or $60 per family.

Sign in and onsite registration for the 55-mile route begins at 7 a.m., with riders starting by 7:30 a.m., 42, 20 and 7-mile riders are welcome to sign in and/or register and begin their rides from 7:30-9 a.m. Breakfast items are provided prior to the ride and lunch is served beginning at 12:15 p.m. There are also water and fruit stops along the 55, 42 and 20-mile routes.

Marriage happiness tip: Focus on the positives

A LOOK AT LIFE

Gayle Gennett

My last column focused on emotional affairs that can slowly erode a marriage. They seem to be on the rise with the availability of technology and the demands placed on individuals at work and at home. More men and women today are left with the feeling that they are not heard or cared for from their spouse. This week's article will focus on marriage damage control and what you can do to put the spark back into yours.

If you are in the midst of having an emotional affair, severing your connection to your "friend" is the first step in re-energizing your marriage. All the energy that you funneled into this extra relationship needs to be placed back with your spouse. Set aside more time to spend with each other and away from kids or commitments. Re-connecting is a choice to make that is mental and physical. No more comparing your spouse to your "friend." You really need to decide to be loving and compassionate toward your spouse. Feeling emotionally close also brings on sexual stimulation and once you've committed yourself and all your positive energies to your spouse, your spouse will feel the connection and react positively.

Here is an activity I do with couples who have a tendency to be overly critical of each other: Write down on a piece of paper three negative traits that annoy you about your spouse. Next to the trait, list the actual behavior. For example, he /she is "not helpful." The behavior might be "doesn't offer to do dishes," or "doesn't offer to mow the lawn."

On another sheet list three positive traits and the behavior it reflects, for example: "kind" and the behavior might be "drove a neighbor to a doctor's appointment."

Look at the first item you listed negatively then close your eyes and envision your spouse acting on this negative behavior. Next, erase this memory and replace it with one of the positive traits you had written down and focus on how it makes you feel when your spouse does the positive behavior. Replacing negative thoughts about someone we love with the positive things they do will help you to be less critical and focus on the good they do. Often times we get caught up with the negative. If you find yourself only dwelling on the negative then it's time to seek marital counseling.

Nurturing your relationship is important if you want it to heal. For long term marital bliss, you also need to take care of yourself. Maybe there is volunteer work you are interested in or you've begun thinking about the spiritual side of life. You will have less of a desire to fill your life with someone who is likened to your "extra spouse" if you live a richer life. Those who have full lives are less emotionally needy. You can't expect your spouse to meet every need in your life and that is why spending time with friends, family, volunteering, or taking a class is important. When you care for yourself, you will do a better job of caring for someone else. When you are feeling good about yourself, you will also feel better about your relationship.

Don't ever underestimate the sense of touch. Touching gives us a sense of connection. It's a good idea to hug or kiss your spouse before leaving the house or when returning home or just to reconnect during the day. Touching creates a sense of wanting to be together and you'll feel positive about yourself and each other. Studies have shown that couples who hug and kiss each other goodbye before leaving for work have a better work day. When passing each other it's OK to reach out and touch each other — what my mom used to call "a love tap."

Though I've stressed you shouldn't lose who you are and drop the activities you enjoy once you marry, it is also important to spend some time in one shared activity. It could be a sport you both love, traveling or as simple as going for a walk. It soon becomes part of your routine and something you look forward to sharing with each other. Conversation is also good. In our busy lives we seem to forget to share with the one person who really should know how we are doing. At least three times a week, make a point to sit down and talk without interruption from kids or phones. It's important to be honest and share your hopes, triumphs, failures and fears. Surrounding yourself with happily married friends is also helpful as role models will help you keep on track.

My advice may not guarantee happily ever after everyday, but hopefully it will move closer to a happier you and your marriage.

The Fountain City House was Charlevoix's first hotel. It started out as a small boarding house constructed for the workmen who pioneer businessmen Amos Fox and Hiram Rose, brought in to construct their 900-foot dock into Lake Michigan in the mid 1860s. They hired Richard Cooper of Little Traverse (Harbor Springs) to come over and run it. After the workmen left, in 1867 Cooper bought the building and named it after the passenger steamer Fountain City which had started calling at the dock in 1866. Her captain, James Gibson, who had become a close friend of Cooper's, suggested the name because he was now bringing in so much business to the rapidly growing establishment. Within a few years the Fountain City House became the largest hotel in Northern Michigan, and the terminus for the stage coach run between here and Bear Creek (later Petoskey). To its right is Charlevoix's first store, in the Keyes building. The hotel lasted, in the same family ownership, until 1953, came down in 1955, and is now the site of the Weathervane Terrace Inn and Suites.

'Friends' of group thanks local volunteer

Editor:

The Friends of the North Point Nature Perserve at Mount McSauba Park would like to thank Dale Glass for all the help he has given us. Plotting the phragmites along the Lake Michigan shoreline through the park and having it brought under control, the great trails, benches, signs, getting the Boy Scouts involved, making calls for me whenever I go to him with concerns regarding the preserved and park — fire pits, trash, four-wheelers and everything else. Thank you for answering your door and listening, the signs on the Michigan Avenue township beach access, and thanks for all I overlooked, Mr. Glass.

Don't Take a Vacation from Investing

Summer is here — which means a vacation most likely isn't far away. Whether you're hitting the road, jumping on a plane or even enjoying a "staycation" at home, you're probably looking forward to some down time with your family. But not every aspect of your life should be relaxed. Specifically, you don't want to take a vacation from investing — which means you need to become a diligent, year-round investor.

Here are a few suggestions that can help:

Keep on investing. Don't head to the investment "sidelines" when the financial markets experience volatility. You don't want to be a nonparticipant when things turn around because, historically, the early stage of any market rally is generally when the biggest gains occur. (Keep in mind that past performance of the market is not a guarantee of future results.)

Keep learning. In just about any classroom, the best students are the ones who get the most out of their education and put their learning to the best use. And the same is true of the investment world: The more you know about the forces that affect your investments' performance, and about why you own the investments you do, the more likely you are to make the right moves — and the less likely you'll be to make hasty and unwise decisions.

Keep your focus on the long term. As an investor, you need to look past those events — such as natural disasters, recession fears and political instability abroad — that may have noticeable short-term effects on the financial markets but little impact over the longer term. So instead of making investment decisions based on today's headlines, think about what you want your financial picture to look like in 10, 20 or 30 years — and take the appropriate steps to help make that picture materialize. These steps include following a long-term, disciplined investment strategy that's suitable for your individual needs, making adjustments as time goes on and working with a professional financial advisor who knows your situation and can help you make the right choices.

Keep looking for growth opportunities. To achieve your long-term goals, such as a comfortable retirement, you'll need to own growth-oriented investments, such as stocks and other investments that contain equities. The percentage of your holdings devoted to stocks should be based on your risk tolerance, time horizon and proximity to retirement. But no matter what your situation, you want a portfolio that's designed to help you meet your investment goals.

Keep relying on "hardworking" investments. To help ensure your investments are working hard for you, choose those vehicles that can help you in multiple ways. For example, when you invest in a 401(k) or other employer-sponsored retirement plan, your money grows on a tax-deferred basis, which means it can accumulate faster than if it were placed in an investment on which you paid taxes every year. (Keep in mind that taxes are due upon withdrawal, and withdrawals prior to age 59½ may be subject to a 10% IRS penalty.) Plus, you typically fund your 401(k) with pretax dollars, so the more you put in each year, the lower your taxable income. Furthermore, with the choices available in your plan, you can create a good mix of investments.

Enjoy your vacation this summer. But no matter what the season, don't take a break from investing. Your efforts may pay off nicely for you in the future.

Lions Club to celebrate 50 years

The Charlevoix Lions Club is looking for the community's help in celebrating its 50th anniversary in the coming months.

Five decades ago, a group of community leaders looking for a way to serve their community and those afflicted with blindness formed the Charlevoix Lions Club, and affiliate of Loins International, the world's largest service club organization. There are more than 1.3 million members in more than 45,000 clubs in 270 nations worldwide.

The mission of the clubs is "to empower volunteers to serve their communities, meet humanitarian needs, encourage peace and promote international understanding."

To this end, since 1968 the Lions Clubs International Foundation has awarded more than $660 million in grants to support Lions humanitarian projects.

Following in this tradition, the Charlevoix Lions annually give more than $12,000 to Lions projects through Michigan, local community projects, scholarships and serving vision needs locally. These funds are raised by the members selling their well-known chicken at Venetian Festival, White Cane, Christmas Tree sales, golf outing and other events.

In preparation for their 50 year celebration, the club is seeking pictures of the club's past activities. Anyone who has old news clippings or photos of past events and would like to share them, may contact Eric Ider at (231) 547-7446, Trent Kutsch at (231) 437-3264, or send them to the Charlevoix Lions Club, PO Box 212, Charlevoix, MI 49270. The club is planning a 50 year celebration in the coming months.

Anyone interested in becoming a Lion may contact Don Hengesh at (231) 439-0987 or simply attend one of the club's weekly meetings which take place at noon on Mondays at the Weathervane Restaurant.

Henrietta Kleinpell Randoph, 79

Henrietta Kleinpell Randolph, world traveler, wife of a U.S. Air Force general and active worker in major charities in three cities, died quietly June 6, 2012, at the Randolphs' home at Fox Hill in Bethesda, Md., just outside Washington, D.C., of a rare bone marrow disorder called Myelofibrosis. She was 79.

Her interests were broad and popular, including leading glorious New Year's trips six years in a row to celebrate the holiday with her friends from the United States at magnificent palaces in St. Petersburg; serving on the board of the famous Lab School and on the Founders' Committee of George Washington's historic Mount Vernon for 17 years and as a member of the Sulgrave Club.

When she and Brigadier General Randolph married in 1973 at Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas, he was a widower with four young children — Jim, 13, Charlie, 12, Glenn, 10, and Marilyn, 5. A wonderful, ready-made family, she called them. She lived in Oklahoma City for the next 20 years while her husband served as commander of the Oklahoma City Air Logistics Center at Tinker Air Force Base, and then as president of Kerr-McGee Corporation's coal and uranium operations. She moved to Washington, D.C., when her husband was named Assistant Secretary of Energy for Fossil Fuel in 1991. She resumed her travel planning career at this time with an emphasis on winter trips to St. Petersburg and Moscow in Russia. In later years, the Randolph family returned to her home state of Michigan to build a lake home in Charlevoix, where the entire family and friends loved to vacation.

Mrs. Randulph was an unusually seeking person, engulfed on major educational ventures before she married. Born in Flint, Mich., daughter of lumberman Arthur and Helen Davenport Kleinpell on Jan. 16, 1933, she was graduated from Kingswood School Cranbrook, in Bloomfield Hills, Mich.; then was graduated from Smith College in North Hampton, Mass., in 1954; and went on to receive a master's degree in English and education from the University of Virginia in 1956. She received her master's degree in theater, speech and drama in 1962 from the University of Michigan, and was a teaching fellow pursuing a Ph.D. in theatre at the University of Michigan when she garnered a highly-desirable job with an Ann Arbor travel agency, Conlin Travel, leading high-level delegations of Big-10 alumni around the world.

She is survived by her husband, Major General (Ret.) James G. "Randy" Randolph, by her four children: Jim, Charlie and Glenn Randolph, and Marilyn Tohin, and 10 grandchildren as well as her sister-in-law, Nancy Kleinpell, widow of Mrs. Randolph's late brother, Peter, and nieces and nephews.

A memorial service will take place at 2 p.m. on Saturday, June 16, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 711 South Saginaw, Flint, Mich., and she will be buried in a private ceremony next to her parents and brother. A celebratory memorial of her rich life will be held in September at the Sulgrave Club in Washington, D.C.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be made to The Fred W. Smith National Library for the Study of George Washington at Mount Vernon.

Estella Margery (Livingston) Hahn, 91

Estella Margery (Livingston) Hahn, cherished daughter of Archie and Margery (Ash) Livingston of Charlevoix, beloved wife, honored mother and grandmother passed away May 2, 2012 in Sun City West, Ariz. She was 91.

Estella was born in Charlevoix Nov. 19, 1920. She was one of five children; her siblings David, Janet, Robert, and Archie preceded her in death. After high school, Estella went to Grace Hospital School of Nursing in Detroit, where she became a registered nurse in 1942. Estella met her husband Ralph Hahn in Detroit and they were married March 4, 1944.

Estella was a homemaker and active in the Alma Community. She played her violin with the Alma College Symphony Orchestra, loving classical music and, at times, a little jazz. Like her mother, Estella enjoyed singing and sewing. She and Ralph traveled extensively, but the place she loved the most was her childhood home of Charlevoix, swimming in the cool fresh waters of Lake Michigan.

Estella was recently preceded in death by her loving husband of 67 years, Ralph, and survived by son Dan (Elaine) Hahn of St. Louis, Mich., daughter Phyllis (Stan) Breidinger of Winchester, Va., daughter Nancy (Clay) Calkin of Walnut Creek, Calif. and son Paul Hahn of Fairfax, Va. Also, seven grandchildren Karie (Steven) Bobzin of Malibu, Calif., Sara (David) Potter of Macomb Township, Mich., Shannon (Kyle) Ahlgren of Washington, DC, Sarah (Brian) Rodgers of Leesburg, Va., Jessica Marquardt of San Francisco, Calif. and Ralph Hahn of Warrenton, Va. and three great-grandchildren Seahastian Bubzin, Elizabeth Bubzin and Declan Rodgers. Ralph and Estella were also survived by six step-grandchildren and 14 step-great-grandchildren.

Estella and Ralph are members of the First Presbyterian Church of Alma, 495 Charles Ave. A memorial service for both Ralph and Estella will take place in the church sanctuary at 11 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 4, 2012. Immediately following the service, their ashes will be interned together in the Pennington Memorial Garden.

Bernice Arline Knaffle, 93

Bernice Arline Knaffle, 93, of Cheboygan, passed away June 7, 2012 at Tendercare of Cheboygan.

Bernice was born on Aug. 18, 1918 in Charlevoix to Percy and Ruby (Kirby) Edwards. She enjoyed growing up in Charlevoix and loved to reminisce about spending summers swimming at all the beaches and spending time helping her father at the Edwards Family Greenhouse and selling vegetables to the area residents.

Across the street from her parent's home was a gas station where she met a young Art Knaffle and in 1941 they married and moved to Cheboygan. When they were first married Bernice stayed at home while Art worked at local businesses, such as Longborn Hardware and Ireland's Gamble store. In 1948, they purchased and operated the Hilltop Grocery on Levering Road and lived in the back of the store until they retired in 1971.

Bernice loved to travel, even if it meant a trip down a local country road, and especially along roads with many rocks and trees. She spent many happy times with her best friend Joy Myers going to garage sales in the summer. They always found some real treasures! She always had time for her grandchildren and was happy to be part of their lives.

Bernice spent three years in the Larson Hall Extended Care Unit and the last two months in Tendercare. She enjoyed visits from friends and family and hearing about what was going on in the old neighborhood. She treasured the many friends she had made in Larson Hall and Tendercare and grew to love many staff members whom she adopted as family. Words cannot express the gratitude the family feels for the excellent and loving care she received during the last three years of her life. A special thank you to her dear friends and physicians, Dr. Leja and Dr. Grebe, for keeping her active and doing it her way.

Bernice is survived by her children Gerald (Diana) Knaffle and Lo-Ann (Tim) Bur, daughter-in-law Evelyn Knaffle, grandchildren Aaron, Alison and Maria Bur, step-grandchildren Dennis Edwards and Laurie Merchant, step-great-grandchildren Jason Merchant and Stephanie Harvey Bellanca, and many nieces and nephews who adored her.

She is preceded in death by husband Art in 1978 and a son, William in 1997, a sister, Helen Daggett, and a brother, Bill Edwards.

No funeral service is planned at this time and those wishing to remember Bernice are asked to make a memorial gift to the charity of their choice.

Online condolences may be made at www.stonefuneralhomeinc.com.

The Nordman-Christian Funeral home is caring for the family.

North Central enters into reverse transfer agreement

North Central Michigan College was one of five Michigan colleges who entered a regional partnership designed to increase the number of students who complete degrees at Michigan colleges and universities.

Other schools involved include Alpena Community College, Kirtland Community College, Ferris State University and Lake Superior State University.

The new reverse transfer agreement will create a process whereby students who transfer from the community colleges to either of the universities can be awarded a community college associate degree with the help of credits earned at the university. Qualifying students must have already earned 45 credits at the community college prior to transfer.

Several hundred former North Central students may be eligible to receive a degree under the reverse transfer agreement.

Community colleges offer a number of associate degree programs that encompass the basic courses for a bachelor's degree at a four-year college or university. Some community college students are well on their way to earning an associate degree when they transfer to a university. The reverse transfer agreement provides a way for transfer students to receive an associate degree when the necessary requirements are met so as to more fully represent their academic success.

The participating universities will notify eligible transfer students and ask their permission to audit their transcripts to determine eligibility for an associate degree. If the additional credits earned at the university are sufficient to meet the community college's degree criteria, the community college will be notified and the process of awarding a degree will be initiated.

Other Michigan community colleges and universities have recently signed similar agreements. The goal of all of the agreements is to provide a seamless transfer experience and increase student retention and degree completion at both levels. They came about as the result of a collaboration of college and business leaders in west Michigan seeking to ensure an ongoing supply of world-class talent in the state's workforce over the next decade.

FRISKE'S 50TH ANNIVERSARY EVENT

When: 11 a.m. Friday, June 15
Where: Friske's Farm Market, 10743 North U.S. 31, 10 miles south of Charlevoix in Atwood.
Details: The two- to three-hour event includes a grand ribbon re-cutting ceremony, 50-year overview by owner Richard Friske, tastes of cherry pie, live music by the Cherry Blossom Ramblers, opportunities to talk with founder "Grandma" Friske, bakery specialties.

For more information, call (231) 599-2604 or visit www.friske.com.

The multiple generation, family owned and operated Friske Orchards farm market will celebrate its 50th anniversary this 2012 season.

"We are proud of our heritage and the milestone of having a business started and continued by the same family for three generations," said Friske market general manager Heidi (Friske) Drost in an email.

Combined, the Friske Orchards span across 300 acres of Michigan land, including a partial historical centennial farm, processing and storage facility, and homes for farm family and staff.

Richard and Olga Friske developed Friske Orchards in 1962.

They came to America from Germany in 1952 and after their children were born, they purchased a bankrupt farm near Charlevoix that is now known as Friske Orchards.

Richard and Olga, along with their three young children, worked to rejuvenate the land and build their dream.

In 1983, the orchards were passed along to the next generation of the Friske family, and through much hard work were able to maintain the hundreds of acres of fruit the Friske Orchards produced.

To add to the success of the orchard, Friske's quality produce began being sold through the Friske Farm Market, as well as at local farmers markets, wholesale stores, markets and distributed throughout the Midwest.

In 2000, the Friske Family purchased Elzinga's Farm Market, two miles away from the main farm.

What was once a seasonal market for products has now become a year-round Friske Farm Market, offering a fruit stand, bakery, café, general store, gift shop and a family friendly barnyard petting zoo and orchard playground.

"We have a large expansion project planned at Friske's Farm Market for 2013, which will become a reality if we have a profitable enough year in 2012," Drost said.

An expansion is the next major goal for the retail part of the business.

"That will allow us to better serve our guests, and give them the very best 'Friske experience' by expanding our Orchard Café kitchen and dining area, our restrooms, our retail space, as well as connect our Country Haus Gifts building to the main market building," Drost said.

Drost took over as general manager last fall and this will be her third season working with the orchard.

"I have a passion to see the business succeed," she said.

And, although the Michigan weather has not been ideal for many crops so far, the family was able to foresee problems and possible crop loss because of the weather.

While a lot of fruit was lost, the Friske Orchards are not planning on importing any of their fruit and everything they sell this season will be Michigan grown, Drost said.

The primary crops grown at Friske's include apples, sweet and tart cherries, peaches, apricots, nectarines, pears, plums, strawberries, raspberries, rhubarb and asparagus.

Friske's also offers a variety of seasonal crops such as beans, carrots, celery, chestnuts, cucumbers, lettuce, onions, peppers, potatoes, sweet corn, spinach and tomatoes.

There is also a wide variety and long list of specialty items that Friske's provides for the community.

Some of these include applesauces, fruit spreads, jams, jellies, butters, dressings, dips and sauces.

"Our goal for the present and the future is to always passionately pursue our mission — it is our privilege to always strive to win, keep and exceed our customer's expectations, by providing them with finest quality products and exceptionally passionate service," said Drost.

Friske's Farm Market is located at 10743 North U.S. 31 in Atwood.

New system will send emergency weather alerts to mobile phones

A new emergency alert system will deliver warnings directly to some cell phones, according to a National Weather Service Gaylord news release.

While warnings in weather emergencies can save lives, traditional methods, such as TV, radio and outdoor sirens may not reach everyone.

So, beginning this month, through a partnership with FEMA's Integrated Public Alert and Warning System, officials will also be able to send warnings directly to cell phones, according to the release.

Using the new Wireless Emergency Alert system, the National Weather Service will send warnings for tornados, flash floods, blizzards and ice storms to cell phone towers serving affected counties. The warnings will be sent automatically to many newer-model cell phones within range of the towers, the release states.

"While these warnings may look like text messages, there won't be any charges on your phone bill," said Jim Keysor, warning coordination meteorologist at National Weather Service Gaylord. "This is just one more way to be alert for imminent dangers, whether you're at home or on the road."

The short messages will provide very basic information, such as the type of warning, affected areas and duration.

"When you get this warning message, we encourage you to turn to other sources for more detailed information about what to expect and what actions you should take," Keysor stated in the release.

In addition to weather alerts, the system can broadcast AMBER alerts and presidential alerts for national emergencies. On newer phones, these alerts will be turned on by default. Procedures for opting out of the alerts will vary by carrier, the release states.

Whether you receive these alerts and how will depend upon your cell phone and service provider, the release states. About 10 percent of cell phones in use today are already capable of receiving the alerts. Others, such as newer iPhones and Android models, will soon receive software updates that add this feature.

The wireless industry estimates that by 2014 nearly all phones on the market will be compatible with the alerts system, according to the release.

Michelle Gilbert, public relations manager for Verizon's Michigan/Indiana/Kentucky region, said the alerts system is meant to be used only for true emergencies and customers will not be charged for the messages.

She said there are three types of alerts — presidential alerts, to be used in situations such as terrorist attacks, imminent danger alerts, such as extreme weather, and AMBER alerts for missing persons. She said Verizon customers can opt-out of receiving the AMBER and imminent danger alerts, but not presidential alerts. More information for Verizon customers can be found at http://support.verizonwireless.com/clc/faqs/Wireless%20Service/emergency_alerts_faq.html.

To learn more about the Wireless Emergency Alert system, visit the NWS Gaylord webpage at www.weather.gov/gaylord or contact your local emergency manager.

To find out if your phone is capable of receiving the alerts, contact your wireless service provider.

Sheriff: Helmets helped limit injuries

Two Charlevoix residents were injured when the motorcycle they were riding on collided with a deer recently.

Charlevoix County Sheriff Don Schneider said the driver Jack B. Niswander, 57, and his passenger, Tara M. West, 50, were injured in the crash.

Schneider said the crash happened shortly after 10 p.m. on June 9 U.S. 31 at Nine Mile Point.

Deputies said the Niswander and West were traveling south on a 2012 Harley-Davidson on U.S. 31 at Nine Mile Pt. when a deer suddenly ran into the road and stopped. The motorcycle struck the deer sending it into a side skid down the road. Authorities said the driver had not been drinking and was traveling at a safe speed and that both riders were wearing helmets.

Authorities said the riders were seriously injured, but might have sustained further injuries if they had not been wearing helmets. The riders were assisted at the scene by concerned citizens, then treated by Charlevoix Township Fire Department and transported to McLaren-Northern Michigan by Allied Ambulance.

COACH

they choose to do the right thing and focus on what they can control. I know that my family is focused entirely on those things, and for me, personally, I will do as I have always done: Give absolutely everything I have to my faith, family, friends, and profession."

Asked if he wished to elaborate on the situation when speaking with the Courier Monday, Katt chose to limit his comments to those in his email.

Charlevoix Public Schools interim superintendent Pat Bootz said Monday that he spoke with Katt in his office on June 1 during which they discussed concerns Katt had about his and his family's financial security. Bootz said they discussed the district's financial circumstances and what that meant for Katt's (teaching) job security.

"I outlined that our budget is distressed and that we can't guarantee job security in the long-term for anybody," Bootz said. "He asked me, 'What would you do if you were in my shoes?' And I had to be honest with him. I told him, 'I would stay where you are.'"

From a seniority standpoint, if cuts were made in the future in the English department teaching staff, Katt would have been the first to go, Bootz said.

At Wednesday's meeting, board member Kevin Pearsall asked the committee and administrators, if Katt had been promised anything in terms of job security or a teaching job for his wife in discussions prior to the board approving his hiring.

High school principal Suzanne Klinger said that Katt had been promised a pay scale at "base 16" in deference to his years of teaching experience. (In most contracts, a first-year teacher starts a "Base 0" or Base 1" on the pay scale.) She said that Katt was also informed that there would likely be a few teaching positions becoming available at the elementary school and that, based on her background, his wife would be qualified for one of those positions and would therefore be welcome to apply, but she was not promised anything.

In the wake of Katt's announcement last week, Charlevoix High School athletic director Brian Certa reconvened the same committee that recommended Katt, to find his replacement.

Members of the selection committee include Certa; Tom Kemovic, retired athletic director from Ferris State University; Mark Snyder, former college football player, local real estate agent, member of the Rayder Gridiron Club and local youth coach; Scott Kelly, former varsity baseball coach, Charlevoix High School graduate and football player and executive director of BASES in Charlevoix; and Dr. Craig Boss, staff physician at Charlevoix Area Hospital, Charlevoix High School graduate and football player from Charlevoix's undefeated team of 1977.

Pruchnicki, Certa told the board Wednesday, was not among the group of candidates who applied for the position the first time around. In fact, he noted that all of the four candidates who were interviewed have all found new positions or are staying where they are. Instead Pruchnicki came to the committee's attention, as Certa put it, as "an answer to a prayer."

Certa explained that Pruchnicki had contacted him about a month ago inquiring about the coaching vacancy. He said when he told Pruchnicki that the position had already been filled, Pruchnicki had offered to volunteer in any coaching capacity that might help the program. Certa said when Katt bowed out, Pruchnicki's name came to the forefront.

In a story published May 15 on his retirement from teaching and coaching at Flat Rock, Pruchnicki, 65, told the Monroe Evening News that he planned to retire to his cabin southeast of Mancelona, but still wanted to stay involved in coaching football somewhere.

On his resume, Pruchnicki lists football coaching experience going back to 1985 in various high schools, mostly in the Flint area including Goodrich, Swartz Creek, Lake Fenton, Flint Southwestern, Flint Powers, Flint Central, Oscoda and Flat Rock. In his last six-year stint with Flat Rock, Pruchnicki's teams racked up an 18-36 record.

Pruchnicki taught for 23 years in Flint Public Schools as a high school and middle school emotionally impaired, physical education and science teacher. He also taught for a year in Oscoda and five years in Flat Rock. He holds a bachelor's degree, and emotionally impaired endorsement and a master's degree in educational administration.

Certa said after spending about an hour of its three-hour meeting Tuesday night talking with him, the search committee was very impressed with Pruchnicki.

"Originally I was thinking he's going to serve as an interim who will mentor our other coaches, but that thought was quickly canceled out," Certa said.

Search committee member Craig Boss said Pruchnicki's attributes are perfect for a program that has been through turmoil like Charlevoix's has recently.

"When you sat in the room with him there was just a sense of calm about him," Buss said. "Like he's been there before and (the problems aren't) going to bother him."

Despite the committee's glowing endorsement, not everyone among the more than 40 audience members gathered or the school board was sold on the committee's recommendation

Katt's unexpected departure gave new fuel to a fire that had burned — particularly among some of the Rayder football team members — when current JV football coach Doug Waha was not among the finalists the committee selected for interviews prior to the board approving Katt for the teaching and coaching position.

Waha had thrown his hat back into the ring for consideration again following Katt's departure.

Certa said Waha's continued interest in the job even after not even being a finalist the first time around, speaks highly of his character and commitment to the program, but the committee still felt that Purchnicki was a better fit for the position.

Logan Hess was one of several Rayder football team members at Wednesday's meeting. He asked the committee why more weight wasn't given to the players' wishes (to hire Waha for the job).

Committee member Kelly said the committee members are aware of all the politics, surrounding the coaching position, and assumed that the players want what's best for the program.

Kernovic told the players, "Yes, we did consider your needs, and the juniors and the sophomores ... and on down. Remember, the jersey doesn't have your name on the front of it. It has 'Charlevoix.'"

Speaking to the players upset at the committee's recommendation, audience member Michelle Hines said, "I admire your passion for the coach that you know, but as parents, administrators and school, we need to remember to take a step back ... It may not be what you want, but you are going encounter situations like this throughout life."

She added, "Remember that this is a life lesson. If you are passionate about football, you should just go out there and play football the best that you can."

Speaking on behalf of the concerned players, including his son who is a senior on the team, board member Catt said many of the players feel like they've been a pawn in the situation.

"I understanding building the program long term. Coach Katt was a great choice, but today, June 13, We need to think about what's best for the kids. I fear we are going to lose some kids."

He added later, "Making a transition (to a new coach) will be easier with someone they know."

But board member Valerie Snyder said she saw no problem with the recommendation, and the board should follow the process it set in place.

"We have a committee and no one is questioning the committee or the candidate. I don't get then why we wouldn't follow the recommendation. I don't think they (the players) are getting the short end of the stick here. They're getting a quality coach.

Board member Dick Joseph agreed.

"Looking at his resume, it's a good resume. We put our trust in (the committee) for Coach Katt and I can't find anything wrong with this guy."

Certa said, if approved for the job Wednesday, Pruchnicki planned to have his first meeting with the team at its 6 a.m. workout Thursday.

Gillespie

Evans

"Conflict in this case is inevitable and hopefully we can work through it," Gillespie said.

Commissioner Joel Evans, board chairman from South Arm Township, said he believes possible conflict issues can be overcome and one of the firm's partners wrote a letter that argued the same.

"He has responded to that," Evans said.

Attorney Bryan Graham, of the Bellaire based legal firm, said he could not specifically recall a conflict situation that came up between the counties the firm works for and the townships within those counties the firm also represents.

"However, if such a situation should arise, then the procedure to follow would be to fully disclose the conflict to both clients (the county and the township) and to obtain consent from both clients for the dual representation," Graham wrote in an email to the county.

Graham also said contracts between municipalities is the most likely time a conflict may come up. The firm's past practice is to allow the two clients to determine the substance of the contract and then have the lawyers place the negotiated terms into a proper legal document, Graham explained.

The board needed to find a new civil counselor after John Jarema, Charlevoix County prosecutor, resigned as the board's civil counsel in April. Jarema's given reason for resigning is being "short-staffed" and having concerns in his prosecutor's office that means he may have to audit all the recent criminal files — a time consuming event — he wrote in his resignation letter.

Jarema's resignation as civil counsel followed a string of issues that surrounded him, both regarding his legal advice and management abilities. He illegally refused to reveal emails requested by the Petoskey News-Review under the Michigan Freedom of Information Act, resulting in a subsequent lawsuit and public admonishment by an Emmet County judge for violating state law and behaving in an "arbitrary and capricious" manner.

Additionally, Jarema's chief assistant prosecutor, Shaynee Fanara, at a meeting in April spoke at length to commissioners about multiple personnel issues directly related to how Jarema treats her and her concerns with his alleged unethical behavior. Fanara accused Jarema of lying to county commissioners and a judge, refusing to pay her for work she did, launching a false investigation into her time slips with the county and most shockingly — that Jarema spread false rumors about her having sex with a defense attorney in exchange for better plea bargains. That came as retaliation, Fanara said, after she filed a grievance against Jarema with the Michigan Attorney Grievance Commission for his alleged lies to commissioners and a judge.

Jarema described Fanara's accusations as "unfounded allegations" intended as a ploy to file a lawsuit against the county.

Since then, Jarema hired Petoskey-based attorney Robert Mendham on a part-time, contract basis as temporary replacement for Fanara, who remains out on medical leave. Fanara's medical leave is because of tension headaches her doctors attribute to stress levels directly related to Jarema's poor behavior towards her, she previously said.

Mother Nature smiles on Trout Tournament

STEVE ZUCKER
Courier Editor

Warmer-than-normal water temperatures, fair skies and calm waters came together last weekend to produce one of the best Lake Charlevoix Area Trout Tournaments in the event's 28-year history.

Dean Mikulski, one of the tournament's organizers said the leader boards for many of the contest's five categories were full soon after the first weigh-ins began on Friday morning, and the weights were up, too — way up.

In the salmon category alone, he said well more than 300 fish were weighed-in.

"This year you had to have 15 pounds just to be on the board," Mikulski said.

He said anglers didn't have to go far to get the big catches either. Mikulski said in some past years contestants have had to travel many miles off shore to find their winning catches, but this year the winners in both the lake trout and walleye categories were taken within a mile of the weigh-in site.

Not only was the action in the water good, but so was the weather above it. Mikulski said this was the first year in recent memory that there hasn't been at least one day of foul weather.

Also, after several years of slow declines, participation was up significantly this year by about 75 percent to 390 registrations.

"I don't think the word was out that much about the good fishing, but we continue to draw many locals, but also from as far away as New York and Chicago," Mikulski said.

Many anglers are attributing the great fishing to lake temperatures that are about 15 degrees above what they normally are this time of the year. Weather officials have attributed the warm lake temperatures to the mild winter and lack of lake ice.

He said the tournament saw several first-time winners and good participation among youth.

He noted that 150 children took part in the kids' fishing event in the East Park trout pond, with proceeds from the event benefiting the Charlevoix Pop Warner football program.

Charlevoix team, residents among 'Character' award winners

STEVE FOLEY

Two individuals and one team from Charlevoix were among a number of Northern Michigan people who were honored for demonstrating good character in athletics during the eighth annual Beyond the Scoreboard Champions of Character Awards Banquet at the Emmet County Fairgrounds Community Building Monday.

The banquet recognized area individuals, coaches, athletes, officials, parents and fans involved in youth and interscholastic sports program who have demonstrated sportsmanship and positive character values through sports.

The award recipients from Charlevoix included:

— Sophia Thompson, Charlevoix St. Mary's Elementary School, female youth athlete

According to the banquet program, Sophia is a member of the Charlevoix Stingrays Swim Club. In her three years with the team, she has qualified for the Michigan Swim Team League state finals each year, won the Stingray's coach's award for 2010-11 and the most outstanding swimmer award for 2011-12.

The program reads: "This year Sophia's hard word really paid off because she was aging-up (birthday) one week before the state meet, requiring a faster qualifying time, which she met three weeks before the finals. She enjoys swimming because it's a life-long activity that benefits her both physically and mentally. In school, Sophia has been on the all-A honor roll since students at St. Mary's started receiving letter grades in the fourth grade and she is willing to extend extra effort to help other students."

— Al Gooch, Charlevoix, youth sports leader

Gooch, who has 39 years of competitive swim coaching, came to the Charlevoix Area Community Pool in 1998 as director and immediately started the Charlevoix Stingrays Swim Club. Starting that first year with just five swimmers, this past year the club hit the 100-swimmer mark and sent 25 swimmers to the state meet.

Gooch's entry in the program reads: "He believes everyone should have the opportunity to swim, especially in an area surrounded by so much water. He is recognized state-wide as an expert in aquatics and water safety and is well-known for his fairness, dedication and sportsmanship. He is a good example for youth in the community and is a man who has made an impact in Northern Michigan."

— 2011 Charlevoix High School girls cross country team, team of character

The entry in the program for the team reads: " Coach Mary Plude prides herself in building character, and this past season's team just seemed to take it one step further. This was a special group who truly 'walked the talk' as role models for exemplary character. Besides being leaders within the school, the team showed a knack for being compassionate, thoughtful, dedicated and organized. This is a passionate group that not only encouraged each other but showed they can also give encouragement to their opponents. Several team members are in the National Honor Society and many are active in school organizations. They have also participated in fundraisers such as the local food drive and ran three American Red Cross blood drives. This is a team that off the field has gone above and beyond."

Other area award winners included:

— Mitchell Hoffman, Petoskey St. Francis Xavier Middle School, youth athlete.

— Kerry VanOrman, Petoskey High School, coach.

— Harold Koviak, Indian River, official.

— Gary and Mary Ann Roberts, East Jordan, fantastic fans.

The Lifetime Achievement Award went to Margaret Ruemenapp of Petoskey, who has been involved in area tennis for four decades as a player, coach, administrator and United States Professional Tennis Association instructor.

Introducing the award winners were Betsy Granstra, Susan Levitte, Tracey Mauer, Phyllis Olszewski, Brian Certa, Chris Myers, Keegan Reynolds, Tom Litzner and Karen Langs.

The event's keynote speaker was Harold Slemmer, executive director of the Arizona Interscholastic Association, who talked about how perspective in competitive athletics has changed over the years as well as ways to re-find the proper perspective in front of a large gathering at the annual event.

Slemmer, who has received numerous awards including the Tempe Diablo Administrative Award of Excellence and the Distinguished Arizonan Award, said there are plenty of good stories out there. Case in point, those who were honored Monday night, and it's up to parents and coaches to take control and not get "caught in a moral tug-of-war."

"I believe this community gets it," Slemmer said. "I think this community really understands the cultural battle that is going on."

Slemmer, who attended the same high school (Wilson High School in Pennsylvania) as former University of Michigan quarterback Chad Henne and former NFL quarterback Kerry Collins, noted that those involved in athletics typically do have better work ethics and attitudes, but athletics can be a double-edged sword.

"Since the 1950s and most recently, studies have shown participation in athletics doesn't at the same time build moral character," Slemmer said. "The higher up you go in the elite system, the more callous their moral reasoning becomes."

Quoting a friend in the sports psychology industry, Slemmer said, "The rate of what we think and do is limited on what we fail to notice, and what we fail to notice there is little we can do until we realize we've failed to notice."

Slemmer then shared some headlines from college and professional sports recently and talked of the potential mixed messages they send, including his favorite, Metta World Peace, or the Los Angeles Laker formerly known as Ron Artest.

"He's been suspended for 116 games, and he's been suspended 13 times," Slemmer said. "How many of us in our professions get 13 chances to do the right thing?"

Treating the game, your opponent, and, more importantly, officials with respect, is what Slemmer said we as a society today tend to get away from.

"The win-at-all-cost strategy, and when it's not caught or if nothing really happens, that's taught a lot of moral callous in our kids," he said.

While in college, Slemmer had the pleasure of listening to Owens, who won four gold medals at the 1936 Olympics in Berlin. He said that three-hour class left an indelible mark.

Prior to that year, no other Olympian had achieved so much in previous Olympics. What made Owens' story more unique is it affirmed that an individual's performance distinguishes one more so than race, religion or national origin.

Germany's Luz Long, who was Owens' toughest competition, introduced himself during the long jump after Owens had fouled on his first two jumps. Lutz, who didn't buy into the Aryan race propaganda that Adolph Hitler espoused, suggested to Owens that he mark several inches before the takeoff board and jump from there.

Owens used the advice and qualified on his last jump.

Later, Owens went on to win the goal medal with a final jump of 26 feet, 5 1/2 inches, and the first to congratulate him was Long.

"Lutz was a blonde-haired blue-eyed handsome athletic-looking guy and he was expected to win the long jump," Slemmer said. "At the awards ceremony, when the two of them stepped off the awards stand, they walked arm in arm around the stadium to show the companionship they developed."

BE A WISE SHOPPER
It's always wise to remember that if an offer sounds too good to be true, it probably is. If you are offered merchandise at an unbelievably low price, check it out thoroughly. A call to the Better Business Bureau (serving Eastern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula) will tell you whether other consumers have had problems with the firm that has offered the merchandises. (248)223-9400. But call the Bureau BEFORE you make a purchase. You'll be glad you did.

Super search begins

Charlevoix schools seeks new superintendent

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Courier

This week, the Charlevoix Public Schools Board of Education began interviewing candidates for the position of school superintendent.

The school board narrowed the candidate field from 25 to six during a recent meeting, and interviewed those candidates at two public meetings, one Monday, June 18, and one Wednesday, June 20.

"We spent close to two and a half hours going over our 25 job applicants to determine the six candidates," said John McClean, school board president.

The board used the organization, the Michigan Association of School Boards, to aid in its job search. The association gave the board the ability to create a profile that included all of the qualities they were looking for in a superintendent. Job applicants then filled out similar paperwork, and the board was able to cross-reference their profiles to determine the candidate pool.

"I really believe we have got a very quality group of individuals to interview," McClean said. "We are very pleased with the diverse group of folks we have had; and very pleased with the job-searching process. We are confident we're going to find someone in that group that we will choose as our next superintendent."

The board considered Stephen Larcomb, who is currently superintendent of the Pleasant Local School District in Marion, Ohio., and Joann Spry, administrator of transportation, athletics and grant writing at St. Louis Public School District in St. Louis, Mich.

The candidates interviewed on June 20 were Charles Muncatchy, superintendent of Jalen Rose Leadership Academy in Detroit; Robert Gendron, superintendent and kindergarten through 12th grade principal for Pentwater Public School District in Pentwater; Susan Miko, superintendent of Patrick Henry School District in Hamler, Ohio; and Scott Riley, current superintendent and kindergarten through 12th grade principal of the Camden-Frontier School District in Camden.

Charlevoix's previous superintendent, Chet Janik, stepped down in February after five years in the position, accepting a position to serve as the county administrator of Leelanau County Board of Commissioners.

New Charlevoix bus stop coming in August

SHERI MCWHIRTER
Courier

A new bus service will roll into Charlevoix on Aug. 1.

Charlevoix City Council members unanimously voted Monday to approve an Indian Trails proposal to develop an official bus stop in downtown Charlevoix. The stop will be at the northern end of the Beaver Island Boat Company building on Bridge Park Drive and the ferry business will serve as the bus service's local ticket agent.

"It will be a nice little addition," said mayor Norman "Boogie" Carlson Jr.

City manager Rob Straebel said city staff members highly support the coming bus service as a way to bring more visitors to the community and allow for an important link to the Beaver Island ferry service.

"There are no concerns. We have looked at every aspect of this," he said.

The plan is for Indian Trail buses to turn onto Bridge Park Drive near the drawbridge and stop, but not spend more than a few minutes parked along the curb. As soon as passengers are loaded or unloaded, the bus will immediately carry on its route, said Ken-

Charlevoix man accused of hiring someone to set fire to Bergmann Center

HEATHER LOCKWOOD
Northern Michigan Review

A 50-year-old Charlevoix man accused of hiring someone to commit arson at the Bergmann Center has been arrested and is facing charges including solicitation of a felony — arson — real property and conspiracy to commit larceny in a building, according to a Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office news release.

Chaffee

Charlevoix County prosecutor John Jarema authorized a six-count warrant for the arrest of Richard Scott Chaffee. The counts are: solicitation of a breaking and entering a building with intent; conspiracy to commit breaking and entering a building with intent; solicitation of a felony — arson — real property; conspiracy to commit arson — real property; conspiracy to commit larceny in a building; solicitation of a larceny in a building, according to the release.

After receiving a tip from the Joint Operational Law Enforcement Team, the sheriff's office investigated an arson that was to take place at the Bergmann Center, a life skills building facility in Charlevoix for adults with mental and physical challenges.

"An informant was paid a sum of money to set fire to the Bergmann Center and upon completion of the task was to receive a much larger sum of money," the release states. "The fire was to take place in the office area of the center and computers were to be removed prior to the fire being set."

The release continues, "(Charlevoix County) Sheriff (Don) Schneider and Prosecuting Attorney Jarema praise the actions of our (Joint Operational Law Enforcement Team) in the prevention of hundreds of thousands of dollars in damages and disruption to the training and education of the staff at the center. Sheriff Schneider reassures the community that the Bergmann Center is not in any danger."

New redevelopment liquor license committee established

SHERI MCWHIRTER

Charlevoix City Council members appointed five people to the new city Redevelopment Liquor License Advisory Committee.

City leaders voted Monday to approve appointments for Terry Left, Vi Keller, Amanda Wilkin, Fred DiMartino and Gina Whitney. Also, the local downtown development authority executive director and city manager will serve on the committee in a non-voting capacity and mayor Norman "Boogie" Carlson Jr. will serve as committee chairman.

The committee is expected to recommend to city council members by July 27 any regulations, guidelines or conditions associated with granting future redevelopment liquor licenses.

Last month, the city council established a new Redevelopment Project Area and Development District. Carlson said he wanted to set up the advisory committee to consider developing an ordinance to set local guidelines and conditions which could be more strict than state laws.

Charlevoix's DDA board recommended DiMartino's and Whitney's appointments during its May 29 meeting.

Germs are necessarily not a dirty word

Roger Knutson

Germs do not usually get much positive attention. We are taught early and continuously that germs are bad. They cause diseases and are regularly associated with dirt and disorder. We all know that Listerine kills germs and that is a good thing. We buy antibacterial soap and are urged to use it daily or more often. We know that flies carry germs and so are to be avoided or swatted.

It turns out that the flies may be getting more germs from us than we do from them.

Germs, with all the bad connotations carried by that word, are more properly called bacteria. Germs just means something capable of growing, as in a seed germinating. The name "bacteria," on the other hand refers to a specific sort of living creature, microscopically small, and essential to all life on the planet earth.

Recent studies of the numbers and kinds of bacteria that live in and on healthy humans have suggested that those little creatures are a necessary part of us.

Because they are so small, the numbers of bacteria that live in and on us are almost unbelievable. Recent press reports of those friendly bacteria on and in us suggest that each of us, while healthy, may provide a home for somewhere in the neighborhood of 100 trillion individual bacteria. That very large number looks like this when written out in full: 100,000,000,000,000. As a way of visualizing such an enormous number, consider this: Stacked up, face to face, about 20 pennies make a one inch high pile. How big a pile would 100 trillion pennies make? If you do the arithmetic, 100 trillion pennies would make a stack more than 100,000 miles high (almost half way from the earth to the moon).

You have to suspect that all those bacteria (somewhere between two and five pounds total weight per person, and more than a thousand different kinds) must be doing something. Odds are very good that they are doing a lot of beneficial things. In fact, without those trillions of bacteria, we would almost surely not survive.

Our resident bacteria are not all good guys. Some of them can cause diseases, but most often they do not, as long as the rest of our bacteria are healthy and growing on our skin and in our gut. Killing some of our resident bacteria with broad spectrum antibiotics can cause disease as well as cure it.

This does not mean that we should avoid all antibiotic treatment. It may be necessary in some cases. It is good to be cautious, however, and to think kindly of our 100 trillion fellow living things.

It not only takes a village to raise a child, it takes trillions of bacteria to keep any human being going. We should begin to think of ourselves as a community of organisms, not just an isolated human being.

It is rather comforting to me to have good evidence that we are dependent on a multitude of creatures that we know little about, and that work in concert to make us what we are. Hurrah for our bacteria, long may they thrive. Maybe we should stop calling them germs.

CHARLEVOIX HISTORICAL SOCIETY

LOOKING BACK…

The Fountain City House hotel (last week's photo) had the transient housing business all to itself for 11 years, until the Ingleside Hotel was constructed on the southwest corner of Bridge and Clinton Streets in 1878. It was built by Mackinaw businessmen Samuel Crone and Philip Dorman. It became immediately popular with traveling salesmen because they wouldn't have to wait on the north side of the channel for the bridge to close before making their downtown rounds (sound familiar?) The Ingleside was actually more a boarding house, open during the eight or so months when Lake Michigan was not frozen and its clients could reach town, that had a bakery and grocery store on the front street level. In 1893 one of its guests was a German count named Henry, Count Adelmann, of Adelmansfelden, Lord High Chamberlain to his Royal Highness, the Prinze of Hohenzollern. He was up from Chicago because he wanted to hunt and kill a deer. The business became the Noble Hotel just before it was severely damaged by fire in 1895. F.W. Chapel bought the damaged structure in 1897 and transformed it into a drugstore with offices and rooms to let above. Chapel sold to B.A. Herman, who renamed it the Central Drug Store which came into the hands of the Ochs family in 1929. The building was torn down and replaced by the low brick building there today in 1958, still the Central Drug Store, still owned by the Ochs.

'Smeltania City' topic of next History Speaker Series event

The Charlevoix County History Preservation Society presents its June 2012 "History Speaker Series" program: "Smelt Runs and Smeltania in Boyne City during the 1930s and 1940s" with guest speaker Bob Morgridge at 7 p.m. on Monday, June 25, in the Boyne District Library's lower level community room, located at 201 East Main St. in Boyne City.

At the turn of the century, Boyne City was a busy lumbering town but the lumbering boom faded in the early 1920s. The community settled down to hard times with the advent of the depression in the 1930s. Only the Tannery provided most of the citizens with work. During this time, local people found that they could find a meal and earn a living by catching smelt and selling smelt for a penny or two apiece to downstate restaurants. The first smelt were dipped in the Boyne River around 1929 with the advent of the smelt runs. Around 1937 another event began near the shores of Boyne City. This was the establishment of Smeltania City. When Old King Winter stilled the turbulent waters of Lake Charlevoix with a thick blanket of ice a new city emerged. The city was called Smeltania.

During the program historian and author Bob Morgridge will reveal the legacy of the only city in the world built on ice. This event is free and open to the public. Light refreshments will be served. For more information call (231) 582-5326.

VIP Pizza returns to Charlevoix

ANNE KELLY
Courier staff writer

There's nostalgia involved in the opening of VIP Pizza in the Oleson's Plaza in Charlevoix.

Owned and operated by Chris Sarasin, of Charlevoix, the new VIP Pizza aims to be a throw back to the pizzeria that was an establishment in downtown Charlevoix on Bridge Street for many years.

As a matter of fact Sarasin, as a teenager, was an employee in the original VIP owned and operated by Jim and Sherry Withers during its heyday.

"There was a family feel to it in those days," he said. "Jim Withers was like a father to me; one of Withers' key employees, Sean McDonough, was like an older brother. We all got along so well. I recollect all the great times I had there and wanted to bring back those memories as much as possible for the town."

Sarasin and his staff of 15-20 employees are hand tossing and baking their pizza old-style in a brick-lined oven just like the former VIP.

"We even make our ranch dressing here in the store like the old VIP too," Sarasin continued. "There might be a few things that may be a tad different, but then we live in different times from 30 years ago."

When they found out that the Oleson's Plaza pizza place G and Papa's was closing, Sarasin and his wife, Lisa, decided to make a move to buy. Sarasin attributes his wife, who manages the business aspect of the operation, sons Cody, 16, Thomas, 13, and Jacob, 8, and his sister Debi Blanchard with helping him get the pizza project up and running. The Sarasins are not afraid of putting in hours of hard work. They also run a small trucking company, Chris works part time at the airport and drives a school bus during the school year. Up until three weeks ago, Lisa was lead clerk at the Charlevoix Mobile Station.

"When the deal was done, we contacted Jim Withers and Sean McDonough to see if we could come up with the pizza recipe. They had no trouble with the ingredients, but no one could remember the measurements," Sarasin said.

So they experimented and got feedback in the early weeks by distributing their pizza to local establishments, businesses and schools asking how they were doing in matching the original. Withers, who now resides in Florida, was taken aback, touched that people back in Charlevoix remembered or cared about his VIP Pizza.

The new VIP menu includes subs and sandwiches, salads, burgers, sides and of course a variety of pizza, sticking as close as possible to the first owners' menu.

"We haven't done much advertising yet," Sarasin said. "We both come from large local families and have many friends so it's mainly been word of mouth since we opened in April. Opening day brought more than they bargained for. One of the middle school teachers announced we were opening and we were swamped."

The Sarasins are looking into expansion and have checked out VIP's original location. Lisa has an idea to create a sort of after-school hangout with pizza for snacks for local teens. But all that is down the road. As of now their main focus is putting out the best pizza in town, vintage VIP style.

VIP is open 11:30 a.m.-10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 11:30 a.m.-11 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 4-10 p.m. Sunday. Delivery is free.

It is located at 108 Antrim St. in the Oleson's Plaza in Charlevoix, and can be contacted by calling (231) 547-1800.

Gallery celebrates grand opening

MARK LINDSAY

ROUND LAKE GALLERY
OF ART AND DESIGN

The Round Lake Gallery of Art and Design officially opened June 16 to a very welcoming crowd of locals and visitors according to owner Kathy Ackerman.

"We had a really terrific evening," she noted.

Ackerman had been renovating her property for new tenants throughout the year, but only recently decided to open the gallery herself.

Previously a resident of the East Lansing area, Ackerman operated a gallery for several years there before purchasing the property in Charlevoix. The building was originally owned by her parents, Charles and Patricia Koucky, and was purchased from their estate by Ackerman.

"I knew my father had always wanted to do something special with this property," she said. "Putting in my gallery is part of fulfilling that dream for me."

Having visited the area with her family many times since the late 1970s, Ackerman said she always felt that the community was wonderful and a great place to live. After raising her three children to adulthood and being free to take on the opportunity when it came along, she decided to go for it.

"When I finally decided that the space would be ideal for a gallery, and I was already renovating it, things just fell into place," she noted.

With her children assisting in different ways from behind the scenes, Ackerman has some support in areas such as e-commerce and business strategy. Although they live far away, and two in foreign countries, she said she feels that they will continue to be involved in the gallery in the future.

"From all over people came out to help with the setup and cleanup of the property when we needed them," Ackerman noted. "I had volunteers cleaning windows and some wonderful contractors to work with," she added.

Since she only decided to make the space into a gallery in May, there were some extreme deadlines to meet, according to her.

"Everything has worked out really well, and I feel like it is exactly what I wanted it to be," Ackerman said.

The gallery offers everything from small gifts, starting at around $5 all the way up to fine art in the $4,000 range. According to her, the goal was to have something for everyone who stopped in and to make the gallery a fun place to visit.

Ackerman has some goals for the future of the business, including partnering with other galleries to increase the awareness of Charlevoix's art businesses.

"We'd very much like to do some art walks and other events to emphasize what we have here downtown," she noted.

She also has space to eventually feature some local artists offering classes to the public, starting as soon as this year.

"One of my goals is to bring a diversity of work in and represent both Michigan artists as well as American and international works," Ackerman said.

She has partnered with artists who specialize in many different areas, and from far away places such as Peru, to bring in a wide variety of art. Ackerman also noted that they will have regular shows highlighting new artists from around the world.

The new gallery is located at 325 Bridge St. in downtown Charlevoix. For more information, contact them directly at (231) 675-2117 or visit them on Facebook. Regular business hours are 10 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Sunday.

MARK LINDSAY
Courier staff writer

From teenagers to adults, online gaming is a fast growing and popular pastime. Charlevoix area residents now have a new option for gaming at Digital Destruction, a brand new gaming facility.

Jason Niswander recently opened the new business in early April with the goal of providing a place gamers could go to spend time playing their favorite online games together. "Some of my favorite memories as a teenager were playing games with friends online," Niswander said. The area previously had a gaming facility, but it had closed and Niswander felt the need was there and the timing was right.

Digital Destruction offers far more than just a gamers' hangout. Niswander can provide everything from computer consultation and repair to sales. "We want to offer a unique experience to our customers," he noted. The goal he set for the business was to create something engaging yet casual and fun at the same time, according to him.

Previously Niswander had worked in different fields, but has long had a passion for gaming and computers. Having graduated from the Charlevoix area schools in 2009, he intended to join the military but because of some back problems was unable. "I knew this was the right opportunity for me, and I really wanted to have a place where teens and their friends especially could create the good memories I have," he said.

Niswander developed his skills with computers and gaming software on his own through years of working on his own systems and assisting friends with theirs. "It's really something you pick up as you go, and although I'll never know everything, I'm always learning," he noted.

Digital Destruction does offer a custom gaming system, built to order to its customers on a case by case basis.

Eventually Niswander has plans to expand his product lines into things such as T-shirts and other apparel as well as some computer accessories and other things. "I feel that we offer a really good base for people to come in and access the internet, gaming or otherwise," he noted.

Prices ranging from $5 per hour to discounted multiple hour packages have been popular among locals according to Niswander.

During the summer months gamers will want to check in for new schedules of events that Niswander has planned. Building on the hottest new games such as Battleship 3 and Diablo 3, he has plans to offer interactive tournaments, open to the public. "I think the gamers will enjoy some of the things we'll eventually do, such as the tournaments," he said. "It's also going to be fun for friends and others to tag along."

Digital Destruction is located at 103 W. Hurlbut in Charlevoix. For more information about their services contact them directly at (231) 330-5708 or visit during regular business hours noon-11 p.m. daily.

Free film showing in Charlevoix

Next week there will be a free screening of "The Frontier Boys" in Charlevoix.

Downtown Charlevoix's Monday Movies at the Marina program will feature the PG-13 movie filmed in winter in Charlevoix, East Jordan and Mancelona. The film's director, John Grooters, and cast members will be at the event and will show exclusive behind-the-scenes clips prior to the film showing.

There will be a drawing for free film merchandise following the movie at East Park's pavilion. A meet-and-greet session will begin at 8 p.m. Monday, followed by the film at 9:15 p.m.

"It's great to bring 'The Frontier Boys' to East Park. What could make a person feel better about life than to watch a film shot in Charlevoix in February while sitting in Charlevoix in June?" Grooters said.

"The Frontier Boys" is a faith-based action film awarded the Crystal Dove Seal for best feature film of 2011 in the limited release category. The film also won Best Picture at the Sabaoth International Film Festival in Milan, Italy, the Iowa Independent Film Festival and the ICVM film conference in Atlanta, along with numerous other awards. The film also features performances by Grammy Award-winning singer Rebecca St. James, country music star Big Kenny and former Olympic boxer-turned-pastor Earthquake Kelley.

The movie is about four high school boys whose undefeated basketball season and friendship are threatened after a drive-by shooting leaves one of them in a coma and another with a secret. They are inseparable both on and off the court until one character becomes caught up in his older brother's mixed-up life.

PROGRAMS

including birds, flowers and insects. Students will participate in the Michigan Herb Atlas Project, bike through the Jordan Valley, learn about edible plants and play nature awareness games.

Finally, both sessions of classes will end with a raft trip down the Jordan River.

Parents are encouraged to register their children as soon as possible because space is limited to 20 students. The first session begins Monday, June 25, and runs through July 13 with Independence Day week off, while the two-week second session runs from July 16-27.

The sessions cost $12 per student for all six classes, though scholarships are available. There is a discounted $20 fee for multiple students from the same family.

Two instructors will be featured at this year's programs, including Wagbo Farms naturalist Fischer Jex and John Thompson, veteran science teacher and environmental educator.

Visit www.friendsofthejordan.org for more information about the program, or call (231) 536-9947 for enrollment.

BUS STOP

neth Henry, Indian Trails' vice president of operations.

One route will take passengers north to Petoskey, across the Upper Peninsula and to Milwaukee, while another will go south to Traverse City, Grand Rapids and Chicago, both connecting to Amtrak's national passenger train system. Also, Charlevoix is not unfamiliar territory for the regional bus service company, as Indian Trails has long served Northern Michigan, Henry said.

However, he said the Owosso-based company maintains high expectations for the new Charlevoix bus stop.

"We think it's going to be very popular," Henry said.

Donald Monteith, of Charlevoix and Michigan Association of Railroad Passengers' regional chairman for Northern Michigan, said he is thrilled about the new bus stop. This is the second time the idea came up and he's pleased it found success this week, he said.

Additionally, Monteith said he expects the bus service to prove useful for those hoping to avoid increasing fuel prices or older folks who simply don't wish to drive long distances.

"I'd rather sit there and read a book than do the driving," he said.

> "It's great for Charlevoix. It will bring some more people in and they'll be linked with Beaver Island."
> — Margo Marks
> Beaver Island Boat Company president

Charlevoix soon will appear on national train and bus service timetables, printed 5 million times each year, officials said.

Margo Marks, ferry company president, said officials there are eager for the new bus service and what it will mean for both Charlevoix and Beaver Island.

"It's great for Charlevoix. It will bring some more people in and they'll be linked with Beaver Island," she said.

Henry said Indian Trails will advertise travel to the new Charlevoix bus stop as a combination trip with ferry service to the Lake Michigan island.

City officials also discussed Indian Trails' request to hang a bus stop sign on the ferry company's northern exterior wall. City planner Mike Spencer said city rules will allow such a sign — so long as it doesn't exceed 30 square feet — but the company must first apply for a permit.

City attorney Jim Young reminded Indian Trails officials that the city council's approval of the new bus service and stop does not relieve their responsibility to seek that sign permit. Henry said they would apply for such a sign permit within a week.

Online classes offer students many options

ANNE KELLY
Courier Staff Writer

Usually by his or her senior year, a typical high school student is beginning to think about what comes next: college, employment or perhaps a combination of the two. Regardless, it's time to formulate a plan, to get the portfolio in order, and to get serious about the future.

But 17-year-old Cassidy Bonar, daughter of Terry and Shari Bonar of Charlevoix, is not your typical high school senior.

Highly motivated to succeed, she has already made her plan and is well on her way to accomplishing goals others are just formulating. As a junior, Cassidy said she chose to take a hiatus from her classmates at Charlevoix High School and enrolled in an online learning program, E-2020, through Northwest Academy.

By doing this she was able to complete, not only her junior year curriculum courses, but also make headway into the core senior courses for this coming school year back at Charlevoix High School.

"That way I can participate in coops and take more electives," she said. "I am also looking forward to running cross country next year."

Last school year, Cassidy started her day on Monday, Wednesday and Friday joining a prayer group that met before school. She then worked at Glen's in the daytime, and participated in a youth group on Wednesday nights so she wouldn't lose contact with her friends. She worked last school year, and is continuing to work this summer, at Glen's Market in Charlevoix during the daytime. She tackled the online courses at home in the evenings; these included algebra, English, Spanish, government and world history.

The virtual learning model involves watching a video of a lesson, taking notes from the lecture, doing practice homework, keeping a journal and answering questions at the end of each lesson before going on to the next level.

"I'm going to continue through summer to finish history and math," Cassidy said.

In the spring Cassidy attended leadership workshops given by Great Lakes Energy and was one of 16 chosen for a trip to Washington, D.C. in mid-June. Students from all over the country, who have exhibited the same leadership qualities as Cassidy, will enjoy site-seeing, meeting with their elected officials and being exposed to the workings of the nation's capital.

She has taken two mission trips to Nicaragua, last August as part of an outreach program by a youth group from New Hope Community Church in Elk Rapids and again in December with another group. Part of her plan for the future is to become more involved in mission work after graduation from college.

She has her eye on two possible colleges that may help her achieve that goal: The International House of Prayer in Kansas City and Bethal University in California.

But first, after graduating from high school she hopes to hike the Appalachian Trail for four to six months with a group of friends.

Gary Stutzman, director of development and director of bands at Northwest Academy is one of Cassidy's biggest cheerleaders.

"We have 72 students taking online classes through E2020 at Northwest Academy and Cassidy is one example of a student that has excelled in the program taking a full load," Stutzman said.

E2020 is a company that started up in the early 1980s in the small school district of Pine River. Two teachers devised a way that teachers could be video taped in their classrooms and those videos shared with a bed-ridden student. The school applied for a "Seat Time Waiver" through the State of Michigan, a term that is used today in virtual learning.

Stutzman is enthusiastic about his school's participation in E2020 and the possibilities it offers to students like Cassidy.

"Many students are looking for a way to increase their productivity and to be taking Advanced Placement (AP) classes and elective classes. We are one school that makes that possible," Stutzman said. "E2020 allows students to take any class that falls under the Common Core Curriculum that the State of Michigan is adopting. The Northwest Academy teachers are the highly qualified teachers on the other end of the program to be contacts for the students locally instead of hundreds of miles away like some of the "for profit" companies that are out there."

Northwest Academy has been offering the E2020 virtual learning option since 2008. "Students may either opt to take a full load of courses or just supplement the curriculum with a few classes during the day for AP classes, credit recovery or interest in a career pathway," Stutzman said.

Madison steps down

ANDY SNEDDON
News-Review sports editor

Carol Madison is taking a lot of things with her as she steps away from her post after a dozen years as the Charlevoix High School girls soccer coach.

Most recently, a state coach of the year honor.

Madison tendered her resignation last week after 12 years at the helm of a program that has grown by leaps and bounds during her tenure.

She was named the Division IV public school state coach of the year by the Michigan High School Soccer Coaches Association after leading the Rayders to the Lake Michigan Conference championship in her final season.

"It means so much to me," Madison said. "I really couldn't believe it. To have this from my peers, my fellow coaches, people I respect and admire ... is such an honor."

Madison took over the varsity program in 2001 after a two-year stint as the junior varsity coach.

The Rayders went through three non-winning season in her first three years at the helm, but put together a winning record in each of her final nine years. Her final tally is 164 wins against 73 losses with 14 ties.

She led Charlevoix to five district and league championships, and, in 2008, guided the Rayders to a regional title, the one and only in girls soccer in school history.

> "Whoever's coming in is going to have a fabulous team to come into."
> — Carol Madison

That team finished 19-3, a school record for wins, and bowed to Kalamazoo Christian in a state semifinal game.

Since 2005, the Rayders had won either a league or district championship — or both — every year.

She earned six district coach of the year honors, and twice was named regional coach of the year. More than a dozen of Madison's players earned All-State honors while playing for her.

Madison, who is a Charlevoix Elementary School teacher, said it simply was a good time for her step down. In her true team-first philosophy, she's leaving her successor plenty to work with.

"There is a talented group of juniors (returning next year)," she said. "Whoever takes over the program is going to have a great base and just some wonderful girls, smart girls, high academic achievers — I can't say enough about this group.

"Whoever's coming in is going to have a fabulous team to come into."

Madison has been deeply involved in Charlevoix soccer for the better part of two decades. All three of her daughters came up through the program, and two of them, Becca and Kate, starred for her Rayder teams.

Her husband, Herm, is a soccer official, and the entire family has lived and breathed the sport for years.

"For the last 12 years we have just been immersed in soccer," she said. "It's a lot of time and in my case it's a year-round thing. I've been kind of feeling likes it's time to move on and do some other things.

"I've been thinking about it for a couple of years and I just feel like this is the time to go."

Madison graduated from Berkley High School in suburban Detroit in 1974. Title IX, which granted equal access to educational opportunities — including athletics — for both females and males in public education, was just taking hold when Madison was in high school. She never got the opportunity to play varsity sports.

Raising her own three daughters, she saw the myriad benefits of athletics. And when her own children needed her, she raised her hand, despite the fact that she had never played organized soccer.

"They needed a coach and there didn't seem to be anybody else stepping up and these girls wanted to play," she said, adding that most satisfying has been "watching these girls develop into confident young women.

"I think athletics just does so much for all kids, but especially I see it with girls, the empowerment it gives them, and that level of confidence in being able to set goals and knowing they can achieve them and those kinds of things.

"It has been just one of the biggest joys of my life. It really has. The friendships I've made with these girls. I still hear from them and some of them still come back and come to the games. They contact you and let you know what's going on in their lives.

"All my kids have played a lot of sports, we've done everything there is to do, but there something special about soccer girls. I don't know if it's the fact that they play in all types of weather, you're out there in the heat, the rain, the cold ... Just the bond they create on the team and among themselves. And I've been fortunate to be included in that."

Madison had coached 4-H soccer in Charlevoix as her daughters progressed through the system. It was during that time that she met Tom Conlan, one of the early driving forces behind the burgeoning youth program in Charlevoix.

Conlan came on board as Madison's assistant coach from day one at the school.

"I think the two of us together, we've been an awesome team," she said. "It's been a really great relationship. He's really defensive-minded and that's his thing, the defense and the goalie, and I'm really attacking-minded. It's been kind of a perfect pair as far as offensive and defensive coaches for the team.

"It's hard to walk away. It's hard because I love those girls and I love coaching them and being with them. I feel like Tom and I have given these girls much more than just the opportunity to play soccer."

'Up North Fourth' returns

MARK LINDSAY
Courier Staff Writer

After enjoying success in their first attempt at creating an event in downtown Charlevoix around the Fourth of July holiday last year, organizers of the Up North Fourth are making some tweaks to this year's version of the event in hopes of improving upon the good start last year.

Charlevoix Downtown Development Authority executive director Keith Carey said last year's event was a huge success as well as a learning experience.

"We worked hard and put on a fun day for everyone who attended, and had some great partners," Carey said. "This year, we have done some extra planning, added some new partners and made a few changes for the better," he added.

One of the goals the planners set for the event was to draw a younger, family-style crowd that would help give Charlevoix a reputation as a destination for younger active people.

"We really wanted to showcase the flavor of the community, both literally and figuratively," Carey said.

By partnering with retailers and food vendors from across the region, Carey and his team were able to present a wide offering of the tastes of Northern Michigan last year.

Another goal Carey and his team established early on was to use the event to both highlight and support a local organization that was already important in the community.

"We discussed the opportunity with the folks from Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, and right away we knew that it was a perfect fit," Carey said.

Last year the event raised more than $2,500 for Keep Charlevoix Beautiful and the goal this year is to surpass that, and also to spotlight the group's well-known Operation Petunia, through which U.S. 31 is lined with petunias

Board set to pick new superintendent

Selection expected at special meeting Friday

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

The Charlevoix Public School's Board of Education discussed the qualities of each of the three candidates it interviewed for the position of superintendent until nearly 11 p.m. during a special meeting on Wednesday but it could not reach a consensus.

The board found qualities in each candidate that matched what the district was looking for in its next superintendent — namely energy and experience in finance and fundraising.

Charles Muncatchy, Ph.D., was most recently superintendent at Jalen Rose Leadership Academy in Detroit.

"I thought the Jalen Rose experience was one of the things that I liked about him the most," said board member Valerie Snyder. "I think he went way outside his comfort zone to take that job at that school."

Muncatchy left the Jalen Rose job because of funding issues. The academy is a charter school in which students learn based on leadership and real-world experiences on the career side of sports and entertainment.

Muncatchy also had experience marketing his previous school district in order to draw students to the school, including hosting meetings with real estate agents to ensure his school district is a selling point for new families moving into the area. He also highlighted working with Charlevoix's chamber of commerce to attract business — and therefore families — by using Charlevoix schools' recent ranking by U.S. News and World Report at 24th in the state as a selling point.

Muncatchy

"I want to make myself indispensable to you," said Muncatchy during his interview. "I have energy, experience and the background, and I would like to move Charlevoix to a higher altitude of student accomplishment."

The board also interviewed Robert Gendron, current kindergarten through 12th grade principal and superintendent for Pentwater Public School District.

Board members appreciated Gendron's excitement and demonstrated financial track record.

"(Gendron) had all the qualities we were looking for: energy, excitement," said John McLean, board president. "I stopped counting after 20 or 30 times that he mentioned student achievement."

The board also noted Gendron's experience with bond campaigns and grant writing as a positive. During his tenure as superintendent at Pentwater Public School District, Gendron raised the school's fund balance — the school's savings that keeps its budget in the black — from 17 percent to 22 percent.

Eastport man injured in crash

Paul Shelby, 75, was driving his motorcycle around 2:45 p.m. Saturday on Ferry Road, near Wurn Road in Eveline Township, when he went around a curve and lost control. The 2002 Honda Shadow Southeast motorcycle left the roadway, flipped over and ejected Shelby from the seat.

Shelby wore a helmet, which saved him from injuries to his face, head and neck, according to the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Office.

Michigan State Police, Boyne City Ambulance and Boyne City Fire Department also responded to the crash.

'Capture the flag' ruling both reversed, upheld

SHERI MCWHIRTER
Northern Michigan Review

Confusion and a subsequent injury during a capture the flag game five years ago at the now-closed Camp Sea-Gull is the focus of a recent Michigan Court of Appeals decision.

State appellate judges both overturned and upheld parts of a 33rd Circuit Court ruling last year by Charlevoix County Circuit Court Judge Richard M. Pajtas, who threw out a lawsuit after a request by defendants in a dispute revolved around the common children's game. The plaintiff in the case, Julie Gamze, 13 at the time, a 2007 summer camp participant from Chicago, lost a tooth and suffered several other broken ones when hit in the mouth by a flag pole not intended to be moved by the summer campers playing the game.

Gamze filed a suit through adult Jonathan Gamze targeted at Camp Sea-Gull, Inc., William Schulman, part-owner and associate camp director, and Emily Lisner, another summer camper who also played capture the flag during "Pirate Day" on July 15, 2007. The court dismissed Lisner from the case.

The court of appeals ruled Pajtas wrongly threw out the plaintiff's negligence claim, but rightly tossed the premises liability claim. The appeals court remanded the case back for a jury to decide whether officials at Camp Sea-Gull in Hayes Township acted negligently prior to the younger Gamze being struck in the mouth with a metal stake at the end of the flagpole carried by Lisner.

Pajtas

The June 21 appellate court decision shows summer campers did not recall being instructed to leave the flagpoles alone and instead grab the towel on the ground, while camp counselors did not specify that they'd verbally made that distinction in the game's instructions.

Pajtas previously ruled the camp did nothing wrong.

"I can't see where this individual's grabbing of the marker was a foreseeable event by the camp and those in charge of this particular camp and the camp's owner. Anything that they did or failed to do was not the proximate cause of this plaintiff's injury," Pajtas said, court records show.

However, the appeals court said Gamze, now 18, had the right to sue for negligence.

"(Gamze) and her family entrusted defendants with her safety during her stay. It was foreseeable that if the campers were not properly instructed, then a camper could pick up the actual flagpole instead of picking up the flag/towel lying on the ground next to the flagpole. It is also foreseeable that, if a camper did remove the flagpole from the ground, the camper could injure another camper while running with the pole," the appellate court decision said.

Gamze's attorney, Ryann Embury of Traverse City, said Gamze suffered extensive injuries and subsequent care.

"She's been having all sorts of bone grafts," he said. "She will have problems with her teeth for the rest of her life because of the age of her bones when she was struck in the face. She could have lost her eye. Thank God she didn't."

Civil defense attorney Angela Harmon-Kuhl, of Sault Ste. Marie, did not return a call seeking comment, Monday, June 25.

School board battles red ink in budget

District again dipped into savings for 2011-12

MORGAN SHERBURNE
Northern Michigan Review

Charlevoix Public Schools officials had to again dip into the district's already anemic savings account to balance the books for this past school year, but are hopeful that they won't have to do so again this coming year.

Interim superintendent Patrick Bootz laid out Charlevoix School District's tough budget picture during the Charlevoix Public Schools Board of Education's required annual budget hearing before the board's monthly meeting on Monday.

Bootz described the district's yearly decline in fund balance since 2010. In 2010, the district had about $600,000 in fund balance (savings). In 2011, that dropped to a little less than $400,000, and the district ends 2012 with just $219,000 in reserves.

"That is not a good trend," said Bootz.

The total expense for running the school district during the 2011-2012 school year was $10,786,980 million while the revenue received was $10,655,824. In February, the district expected that it would have to make up a difference of $198,000 from the school's fund balance, but the district ended up needing to spend $131,156, said Lori Martinchek, director of finance for the Charlevoix School District.

When the budget was originally passed in June 2011, it projected that the district would break even.

The board also approved the 2012-2013 proposed budget. The district expects to spend $10,262,921 during next school year, but expects revenues of $10,321,556.

That means if all goes according to plan, the district could actually add a bit to its fund balance as the 2012-13 budget projects revenues to exceed spending by $58,635.

But there are some pretty big "ifs" involved.

Partly to blame for the district's money difficulty is a declining student enrollment — estimated right now at about 30 fewer students for 2012-13. This year, 110 students graduated from Charlevoix while only 67 students are in this year's kindergarten class.

Another factor that affects Charlevoix's budget is that the foundational allowance for each student — $7,954 per student — did not increase for the 2012-2013 school year.

"We were expecting perhaps $100 per pupil all the way up to May, and that never happened," said Bootz.

There were a few budget breaks the board discussed, including a 6 percent premium reduction in insurance rates for employees, a hoped-for $81,000 to pay for special education programs from Char-Em ISD, and a potential drop in the rate schools need to contribute to employees' retirement funds. The savings could total $411,000 — if all of those projections come to pass.

"Are you going to get part of it? I don't know. Are you going to get none of it, I don't know. But you have to set your budget and start your planning in July," said Bootz.

Bootz said the incoming superintendent, whom the board hopes to hire over the coming week, will face budget challenges, including declining enrollment and projecting whether teachers will retire. This year, the district saw the retirement of eight teachers.

"Those are some of the challenges that you will have to think about and prepare for long-term," said Bootz.

In other business, the board renewed its annual membership to the Michigan High School Athletic Association, and read policies regarding bullying and safe student network and Internet use and safety.

The board also accepted the resignation of long-time soccer coach Carol Madison.

Board members spoke in support of Madison, citing her career 164-73 record, as well as her team's conference championships, district championships and, in 2008, the only regional title in Rayder history. That team lost in the state semifinal game, but it was the farthest any girls soccer team had gone in Charlevoix history.

"I just wanted to say, having a child who has gone through this program, what a great loss this is going to be for us. She was a great coach," said board trustee Dick Joseph.

Madison coached the varsity girls soccer team for 12 years.

The board will meet next at 6 p.m. on Monday, July 16, at the Charlevoix Middle School.

Charlevoix County commissioners won't pay the difference

SHERI MCWHIRTER
Northern Michigan Review

Costs for the second leg of a planned recreational trail alongside Boyne City-Charlevoix Road doubled and Charlevoix County commissioners said they can't foot the bill.

Ross Maxwell, county parks and recreation director, spoke Wednesday to commissioners about the change in expected costs for the trail's second phase along Boyne City-Charlevoix Road, about six miles from U.S. 31 to the old Camp Sea-Gull, a couple miles west of Horton Bay.

Early estimates pegged the costs around $1.5 million, but now anticipated costs are nearly $3 million, he said.

One solution Maxwell detailed involved asking for a $2.2 million federal transportation enhancement grant, rather than a $1 million request, but that still leaves a $350,000 shortfall for a grant match. Planners believe $100,000 could be obtained from local philanthropic agencies, so now it's down to a quarter-million dollars in question.

The grant application is due in August. The Charlevoix County Road Commission will serve as the applicant agency under three condi-

A LOOK AT LIFE

Gayle Gennett

When I first started reading the Bible as required school work while attending Catholic school, I felt the wording and symbolism as difficult to understand as Shakespeare. After 12 years attending Catholic schools and completing an undergraduate degree in education, my next venture after teaching a couple of years was graduate school. This is where I took classes such as Great Religions of the World and Counseling/Psychology. When I completed my graduate work in counseling I came face to face with true fundamentalists who took the Bible at its word and became angry with me when I explained why I felt they could not beat their child or wife. Every time I heard, "the Bible tells me so," I would cringe. After testifying in trials of child abuse and neglect and wife battering, I knew, and always knew, the Bible can be interpreted by man because it was written down by man and thus could have a prejudicial slant.

As a child who lived with parents entrenched in science, medicine and research, some may have assumed we were a family who didn't believe in God. But instead, my parents were steadfast in their faith and beliefs and,thus, we as children, followed their lead. When growing up in this encouraging and yet respectful atmosphere, I would re-read what was written in the Bible and, as I matured, so did my beliefs. My conclusions were that this wonderful book shares information about salvation in a believable fashion and also shares information that is scientific in a way that is helpful today. Science and spirituality can become a very nice blend even though some will still argue this thought.
